The Guests Jumped on Backs of Pews

They Crowded Into Wrong Seats, and Marriage Was Delayed—The Bride Wore a Diamond Chain of 200 Stones, Jewels of the Beresford Family

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Miss Helen Gould, second daughter of Gen. Vivian Gould, second daughter of Gen. Gould, was married to Baron Decies, lieutenant colonel of the 7th English hussars, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. Bartholomew's church, Madison avenue, near 44th street. The ceremony was witnessed by about 400, including many well-known theatrical folk and opera singers. Of the 400 within the church probably 250 were women, and of these fully 200 forgot the sacredness of the edifice and their good manners and stood not on the floor, but on the benches and in many instances even on the backs of pews.

The wedding of Miss Matjerle Gould and Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., a little more than a year ago was characterized by the good behavior of the persons in the church and the outrageous conduct of these in the streets. The wedding yesterday will be remembered principally for the good behavior—thanks to the police—of the street crowds and the bad conduct of guests at the ceremony.

The church doors were opened at 3 o'clock and soon thereafter prominent persons began to arrive. Among the first to get there was a detachment of the younger element of society. These young folks hung around the door fully 10 minutes and chatted with the ushers before going to their seats.

From that time on there was a crush.

Skirmish for Seats

Guests came faster than they could be shown to their pews. Instead of waiting until an usher with a list of pew allotments could attend to them many made their way up the aisles and took the most desirable seats vacant. The result was that scores got into pews where they did not belong and an equal number could not get where they did belong.

It was impossible to get intruders out of the pews they had seized and great confusion resulted. When an usher got the name of a guest he would have to go first to the pew in which that guest had been assigned and see if it was occupied. Generally it was. Then he would have to skirmish for a seat for the guest.

A fine musical program had been arranged, but the guests listened to the various numbers with indifference, or did not listen at all, until Riccardo Martin of the Metropolitan opera company began his first number. Then everybody decided that he or she must see Martin, who was concealed behind a screen of palms in the gallery. The crowd grew positively ill-natured.

The sexton had provided two doorkeepers to keep out all who did not have tickets of admittance, but soon it was necessary to get two policemen to enforce the card rule. It was estimated that fully 300 who had no cards tried to get into the church.

After a while the guests got tired of trying to see Riccardo Martin when he sang and became interested in the

BLOOD STANDS STILL

PILES CAN'T BE CURED UNTIL CIRCULATION IS RESTORED

It is useless to try to cure piles by operating or use of salves or suppositories—as long as the blood is stagnant in the lower bowel, new tumors will continue to form. Clear the blood—free the circulation. Then piles will leave for good. A successful, scientific, internal remedy is Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid, sold under guarantee by Carter & Sherburne, Lowell, Mass., and druggists everywhere. Hem-Roid does its work thoroughly. $1.00 for 21 days' treatment. Dr. Leonard Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.

filled men among the ushers. Next, interest was transferred to actors and managers who attended the wedding. They had been friends of Mrs. Gould when she was Edith Klenden, actress. Prominent among these was Sir Chas. Wyndham. All eyes were centered upon him as he went up the aisle on the arm of Earl Percy.

Mme. Sembrich of the Metropolitan opera company arrived at the same moment with Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, social leader. As they went up the aisle, Mme. Sembrich on the arm of Lord Camoys and Mrs. Fish escorted by Phoenix Ingham, people stood up to get a good look at them. Neither of the two women appreciated that momentary prominence. Mrs. Fish's face wore a decided frown as she took her seat.

The Frohmans, Daniel and Charles, and Frederick Townsend Martin, were among the early arrivals. So were Harry Lehr and his wife.

From time to time Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., one of the ushers, appeared at the front door of the church. After the rush started and had the doorsmen hold back guests until these inside had been seated. Because of the confusion it was seen 20 minutes before the wedding hour that all of the guests could not be placed by 4 o'clock. So Drexel telephoned to the Gould home and had the wedding party delay its start for a quarter of an hour.

The choir boys from the cathedral of St. John the Divine were brought to the church in an automobile bus and were hustled by their director, Miss Farrow, into the vestry, where they donned their vestments.

The first of the wedding party to arrive after Mrs. Gould, Miss Helen

Faint?

Have you weak heart, dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals? Or do you experience pain over the heart, shortness of breath on going up stairs and the many distressing symptoms which indicate poor circulation and bad blood? A heart tonic, blood and body-builder that has stood the test of over 40 years of cures is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

The heart becomes regular as clock-work. The red blood corpuscles are increased in number—and the nerves in turn are well fed. The arteries are filled with good rich blood. That is why nervous debility, irritability, fainting spells, disappear and are overcome by this alterative extract of medicinal roots put up by Dr. Pierce without the use of alcohol.

Ask your neighbor. Many have been cured of scrofulous conditions; ulcers, "fever-sores," white swellings, etc., by taking Dr. Pierce's Discovery. Just the refreshing and vitalizing tonic needed for excessive tissue waste, in convalescence from fevers or for run-down, anemic, thin-blooded people. Stick to this safe and sane remedy and refuse all "just as good" kinds offered by the dealer who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing will do you half as much good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Gould, Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Jr. and Jay Gould had entered the church as young Edith and Gloria Gould, Diana Duzell and Masters Marcus and Grakame Beresford of Providence nephews of Lord Decies. The youngsters were in charge of governesses and nurses and were taken to an anteroom at the front of the church, where maids finished dressing them.

Stand Up to Crane Necks. Then came the bridesmaids, among them Miss Annie Douglas Graham, who at the last moment had been called upon to take the place of Miss Beatrice Chaffin, who became ill Sunday night with the grip. Dressmakers had to work swiftly all Monday to get a dress ready for Miss Graham.

The fact that she was to be a bridesmaid was not generally known until the wedding guests were gathering. When she got out of the automobile with the other young women the last of the other guests were just entering the church. Some of them exchanged knowing nods and said the incident was to them confirmation of the en-

WELCOMED HOME THE ALDERMEN

Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., Plan to Get Councilmen Into a Warmly Greeted Joint Convention

VERY REV. T. WADE SMITH, O. M. I.

DR. J. B. O'CONNOR

Upon His Return From Official Tour of Oblate Province—Reception Took Place in Sacred Heart School Hall

Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., stands here today this magnificent temple of education, a monument to your zeal, energy and administrative ability. Thus, Very Rev. Father, to your honor be it said, religion and education have made wonderfully rapid progress in your parish of the Sacred Heart. Under your surveillance, both have advanced with equally rapid pace, because from the outset you have fully perceived the intimate relation they bear to each other, you have with truth ever considered that the parish without a good school is incomplete, that an efficient parochial school is a necessary complement to the church.

Fr. Smith left Lowell on Nov. 5 and since then has traveled continuously through the northern states, Canada and the northwest. The reception took place in the hall of the new school, which was crowded to the doors. The exercises opened with a song of welcome by a chorus of 250 children. A formal address of welcome was then made by Dr. J. B. O'Connor, who spoke as follows:

Dr. O'Connor's Address

"Very Rev. and Very Dear Fr. Smith: About one year ago you returned to us clothed with the dignity of a great and responsible office. Quite naturally the city at large felt honored in your honor, and the citizens rose in their thousands to do you reverence. Of such a monster public reception as was then tendered to you, your people of the Sacred Heart could, at best, be but a part. But, tonight, on your return after a prolonged absence from our midst, we feel that there is afforded to your parishioners an opportunity, not to be neglected of giving expression to their particular and peculiar love and devotion towards you, our pastor.

"After you came to us first, Very Rev. Father, we recognized in you the stern, forceful character of an administrator. We soon felt the firm, strong hand of an organizer. Results soon made themselves evident. We could not help but admire when we saw the number of attendants at the various masses grow Sunday after Sunday; the monthly, weekly, daily communions, ever on the increase; when we saw the different societies and sodalities wax stronger and stronger in numerical strength, and in consequent power for good, when we saw the young and the old and the middle aged organized as never before were they organized.

"Our administration grew as we observed your successful efforts on behalf of the parochial school—how, under your influence the attendance increased from month to month, until at last a new, better, a more commodious school became an imperative necessity, to meet the demands of the parish; and as if to call forth our most powers of admiration there stands here today this magnificent temple of education, a monument to your zeal, energy and administrative ability. Thus, Very Rev. Father, to your honor be it said, religion and education have made wonderfully rapid progress in your parish of the Sacred Heart. Under your surveillance, both have advanced with equally rapid pace, because from the outset you have fully perceived the intimate relation they bear to each other, you have with truth ever considered that the parish without a good school is incomplete, that an efficient parochial school is a necessary complement to the church.

"Hence, religion and education, advancing hand in hand, blend their voices to proclaim you a religious ruler after the heart of St. Paul and consequently after the heart of our divine Saviour himself; 'One that ruleth well his own house.' 'Yes, Very Rev. Father, from the very first, we have admired in you the successful administrator, the tireless organizer. But little by little, we began to observe not alone your wondrous works, but what was wondrous more, the sweetness of your strength. We saw how in all things concerning the spiritual or temporal welfare of your people, you sprang from neither personal effort, nor from personal inconvenience; we saw how you early rose and kept vigils late, how for your people you so devoutly offered sacrifice to one who heard, how you cared for poor men and the sick and for the souls invisible of men, how for you none there was too high to be reprimanded if he deserved it, none too low to receive from you encouragement to get back to Lowell is more, I assure you, than all your gladness rolled together."

"The sanctuary choir, under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide Muldoon, sang 'Home Again,' and a minstrel show was given by the Children of Mary; sodality of the Immaculate Conception parish, a company of 40, with inter-locutor and end 'men.' The girls were at their best and the overture even exceeded that presented on the two previous occasions in the Immaculate Conception school hall. Mollie Downey was an exceptionally capable inter-locutor, and the end 'men' had a collection of jokes that possessed a decidedly local tinge. No one was spared; the priests of the parish, the young ladies, the Manhattan club, Alderman Daly, 'Jimmy' Hynds, and

"We rehearse all these things to you tonight to show you that we appreciate your great worth to us; to show you how our administration has been transmuted into love, to explain to you why tonight we so eagerly seize this occasion to lay at your feet a very loving people's offering of love. Nor do we mean this offering as coming from the lips only—but from our hearts as well. Henceforth, call and we shall come; command, we shall obey; point out the way, we shall take it in joy; lead and we shall follow. For the future we do not intend that you shall out-do us in generosity.

"And now Very Rev. Father, may God in reward for the piety, wisdom, prudence, vigilance and zeal you have ever displayed in the administration of your charge, grant you length of days sufficient to accomplish great and lasting good in the exalted sphere. He has recently called you to guide to even yet higher and better things this parish of the Sacred Heart so dear to you and to us. It is our earnest wish and our daily prayer: Ad Multos Annos."

Fr. Smith Replies

Rev. Fr. Smith made a brief response during which he said: "My gladness to get back to Lowell is more, I assure you, than all your gladness rolled together."

The sanctuary choir, under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide Muldoon, sang 'Home Again,' and a minstrel show was given by the Children of Mary; sodality of the Immaculate Conception parish, a company of 40, with inter-locutor and end 'men.'

The girls were at their best and the overture even exceeded that presented on the two previous occasions in the Immaculate Conception school hall. Mollie Downey was an exceptionally capable inter-locutor, and the end 'men' had a collection of jokes that possessed a decidedly local tinge. No one was spared; the priests of the parish, the young ladies, the Manhattan club, Alderman Daly, 'Jimmy' Hynds, and with the common council. The lower board, however, is ducking on the joint convention and the chances for such a convention next Tuesday night are a bit slim.

The aldermen last night confirmed the mayor's appointment of J. Omer Allard as registrar of voters to succeed himself. Hearings were given on minor petitions and the chairman read a communication from Supt. of Schools A. K. Whitcomb, relating to enlargement of the high school building. This communication has already appeared in The Sun.

The mayor's appointment of Peter S. Savitich as constable was confirmed. A petition for a pole location in Middlesex and Baldwin streets was read and a hearing ordered for Tuesday, Feb. 21.

A hearing was given Frank A. Kappeler on a petition to move a building in Lincoln, Quebec and London streets. Mr. Kappeler said that the grade crossing work made the moving of the house necessary and it was a job that had to be done in a hurry. The necessary license was granted.

The Boston & Northern street railway petitioned for pole locations and wires in Lincoln street, change in locations of poles, made necessary because of the grade crossing work in that street. This and other petitions of a similar nature were referred to the committee on wires.

On motion of Alderman Daly an order was taken from the files and referred to the joint committee on streets. This was the petition of A. E. Kounire and others, that a portion of Mansur street be macadamized. The order was placed on file by last year's government.

in fact all the prominent young men of the parish came in for 'knocks.' The soloists were obliged to respond to many encores and at the conclusion of the program the audience loudly applauded the entire company.

That the program offered by the minstrels pleased the large audience so greatly, was particularly gratifying to Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., director of the Children of Mary, who has worked hard for several weeks past to make the entertainment feature of the reception to Very Rev. Fr. Smith a great success.

The soloists were: Misses Mae Hession, Margaret Cawley, Sadie Quinn, Elizabeth O'Connell, Margaret Cawley, Sadie Quinn, Elizabeth O'Connell, Margaret Knowles, Marie Cahill, Kittle McCarlin, Bella Vaisli, Mary Curtin, Margaret Walsh, Lena Hession and Etta McCarlin.

The show was much enjoyed. Following it there was general dancing. The committee in charge of dancing and the reception committee was made up of the following named:

Aids: Mr. Charles McDermott, Mr. James E. Egan, Mr. Thomas Haley, Mr. George Brennan, Mr. James P. Kivrin, Miss Elizabeth Miskella, Miss Catherine Sharkey, Mrs. Thomas Harigan, Miss Sadie Cowell, Miss Bessie Jennings.

Reception committee: Mr. Thomas Farrell, chairman; Messrs. Thomas Lynch, Thomas Haley, John R. Higgins, Thomas Green, James P. Kivrin, James Cowell, Wm. Cowell, Michael Boarden, John Glida, James Hearn, Murtagh Sheehan, Martin Hansberry, George Tucker, John Connolly, Daniel McDonald, Ambrose Carragher, Thos. Gordon, Mrs. James Cusack, Mrs. Isabella Kennedy, Mrs. James Patrick, Mrs. Bryan McFadden, Mrs. James Scott, Mrs. Thomas Farrell, Mrs. David Finnegan, Mrs. Marie Doherty, Misses Mary Wood, Lilla Holden, Elizabeth Miskella, Nellie Murphy, Alice Walsh, Mary Devine, Della Vaughan, Elizabeth Roche, Catherine Brady, Loretta Mayo, Delia McNulty and Elizabeth McLean.

The arrangements for the affair were under the personal supervision of Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., who was acting pastor of the Sacred Heart church during the absence of Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I. Among the clergymen present were Rev. Lawrence E. Tighe, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. McKenna, O. M. I., Rev. D. A. Sullivan, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Barrett, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Connell, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Fox, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. McDermott, O. M. I., and Rev. Fr. Fletcher, O. M. I.

At the conclusion of the regular business, there was a guessing contest in which Mrs. William H. Poplin won the prize.

Refreshments were served in the prettily decorated dining-room. The decorations were principally in red, the club color, and hearts, roses and the like suggested 'St. Valentine.'

The hostess was assisted by Miss Sadie Jardine, Mrs. W. A. Marckee and Miss Nellie Gordon.

BILLERICA

The monthly meeting of the Williams Bible class was held Monday night at the home of Alexander Allan in Wilson street, North Billerica. President Guy M. Richardson presided and a pleasing entertainment program was carried out.

The address of the evening was given by Rev. Charles H. Williams, Ph. D., and there were graphophone selections by John Gunther; songs by Charles French of North Tewksbury; song, "When the Harvest Moon is Shining on the River," Guy Richardson; class song, led by Musical Director Herbert B. Ellis; song, "When I Get Back Again to Bonnie Scotland."

Supper was served by Mr. and Mrs. Allan. A hearty vote of thanks was recorded the host and hostess and their assistants, Mrs. Chisholm and Mrs. T.

Bateson.

During the evening the men's quartet sang "Silver Bells," "Hour, Sweet Hour," and other melodies. The accompanist of the evening was Thomas Bateson, Sr. Mr. Allan, the host of the occasion, is past president of the class.

FAIR WAS OPENED

In Aid of the Lawrence Street Church

The five-night fair organized by the members of the Lawrence street Primitive Methodist church, headed by the pastor, Rev. John T. Ullom, for the proceeds of the building fund, was opened last evening with a large attendance.

The affair was held in the church vestry and proved a success for the first night. The sales tables were well patronized, and in fact business was better than was expected.

Rev. Mr. Ullom opened the proceedings with appropriate remarks, and was followed by John Jacob Rogers, councilman from ward nine, who also delivered a neat little speech. An entertaining program, consisting of the following numbers, was given: Solo, Miss Emma Whiteley; reading, Master Earl Spaulding; fancy goods, tones, Shoshone solo, Miss Whiteley; and last but not the least, a sketch, "The Widow and the Boy," acted by Miss Eva Pickles and Master Raymond T. Wilde. This sketch proved very amusing, and the actors received much applause.

The various sales tables opened up for a steady stream of business immediately following the entertainment. The heads of the various tables were: Groceries, check room and curiosity shop, Henry Leavitt, chairman; Willard G. Parker, secretary, and James Allan, treasurer; fancy goods, tones, toilet preparations and rubber, David Allan, chairman; Miss Mary Allan, secretary, and William Dooley, treasurer; handkerchiefs, mysteries and raps, Mrs. Walter H. McQuade, chairman; Miss Gladys McKee, secretary, and Miss Hazel Jenkins, treasurer; confectionery, Miss Edith Chadwick; committee on concerts, Miss Eva Pickles, Mrs. Thomas E. Wilde, Joseph Miller, Samuel J. Burt and Walter Ramsden; Ladies Aid, Mrs. William J. Ullom, chairman; Mrs. William J. Ullom, secretary; Mrs. Samuel J. Burt, treasurer; the executive committee was made up of: Chairman, Rev. John T. Ullom; vice chairman, Robert Catherwood; secretary, E. Frank Leitch, and treasurer, Thomas E. Wilde.

"Tonight's entertainment will be given under the direction of Samuel J. Burt."

Human Hands and Fingers of Steel Fashion Goodyear Welt Shoes

They are fashioned for men, women and children, over perfect lasts in the same manner that the old-time shoemaker fashioned them—but more perfectly—more accurately—more economically.

Sixty marvelous machines comprise the Goodyear Welt system of shoemaking. Each machine is guided by the trained mind of a trained man. Each movement duplicates the motion of the old-time shoemaker—but more certainly—more rigidly.

The celebrated old-time shoemaker was an artist. It takes sixty machines to do what he did—but the result is more artistic.

Each shoe passes through the hands of one hundred and six operators before it is packed in a box and ready to wear—and each shoe is a high grade, hand-made shoe—made by human fingers and fingers of steel.

GOODYEAR WELT

Learn how this name becomes the shoe buyer's guide. How this method becomes your guarantee of real leather.

Five hundred stitches a minute are inserted by Goodyear welt machines. This very swiftness is your safeguard, for cheap leather or inferior leather cannot withstand this rapid, close stitching. The flying needle, lock-stitching with strong thread, betrays even the slightest flaw. Hence Goodyear Welt is your surety of flawless leather, of durable shoes.

Decide right now your next shoes will be Goodyear Wels. But before you buy them get our free printed list of the 500 different Goodyear Wels made by the leading shoe manufacturers. Seek out the retailer in your town who sells the particular Goodyear Welt you want.

JAW FRACTURED

GEORGE H. VINAL MET WITH SERIOUS ACCIDENT

The many friends of Mr. George H. Vinal, who met with a serious accident at North Chelmsford Monday, will be pleased to learn that he is doing well and resting comfortably.

Mr. Vinal is 70 years old and was employed as a carpenter by the North Chelmsford Supply company. Monday he was sawing a large piece of wood on a circular saw, when the block flew off the machine and struck the aged man on the jaw, which was fractured and several teeth were knocked out.

Dr. Varney was called and he removed the injured man to the General hospital. Mr. Vinal's home is in Peterboro, N. H., where he has a wife and three children. He has been working in North Chelmsford about a year, and lived with his brother in this city.

BORN IN LOWELL

VETERAN ACTOR DIED IN CHICAGO

John W. Blaisdell, a veteran actor and matinee favorite of a generation ago, died at his home in Chicago, Sunday. He retired from the stage ten years ago and since then had lived in Chicago. Death resulted from an illness following a paralytic stroke six months ago. Mr. Blaisdell was born in Lowell, Mass., and made his debut at the old Boston Museum when 17 years old. After making a place in support of the foremost actors of that day, he became leading man with the old Hooley theatre stock company in Chicago. He toured for many years with Maggie Mitchell in "Fanchon the Cricketer," and also traveled with John Dillon.

THE FAIR TONIGHT

The Centralville Odd Fellows will open their fair tonight in the lodge building in Bridge street, occupying both the halls. There will be a good entertainment every night this week, and plenty of novelties on the tables, in the various booths, etc. The Red-bucks are taking hold with a will and every effort is being put forth to make this fair the best in the history of the organization.

MEETING CALLED

OF HOUSE GIRLS AND MAIDS OF ST. MARGARET'S PARISH

Rev. Father Harkins would like to meet at the parochial residence in Stevens street all the house girls and maids of his parish on Thursday, February 9 at 2:45. The meeting will be but a short one but very important matters will be talked over.

FRANK KLAUS

KNOCKED OUT LEWIS IN SIXTH ROUND

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Frank Klaus of Pittsburgh knocked out Willie Lewis of New York in the sixth round of a 10-round bout at the Fairmount Athletic club last night.

In the first round, the Pittsburgher sent Lewis to the mat for the count of nine. Only the bell saved Lewis in the fifth and in the sixth he went down twice from hard swings to the jaw. After rising the second time he dropped to the floor without being struck and was unable to rise. Klaus was the heavier.

THREE HOCKEY PLAYERS WHO ARE PUTTING UP BRILLIANT GAME

CLEGHORN

LIFFITON

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—With the hockey season at its height now the experts are casting about seeking probable championship teams in the amateur and intercollegiate leagues. The struggle for the trophies in the two leagues is much closer than ever this year. In the amateur league, say the experts, the trophy lies between the Crescents and the New York Athletic club. In the intercollegiate league they think the fight will be between Harvard and Cornell. Just now the Crescents are on the top of the heap in the Amateur league and undoubtedly will stay there until the next game with the Mercury Footers. A victory then for the New Yorks, provided the two teams win other games in the series, will result in a tie and a necessary play off for the trophy. A victory for the Crescents will clinch their claim to the title for 1917. More than the usual rivalry has been shown between the Crescents and the New Yorks this season. Each club has two legs on the trophy, and the championship team this year will obtain permanent possession of the cup. While the big league players are fighting it out a hard battle also is being waged among the collegians. So far Harvard and Cornell have shown best. Princeton, last year's champions, apparently are out of the race by reason of the victories of Cornell and Dartmouth. Columbia and Cornell have but Yale on the toboggan. Cornell is playing fast, aggressive hockey. So is Harvard. And, then Columbia still is to be reckoned with. Liffiton, center, and Britton, cover point of the Crescents are playing the greatest game of their careers. Cleghorn, the brilliant young player of the Hockey club of New York, is also putting up a grand game.

"RUSSIAN LION"

DEFEATED DR. ROLLER IN STRAIGHT FALLS

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 8.—George Hockensmidt, the Russian wrestler, defeated Dr. Roller of Seattle in two straight falls before a big crowd at the Riverdale rink last night. The first fall was secured in one hour and 16 minutes, and the second in 13 minutes, 5 seconds.

MCLEAN WON

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Robert McLean again led in the skating races for the western indoor championships last night, winning the half mile and the two mile titles. Herman Lowcock, in the backward high jump event, made a leap of 3 feet, 5 1/4 inches better than the previous mark.

STRICT RULES

TO GOVERN ATHLETICS AT U. OF P.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8.—Graduates of other colleges whether or not they ever participated in college athletics will not be permitted to represent the University of Pennsylvania in football, baseball, rowing or track athletics if a recommendation endorsed by the board of directors of the Athletics association yesterday is enforced.

This is regarded at the university as a preliminary step toward limiting the membership on university teams to undergraduates in the college department.

Minor sports will not be affected. Field Coach Andrew Smith was re-elected coach of the football team. The new schedule is in the hands of the faculty committee for approval.

THIS FIREMEN SMOKE

BOXING GOSSIP

This week the eyes of the boxing world will be focused on Phila. Jack O'Brien and the society man Tony Blidie, are much in the limelight. One of the biggest events in the history of pugilism in the Quaker City will be served up for the members of the American Athletic Club. Nothing of such magnitude has ever before been explicated there. O'Brien has surpassed all other promoters by what he has done in a matchmaking way.

After arranging a card that was regarded as perfection from a magnetic point of view, O'Brien's list menu was relegated to the junk pile by reason of the unfortunate turn of affairs that ensued through the illness of Joe Coster and Abe Attell's injury. There was nothing left but the main bill, a bout between Ad Wolgast, the light weight champion of the world, and Knockout Brown, the oblique lamped youngster from the vicinity of Harlem.

O'Brien, realizing that in order to make good he would have to re-vamp his bill, did so hastily and with a great advance in expenditures. As a substitute card for the Attell-Kline match he secured Joe Jeannette and Jim Barry; then he paired up Tommy O'Toole and Patsy Kline in place of Coster and O'Toole, and added Young O'Leary of New York and Jimmy Carroll of California as an extra attraction.

The manager of the Philadelphia club is paying Wolgast alone $500 for his appearance. Brown is said to be getting $2500 for his services. With these two drawing down that amount Jeannette, Barry and the others must be doing exceptionally well in a financial way. It is the general belief in sporting circles that O'Brien will lose heavily if he falls short on $20,000 gross receipts. It is the big show of the week. There are other good things, however, perhaps the most interesting

TWO OF WORLD'S GREATEST DISTANCE RUNNERS TO MEET

HOLMER—LJUNGSTROM
PHOTOGRAPHS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Hans Holmer and Gustave Ljungstrom are now hard at work preparing for their double race to be held here Washington's birthday. As the two men are the greatest professional distance runners in the world today a new record for the distance is looked forward to.

Holmer recently won the famous Edinburgh race in Scotland from a field of the greatest runners on the other side of the big pond. Since his return he has kept himself in condition by taking a short spin daily. Ljungstrom says he will surely show his heels to Holmer in the coming race and is now rating favorite.

to New England being the 15 round bout at Manchester between Tommy Sullivan of Lawrence and Bill McKinnon of Boston for the middleweight championship of New England. McKinnon claims the title at present by reason of a victory over Frank Mantell in Manchester last Labor Day.

These sterling middleweights are both trained to the minute and eager to settle the question of superiority that exists. Sullivan has trained in Lawrence, while McKinnon has devoted all his time to preparing with Young Donohue at a gymnasium in the Hub. Donohue is one of the best sparring partners in the country and just the sort of a boxer to develop speed in a strong rugged fellow like McKinnon. The latter seems to be absolutely tireless. He fought Terry Martin and Frank Mantell in Manchester last summer and demonstrated stamina of a rare kind. Doing something every minute he is one of the most interesting performers that ever appeared in the Granite state.

There is a bitter feeling in existence over the claim that McKinnon has put forward. Sullivan contends that the title belongs to him and that Mantell and McKinnon never had the least right to fight for the honor. Sullivan insists that McKinnon is a pretender and he will prove to the satisfaction of every one next Wednesday night at the Queen City A. C.

The preliminary bill in itself is a strong attraction. Johnny Gallant of Boston will meet Kid O'Brien of Lawrence. O'Brien has been the only boxer who has been able to hold the hard-hitting Frenchman even during his career. O'Brien declares that he will defeat him in the coming battle.

Jerry Meakill, the boy with the punch who put the lively Johnny Carroll to the floor, meets Young Tommy Murphy of Lawrence, another boxer who has a punch.

These three bouts are the best ever offered in the Queen City, and when this is said one of the broadest statements ever made can be confirmed by the followers of the game in Manchester.

From every point the fans will flock to Manchester next Wednesday night. Some will go there in special trains while others will visit the town in autos and other vehicles. It will be even a bigger night than was that on which the Thomas-Sullivan match was decided.

In Boston Matty Baldwin of Charlestown and Pat Moore of Philadelphia will entertain the fans. Baldwin has recovered from his recent trouble and is certain that he will outscore the Quaker City boxer. He is sedulously training at Highland Lake, Mass. for the battle, while Moore is under the charge of Jimmy DeForest at Albany, N. Y.

A few weeks ago this team met in Boston and Moore walked out of the ring with the verdict after a hot battle. Baldwin injured his hands on that occasion. He has cared for them since and claims that they are as good as ever now.

Packey McFarland and Bert Keyes will mix it up in Pittsburg Monday night. Packey and Keyes fought in Boston at one of the early meetings at the Armory A. A. Packey drew down something like $1750 for his portion, while Keyes got $750 for taking a beating that he never will forget. Keyes has not improved any in the interim, while McFarland has advanced with some succeeding contests, so there is little chance of Keyes springing a surprise on the pugilistic community.

Joe Thomas, who made such a sensational battle with Tommy Sullivan in Manchester a few weeks ago will meet Frank Mantell, the boy who made things interesting for Bill McKinnon last summer. They clash at the Augusta A. C. in Augusta, Me. and Nancy Hanks, the promoter, is advertising the match as the biggest event ever offered in Maine.

Young Donohue, one of the most skillful glove wielders in the business, is matched to spar in Brooklyn Thursday night. Both have joined the "ham" class and will just about mail their way through the ten rounds.

Willie Beecher and Charlie Griffin are matched to spar in Brooklyn Thursday night. Both have joined the "ham" class and will just about mail their way through the ten rounds.

Jim Moriarty of this city is matched to meet Frank Perron in Fall River. Moriarty is a good boy, but he has been badly handled. It is doubtful if they will draw much of a house. In Fall River as Moriarty has been a constant loser. His last defeat at the hands of the unknown Harry Powers ends his career as a fighter of class.

Bouts this week:

To Spend $100,000,000 in New England in Next Five Years

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—Ringing with the proposed reciprocity agreement with Canada, a message from President William Howard Taft was read over the long distance telephone by his secretary, Charles D. Norton, to the members of the Massachusetts real estate exchange, assembled for their annual banquet at the Hotel Somerset in this city last night.

Interesting addresses were delivered by four New England governors—Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts, Aram J. Pothier of Rhode Island, Robert P. Bass of New Hampshire, and John A. Mead of Vermont—on "Reciprocity with Canada," and "The Welfare of New England."

The message from the president, which was received with much applause, was as follows:

"I regret that I cannot be present at your dinner and meet the New England governors. I note that the subject for discussion is New England welfare. I believe that the welfare of New England is the same as the welfare of the nation and that both require the approval of Canadian reciprocity. Best wishes for the success of your banquet."

The establishment of better and larger trade relations with Canada will result in New England taking on added power and prestige, in the opinion of Governor Foss.

"The coming of reciprocity," declared Governor Foss, "will bring vastly increased prosperity to all New England and the whole country."

"We shall have reciprocity. We may not get it this winter, but it is coming. The people are demanding it. We may have to reconstruct the United States senate to get it, but the people are already at work on that job and with the direct election of senators by the people, the people at last will get their voice carried into effect."

Declaring that Boston is not only the political capital of Massachusetts, but the natural metropolis of all New England, Governor Foss advocated that all the New England states work together to develop a greater New England and thereby give to New England as a unit, a commerce greater than it has ever had. He proposed the revision of the now discordant state transportation laws and the development of railroads, industries and ocean commerce.

In the opinion of Governor Pothier of Rhode Island, reciprocity with Canada and inland waterways are the most important problems now confronting New England. "I am personally in favor of reciprocity," declared Governor Pothier. He called attention to the fact that Rhode Island was the first New England state to become interested in inland waterways and that already $1,500,000 has been appropriated to better Providence harbor.

"When this work has been completed," said Governor Pothier, "Providence will have one of the best harbors along the New England coast."

Gov. John A. Mead of Vermont declared himself in favor of trade with Canada, but stated that in his opinion careful consideration should be given to the agricultural provisions of the agreement. "Don't bear down too hard on the farmers," said Governor Mead.

The co-operation of New England in meeting the common demands and the conservation of natural resources were subjects discussed by Governor Bass of New Hampshire. He declared that as New Hampshire is rather small, its executives have already decided that it is necessary to cultivate its natural resources, such as forests and waterfalls.

Governor Bass stated that within a few years he hopes that new forests will be in the course of cultivation and that large reservoirs will be under construction at the heads of all the principal streams which will eventually supply power to various parts of New England.

George B. Chandler of the Connecticut general assembly represented Connecticut in the unavoidable absence of Gov. Simon B. Baldwin.

President John Martin of the club stated that the officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad yesterday informed him that within the next five years they will spend in the New England alone not less than $100,000,000. He said that the officials stated that they realized that the industrial and commercial progress of New England warrants the expenditures.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—In order to study the plague conditions in China the American government will send Dr. Richard P. Strong, a scientist connected with the government of the Philippines, to the plague stricken district.

INTERNATIONAL BALLOON RACE
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—October 9, next, was selected by the Aero club of America yesterday as the date for the next international balloon race to be held in this country. No action was taken on selecting the point of start.

MAYOR GILL
IS IN DANGER OF BEING RECALLED
SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 8.—Returns from one-third of the city indicate that Hiram C. Gill, mayor of Seattle, accused of misconduct in office, has been recalled, largely by the votes of the women newly enfranchised.

George W. Dilling, public welfare league candidate, is probably successful by 1000 votes.

CHILD'S HEAD SOLID MASS OF HUMOR
It Was Awful, Cried Continually, Had to Hold and Watch Him to Keep Him from Scratching, Suffering Was Dreadful.
Had not Used Half a Set of Cuticura Remedies Before Head was Clear and Free from Eczema.

"I think the Cuticura Remedies are the best remedies for eczema I have ever heard of. My mother had a child who had a rash on its head when it was real young. Doctor called it baby rash. He gave us medicine, but it did no good. In a few days the head was a solid mass, a running sore. It was awful, the child cried continually. We had to hold him and watch him (to keep him) from scratching the sore. His suffering was dreadful. At last we remembered Cuticura Remedies. We got a dollar bottle of Cuticura Ointment, and a box of Cuticura Soap. We gave the Remedies as directed, washed the head with the Cuticura Soap, and applied the Cuticura Ointment. We had not used half before the child's head was clear and free from eczema. His head was healthy and he had a beautiful head of hair. I think the Cuticura Ointment very good for the hair. It makes the hair grow and prevents falling hair." (Signed) Mrs. Francis Lund, Plain City, Utah, Sept. 19, 1910.

For more than a generation the Cuticura Remedies have afforded the speediest and most economical treatment for skin and scalp eruptions of young and old; that itch, burn, crust, scale, and destroy sleep. Sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp. sole props., Boston, Mass., for free 32-page Cuticura Booklet, a guide to skin and hair health.

TWAIN'S PAPERS
WERE DISPOSED OF AT AUCTION YESTERDAY
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The sale of many of the manuscripts of the late Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), at a Fifth avenue auction yesterday did not include, as had been advertised, a short article he had written criticising Theodore Roosevelt. It had been included by mistake in the list to be sold and was withdrawn at the last moment by request of the estate, as was a stricture he had written on congress. It was explained only that the estate desired to retain them.

The 125 page autograph manuscript of "A Double Barreled Detective Story" was sold to a dealer for $700. Twenty-eight pages from "Adams Diary" went for $150. The total realized was $2750.

The withdrawn article on Roosevelt refers to him as a "showy character," and as perhaps "no impostor of his creed had been adored since the Golden Cald."

MRS. BULL DEAD
WAS WIFE OF DR. WILLIAM T. BULL
NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 8.—Mrs. Marie Nevins Bull, wife of the late Dr. William T. Bull of New York, died at her home, "Dudley Place," here last evening. Mrs. Bull, who had been ill since last Christmas day, might also be said to have died in her sleep, never awakening from the easy coma into which she had passed earlier in the evening. Death was due to nervous exhaustion, according to Dr. Seth Dehols, the physician in attendance.

Mrs. Bull was 44 years of age. Dr. Bull was her second husband, her first having been James G. Blaine, son of Garfield's secretary of state. At her bedside when death came was a son by each marriage, Jas. G. Blaine, 3d, and William T. Bull. With the former, who is to finish his studies at Harvard college on Friday next, was Miss Marian Dow of Boston, his fiancée.

Dr. Bull died February 22, 1905.

RECIPROCITY
Is Strongly Opposed by Balfour
LONDON, Feb. 8.—Arthur J. Balfour has come out strongly in opposition to the Canadian-United States tariff reciprocity plan. Parliament will pay considerable attention to the proposed tariff agreement and may interfere in Canada to prevent its adoption. The British are opposed to any close relationship between Canada and the United States.

PLAYED WHIST
Party at St. Joseph's College Hall
The first of a series of three whist tournaments for the benefit of the grotto to be erected on the French American orphanage grounds, was given last evening at St. Joseph's college hall in Merrimack street.

The affair was conducted by two well known young men of Pawtucketville, Mr. Charles Chandonnet and Henri Simard, and the proceeds were quite large.

Mr. Chandonnet acted as director of the affair, and the whist judges were: Misses Corinne Heroux, Anna Barry, Lucinda Carouf, Dr. Adolphe Payette, and Mr. O. Desmarais. The following young women assisted in the organization of the three soirees and also made it their business to keep the scores:

Misses Corinne Heroux, Amanda Bergeron, Lucinda Carouf, Corinne Valierand, Mathilde Jacques, Amanda Roux, Elvire Verville, Albina Bourgeault, Vitaline Belanout, Rose Helehel, Marie Louise Roux, Anna Bourgeois, Marie Rose Racette, Alexandrine Racette, Albertine Lamare, Anna Perron, Alice Carouf, Anna Barry, Mathilde Mirault, Bella Rondeau, Corinne Rondeau, Ida Marie, Georgianna Champagne, Victoria Bourgeault.

There was an attractive program consisting of piano selections by Mr. Eugene Poirier; dances by Mr. Wilfred Dumont, with Miss Henriette Jolibert at the piano, and an amusing saynete, "On demande un Acteur," by two clever youngsters, Albert Gosselin and Calixte Lemire. The same program will be repeated every night.

COOKING SCHOOL
FLEISCHMANN YEAST CO. TO GIVE FREE LESSONS
Commencing Feb. 13th and continuing daily, Sundays excepted, to Feb. 21st, inclusive, the Fleischmann Yeast Co. will give free lessons in cooking to the ladies of this city. The lessons will be given in spacious kitchen hall of the Young Women's Christian association building in John street, and will open promptly at 2.30 o'clock each day. It is the company's wish that all be seated at this time, so that interruptions will be avoided. Mrs. Jennings, a domestic science teacher, will conduct the course.

Mrs. Peacock is a plain and interesting talker and puts much individuality into her work. She gives to her audience many little helpful hints and suggestions that simplify ordinary bread making to a great extent. Many housekeepers look upon their baking days with no great pleasure, but after attending these lectures and noting the little pointers given out during the afternoon one can go home and feel that it has been time well spent.

You are taken through the entire process from the mixing, moulding, and baking. Much importance is attached to the last step and valuable instruction is given on this point.

Lessons are not only given on bread and rolls, but cakes and other delicacies, and you are allowed to sample everything baked.

Peacock is delightfully informal, and handles her subjects with a dexterity which is only acquired from experience.

Any lady who does her own baking and needs any points or helps can call upon Mrs. Peacock any morning or afternoon at the demonstrating room, and she will arrange to give her a private lesson.

Ladies wishing their servants to have the benefit of these lessons can also arrange with her for a lesson.

Take advantage of this exceptional opportunity, for it may not be yours again and you are cordially invited.

The latest Fleischmann cook book—an interesting and instructive pamphlet, containing all recipes used by Mrs. Peacock will be given to those attending the lectures.

CITY COUNCIL
Declares Office of City Treasurer Vacant
TAUNTON, Feb. 8.—Upholding the action yesterday of Mayor William S. Woods in requesting the resignation of City Treasurer Edward H. Temple in the books of whose department it is alleged a discrepancy of about $5500 was found, the city council last night adopted without a dissenting voice an order declaring vacant the office of city treasurer and collector of taxes and "removing for cause" Mr. Temple.

The council also set February 11 as the date for the election of a permanent successor to former Treasurer Temple, whose place is being filled temporarily by City Auditor Arthur R. Leonard. Mr. Temple yesterday answered Mayor Wood's letter requesting his immediate resignation with a statement saying he did not intend to resign.

At last night's session of the city council, James T. Swan, the Boston accountant who conducted the special audit of the books of the city treasurer's and tax collector's office for the past two years, reported in detail on his examination. His figures indicated that his accounts for 1909 showed that $309.14 for which receipts had been issued was not credited on the cash book and that in 1910 the apparent discrepancy was $2100.25.

BISHOP ALLEN
SUGGESTS GREAT PROGRAM FOR ANNIVERSARY OF MOBILE
A Mobile, Ala., exchange has the following:
An adjourned meeting of the Catholic laymen of this city was held last night in McHugh Institute to hear the report of the arrangements committee which all the Catholic societies of the city, all the boys of the parochial schools and the students of Spring Hill College will participate. It is expected that this parade will be a striking feature of the celebration.

From 7 to 9 o'clock Sunday night a reception will be held by Cardinal Gibbons at his bishop's residence on Government street. On Monday the visiting bishops and priests will be tendered a banquet by the laymen.

Mr. E. G. Draper presided at the meeting last night, with Mr. R. H. Ching as secretary. The committee reports showed that considerable work had been done since the initial meeting last Sunday night and that few minor parts of the celebration are yet to be attended to.

Owing to the limited seating capacity of the Cathedral, compared with the number of persons desiring to attend the principal service on Sunday, admission will be by ticket and the tickets and invitations have been placed in the hands of Bishop Allen for apportionment.

BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Annual Ball of the Lowell Aerie, Order of Eagles

The biggest success on record, was the verdict of the tired but happy dancers as they departed from Associate hall, in the wee sma' hours of the morning after enjoying the pleasures of the annual ball of Lowell Aerie, No. 233, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

For some time past the committee in charge of the annual affair had promised an event that would eclipse in brilliancy all of its predecessors and the committee certainly made good its promise, for Associate hall never looked more attractive and it is doubtful if a more enjoyable party of its great size was ever carried out in a local assembly hall.

Decorators Young and Morist McMahon combined their most artistic efforts in the matter of decorations and the effects produced were a delight to the eye. The hall was set with a profusion of spruce and cedar trees and clusters of colored incandescent lights dotted the background of green. The front of the stage was draped in pink, and hunting and greenery intermingled in a pleasant manner. A large latticed arch encircled the top of the stage and was entwined with greenery and large bunches of white chrysanthemums while the gallery front was hidden from view with white bunting, caught up at short intervals with small clusters of greenery and flowers. From the centre chandelier was suspended a large electrical eagle and surrounding it was a large cluster of flowers and evergreen. The walls and windows were prettily set with tunting of the prevailing color and long streamers were hung from the side and caught up in the centre chandelier, making the whole effect, with the hundreds of incandescent lights, one of great brilliancy.

As early as 7 o'clock the guests began to arrive and at 8 o'clock when the concert began, standing room in the balcony was at a premium. The Eagles' orchestra, 12 pieces, John J. Hanlon, leader, opened the evening's festivities with a pleasing concert program as follows: Selection by orchestra, "Stubbish Cinderella," solo, selected, Master Edward Conley; solo, selected, Miss Frances Tighe; whistling solo, Mr. Joseph Murray; solo,

DEATHS

REDDIN—The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Reddin will be deeply pained to learn of the death of their daughter, Miss Nani Frances Reddin which occurred this morning at the home of her parents, 19 South Whipple street. The deceased was 24 years of age and a most beautiful character, being well beloved by all who enjoyed her acquaintance. She was a popular member of the Children of Mary sodality of the Sacred Heart church. Besides her parents she leaves one brother, John J. Reddin of Nashua and one sister, Miss Catherine C. Reddin. Funeral notice later.

BENNETT—Miss Mary E. Bennett, aged 73 years, 5 months and 20 days, died yesterday at her home in Tyngsboro. She is survived by four nieces, Helen M. and Belle Perham and Marion Bennett of Tyngsboro and Mary V. Perham of Torrington, Conn., and two nephews, Joseph Bennett of California and George B. Perham of Texas.

WELLES—Mrs. Jennie S. Welles, wife of T. Clayton Welles, died at her home, "The Manse," Edgington, Pa., Feb. 1. She is survived by her husband, who was for several years pastor of the Highland Congregational church in this city, and also two daughters, Miss Grace S. Welles, teacher in Miss Porter's boarding school in Farmington, Conn., and Mrs. Marle W. wife of Rev. Franklin Halsted Clapp, Marlboro, Mich. Burial was at Wethersfield, Conn., Feb. 4th.

Mysterles, Friday eve, Associate hall.

ESSEX-MODEL

INCUBATORS OF QUALITY

One way to make money from poultry is to GET THE BEST EQUIPMENT YOU CAN AFFORD. One way to lose money is to get the cheapest you can buy. Knowing this, we determine to keep our incubators and Brooders at the very front—to make them the BEST in the world, and then sell them as low as possible. If you

GET THE ESSEX-MODEL

you get the incubator of Quality. It is used by large, successful Poultry farms, Duck Growers and Experiment Stations. It hatches alike in the hands of Women, Beginners, Experts and Farmers. IT HATCHES THE LARGEST AND STRONGEST CHICKS, AND MORE OF THEM.

The reason the Essex-Model incubators are the best and most reliable hatchers is because they are built upon the most scientific principle of heating and ventilating and are perfect in construction. They are the most simple to operate. Fewer chicks die in the shell than in any other incubator. If you would like to know why chicks die in the shell in most incubators and why they do not die in the Essex-Model, write for our Free Catalogue. Our principle of heating is the secret and it is patented.

We make two leading lines of incubators. Our Standard Essex-Model—all Chestnut—the only hardwood incubator made; the highest grade incubator built anywhere by anybody. (Yet it is not the highest in price.)

We also build the most superior of low priced machines. It is of Enamelled Rolled Steel with Chestnut Front.

Both these machines are worth more, but COST LESS; and they hold more eggs for the money than any other in their class.

CONGREGATIONAL CLUB

Against the Repeal of the Bar and Bottle Bill

The speaker of the evening at the regular meeting of the Lowell Congregational club held in the First church last night was Mr. Klyo S. Paul, of Kobe, Japan. He spoke on the relations existing between Japan and the United States.

Supper was served by the ladies of the church and after the menu had been discussed, the president, Louis A. Olney, called to order. Rev. F. G. Allen reported for the Home Work committee. Harold A. Varian reported for the membership committee, and three applicants were admitted to membership.

A resolution moved by Rev. A. C. Ferrin, putting the club on record as approving the bar and bottle bill, and protesting against the proposed repeal of the law, was adopted. The secretary of the law, was adopted. The secretary of the law, was adopted. The secretary of the law, was adopted.

The man from Kobe, Japan, proved a very interesting speaker and his talk was interspersed with flashes of humor that were decidedly refreshing. He laughs at the American fear that Japan will seize the Philippines. He said his country could not afford to do it because it would add another burden. "We know it. My friends, you can't marry the Philippines to Japan, unless you will engage in some alimony in case of a divorce."

"A man in Washington says, 'We must have an army of 450,000 men, in order that we may protect our shores successfully.' I wonder if that man ever read the history of the American revolution! There is no group of two or three nations that could defeat the United States on her own shores, in a hundred years."

"A large navy is not a guarantee of peace, in the long run. The best guarantee is love of justice."

"In four or five years there will be a big wedding of the Atlantic and the Pacific. We are coming closer together. We are co-operating. The war scared us, but a few weeks before the naval appropriation bill comes up. But within a few years there will be an obligatory arbitration treaty. Your

To the Citizens of Lowell:

We have read many letters from reputable physicians reporting remarkable results from treating febrile and feverous conditions with ALLEOTONE.

The standing of the writers of these letters and the nature of their reports convince us that ALLEOTONE is a remedy of unique value, and that its proportion of cures is the highest shown by any treatment.

We heartily endorse ALLEOTONE for treating Colds, Grippe, Sore Throat and all feverous and run-down conditions.

own president is going to be responsible for such a treaty, and all civilized nations will follow in your footsteps. Swords will be turned into plowshares, and spears will be turned into pruning hooks. We have had peace because we were afraid of each other. Now we are beginning to have peace because we understand each other. We are beginning to be melted together, instead of frozen together. We are, after all, one in object, one in spirit, one in God. The choir of the First church sang selections during the evening.

DOUBLE HEADER Was Played in Catholic League

The C. M. A. C. and K. of C. played a double header on the alleys last night and the former team came out victorious in both contests. In the first game the C. M. A. C. lost the first and second strings but made a gallant finish by winning the third by 11 pins. In the second game the C. M. A. C. topped off two of the three strings. The feature of the games was the rolling of Gordon of the winning team who cracked out a triple of 316 in the first game and 293 in the second. Conn of the Knights of Columbus rolled in the second game and was the top notcher with a single of 113 and a triple of 320.

In the Lamson C. S. S. league the Conveyers won all three points from the Perfectionists. Stewart of the winning team was high man.

Wameest and Excelsior lodges of the Manchester Unity league met on the alleys, but there was nothing to it but Wameest lodge from start to finish.

Two games were played in the Manufacturers' league. In the contest between the Boott and Lawrence teams the former won two points and also took the total by 12 pins. Pillsbury of the losing team and Lelper of the winning quartet were the only two men to knock the pins for a total of more than 300.

The Bigelow five had things practically their own way until the third string when their opponents, the Lowell Machine Shop team, turned the tables and won the last string by a small margin. The scores:

A POOR RULE TO FOLLOW.

"So you've lost all your marbles, eh? Well, it serves you right. Boys always lose who play on Sundays."
 "But how about the other fellow who won all my marbles?"

GOLF.

A hard day on the links.

A WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY PARTY.

At a Washington's birthday party the guests should be arranged two by two, to represent the 22d. There should be a booming of business on the part of the gentlemen, and the ladies should bang their hair and circulate reports.

A cherry tree may be represented by the bows of the guests and the lips of the ladies. A dog might furnish the bark and also delight the guests when he leaves.

Hens should be in evidence because, like Washington, they do not lie and because they furnish the hatchet idea. To carry out the hatchet idea at the table serve chops garnished with Saratoga chips. The conversation should flag frequently.

HIS FUNNY SIDE.

George Washington one summer day said: "My, this life is tame! I'm going to do some sort of thing To win undying fame."
 He had a bunton on one foot And couldn't walk, you see, So he remarked, "I'll take a hack At yon small cherry tree."

When George's folks got hungry-like For something good to eat They didn't phone the butcher man. To send 'em up some meat; They hustled out their little George, But not to seek the shops. His hatchet in his hand, he went And juggled up some chops.

He had a little ax, did George, And once his mother good said, "Go out in the back yard, son, And split some kindling wood." George held his sides; his face grew red—

A most amusing sign— He laughed until they thought he'd split, But he didn't split the pine.

One day they sent the youngster out To make some nice soft soap. His daddy said, "Now George, you Won't shirk the job, I hope." When pa went out to see if George Had made the soap—oh, my! George said, "I failed to do it, sir, I cannot tell the lye."

"I want a hatchet, pa," he said. His dad replied: "All right. A hatch-it you shall have, my son; I'll bring it home tonight." When evening came young George's side, His face lit up with joy. An incubator brought and said, "Well, here's your hatch-it, boy."

SMART GEORGE

NOW, here is George, a growing kid;
 He wasn't such a gump.
 He chopped that cherry tree, he did,
 Then sat upon the stump.
 It was a scheme extremely neat

TOAST FOR THE 22D.

Men loved their country as their homes
 And made for it all sacrifice;
 They gave their honor and their lives,
 At fortunes drew no scruple nice;
 They fought against the greatest odds,
 Its liberty their sole intent;
 A nation 'twas of patriots
 When Washington was president.

No trusts were there to cause alarm
 And rouse the envy of the poor;
 No anarchism—equal foe
 To public weal—stood at our door.
 We might do worse, with all our boast
 Of progress, as 'tis fairly meant,
 And mix some spirit of the times

HALT ON THE HIGHWAY.

Biko Cop—Say, Curly, you're off your wheel.

IN FISH WATERS.

Miss Bass—George promised to drop me a line today. I wonder if this is it!

HAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

"Tis, yes, his great tragedian. What do you know about the drama? You're nothing but a lot of geese anyway!"

A CHESS TERM.

"A BAND OF FORGERS."

A MAN WHO WAS LIKE THE FIRST PRESIDENT.

I never chopped a cherry tree,
 I never have possessed a cue,
 The honors that have come to me
 Have been but little ones and few;
 I never have achieved renown
 Nor led an army anywhere;
 I never took a single town,
 But I have crossed the Delaware.
 I never wore a ruffled stock,
 My sleeves were never trimmed with lace;
 I never handed out a shock
 That shook old England to her base;
 I never have by word or deed
 Reclaimed a people from despair;
 I never have been called to lead,

THE BOY'S SOLILOQUY.

"Golly, I'm glad my mother don't wear slippers like them."

TO BE CONTINUED IN OUR NEXT.

G. W. DID THINGS

They say the story is not true
 About that little cherry tree;
 There are some other stories, too,
 That we should take most guardedly;
 They tell us, who pretend to know,
 That he was not a model tad;
 Of one thing we are certain, though,
 He put Cornwallis to the bad.

That story of the dollar which He threw across the wide, wide stream,
 They say is nothing but the rich
 Result of some old dreamer's dream;
 They may be right, I do not know;
 We may believe or we may doubt;
 One thing has been established, though,
 He put old man Cornwallis out.

It may be that he never bestrode
 A frisky colt that bucked and kicked;
 Wild oats by him may have been sowed;
 In school he may have been well liked;
 He was but human, as we know,
 With human frailties, human hopes;
 One fact remains unshaken, though,
 He put Cornwallis through the ropes.

I may be that he some time erred—
 He was no saint nor demigod;
 We need not praise his every word
 Nor every act of his applaud;
 He had his failings, as we know,
 His vision oft perhaps was blurred;
 This much remains undoubted, though—
 He put a crimp in George the Third.

AS ART FOUND G. W. WAY BACK YONDER

GEORGE WASHINGTON was first in everything—in war, in peace and in the hearts of his countrymen. If he were living now he would doubtless be a first nighter. Anyway, he was first in the temple of fame. Columbia conducted him to the seat of honor. Art at that time was new in business, as may be inferred by the picture that was made showing how Columbia led G. W. to the post. G. W. never blew his horn, but there was a big noise made for him by a trumpet in the clouds. See the woman in the picture. That thing on the end of Columbia's staff is the Liberty cap and not the Tyrolean hat worn by the young woman of 1911. It is easy to see how the Tyrolean milliner got the tip for the style of today.

HE KNEW THE SEX

Jack Plungert: "Congratulate me, old man! I've won her love at last!"
 Tom Tucker: "Has she accepted you?"
 Jack Plungert: "Just as good! We had a terrible quarrel last night, and she said she'd never speak to me again."

VOTE ON LORIMER IN UNITED STATES SENATE WILL OCCUR ABOUT FEB. 15

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The final determination of the Lorimer case is being much discussed here. There is a growing sentiment now that Mr. Lorimer should be expelled and that a resolution simply declaring his seat vacant should not be adopted. This would prevent future difficulties arising in connection with legislation which might have been enacted by means of Mr. Lorimer's vote. The vote will occur the middle of next week, about Feb. 15, it is said here. It is recalled that Mr. Lorimer's vote made possible passage of the ship subsidy bill, with the assistance of Vice-President Sherman. Several of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill amendments were adopted by the same close margin, except that Mr. Sherman was not called on to decide any ties. A two-thirds vote is required to expel a senator, while a bare majority can declare his seat vacant. Senator Lorimer says he has no intention of resigning. He is engaged in preparing a speech in his own defense, which will be delivered near the close of the debate. Senator Cullom has arranged a speech in which he will defend the state of Illinois against the charge made by Senator Root that corruption had prevailed in its legislature for many years. He will insist that bribery and debauchery are sporadic and not chronic in Illinois. He will not touch the Lorimer case. Mr. Cullom has been bitterly attacked by Senator Joseph Bailey of Texas, who asserted that in some respects the allegations against Lorimer affected Cullom too. Senator Burton of Ohio has spoken in opposition to the exoneration of Mr. Lorimer, whose election, he said, ought to be declared invalid, for said fraud and corruption were so rampant at Springfield that it is impossible to separate the honest votes from those illegally cast.

was present in the sanctuary. The choir, under the direction of Charles P. Smith, sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory the "Pie Jesu" was rendered by Mrs. Walker and after the elevation "O Meritum Passionis" by Edward F. Shea. At the conclusion the "De Profundis" was sung by the choir, and the hymn "Mother of Christ" was rendered on the organ by Mrs. Walker. The hearers were Patrick A. Conlon, Arthur McQuinn, James Freeman, John McNamara, Anthony McCarron and Bartholomew Scannell Jr. At the grave service, Rev. Dennis Sullivan, O. M. I., read the funeral prayers. The arrangements were in charge of Dr. William M. Collins and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

BURNED TO DEATH

GIRL PERISHED IN A FIRE AT BURLINGTON

BURLINGTON, Vt., Feb. 8.—Miss Vena I. Pina, 19 years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pina of 55 Murray street, was burned to death yesterday at her home.

Miss Pina was not feeling well and rose about 2:30 o'clock and went upstairs, carrying a lamp. Just what happened will never be known, but the other members of the household were roused by the girl's screams and saw her standing at the top of the stairway, enveloped in flames. She dashed down the stairs and her father attempted to wrap her in an overcoat. He was badly burned about the hands and face and the girl died before assistance could be rendered her.

It is thought she inhaled the flames. Police Officer Christopher Miles, who was passing the house and went to the assistance of the family, had one hand badly burned.

MAYOR IS RECALLED

Women Defeated Mayor Gill of Seattle Under New Charter

He Was Charged With Farming Out Vice Privileges to a Syndicate — 22,000 Women Registered Under Woman Suffrage Law

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 8.—As a result of the first test of the recall in this state Mayor Gill of Seattle must relinquish his office at once. The election was held yesterday and the votes of the newly enfranchised women voters played a prominent part in the result. George Dilling was elected over Mayor Gill and will take office immediately to serve out the unexpired part of Gill's term. In 1909 precincts out of 153 Dilling's majority was 1930. It was the recall of the city leaders that Gill and Chief of Police Wapenstien formed out the vice privileges to a syndicate. A large proportion of 22,000 women, who registered, cast their ballots yesterday. They stood in lines at booths and appeared to be as apt and quick at casting their votes as the most experienced men voters.

As soon as it was announced last November that the woman suffrage amendment to the constitution had been adopted, the movement to recall Mayor Gill under a provision of the city charter took active form and the women entered vigorously into the campaign.

A surprise of the day was the heavy socialist vote, which probably will reach 5000.

REQUIEM MASS

FOR THE REPOSE OF THE SOUL OF THE LATE REV. FR. JOYCE

A solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning for the repose of the soul of the late Rev. Fr. Joyce, O. M. I., who for many years was pastor of the Immaculate Conception church. A number of clergymen will be present at the service and the priests of the parish expect that the church will be crowded with parishioners who knew Fr. Joyce and the great work that he performed to build up the parish and its societies.

You are hereby called to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Lowell, in said County, on the seventeenth day of February, A. D. 1911, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

At Funeral of Postmaster A. G. Thompson Today

Post Office Employees Attended in a Body and Did Escort Duty—Many Delegates Present from Prominent Societies and Fraternal Organizations—Simple but Impressive Services

The funeral of the late Postmaster A. G. Thompson took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock with simple funeral services at the home of the deceased, 23 Ash street. One of the largest gatherings noted at a local funeral in a long time assembled at the service to honor the memory of the deceased and among the mourners were men prominent in the public, business and social life of the city for the deceased was one of Lowell's best known and most highly respected citizens. The assemblage at the services taxed the capacity of the residence, while many remained outside of the house unable to obtain admittance. The remains rested in the casket in the parlor, which was transformed into a veritable bower of flowers, the floral tributes being magnificent and many in number.

Conspicuous among the floral pieces was an immense flag draped in white and white convolutions, sent by the letter carriers of the Lowell postoffice, while an immense "Vacant Chair" was the tribute of the clerical force of the office. The postoffice closed during the hour of the funeral, and the officials, carriers and clerks, the carriers in uniform, marched to the home of the deceased in a body, and were given seats reserved for them in the rear parlor. There were present also delegations from Kilwinning lodge, F. A. M., Abasneris council, Royal and Selected Masters, Pilgrim commandery, Knights Templar, Mt. Hope, Royal Arch chapter, Lowell council, Royal Arcanum, Knights of Pythias, Lowell lodge, A. O. U. W., Elks, Martha Luther, York club, Central club, Home club, Pilgrim commandery and Highland Veritas lodge, I. O. O. F.

The school department was represented by Supt. Whitcomb, the transient commission and the employees of the supply office at city hall; the deceased having been a member of the school board for several years, and city hall was also represented by City Clerk Padman, City Treasurer Stiles, Police Commissioner, Hanson and several members of the city government.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Ransom A. Greene, who in addition to prayers and the reading of the scriptures made brief but eloquent remarks eulogistic of the deceased. The funeral music was "Nearer, My God to Thee," "Abide With Me," and at the conclusion of the service as the post office employees passed silently by the bier of the deceased and well beloved chief, the quartet rendered "The Vacant Chair." The quartet was composed of Messrs. David P. Martin, David A. McHugh, David Mahoney and John F. Hoag. After the service each of the delegations passed by the casket and looked upon the features of the deceased for the last time and then the funeral procession was formed and proceeded to the Edson cemetery where the interment took place. The honorary bearers were Col. A. M. Chadwick, Hon. John E. Drury, Edmund B. Conant, Fred J. Flemings, Charles J. Morse and Cyrus W. Irish. The active bearers were Messrs. J. J. Dillon, George L. Adams, Maurice H. Powers and William J. Higgins, representing the letter carriers and G. H. Gurney, W. H. Hayward, representing the postal clerks.

The funeral procession, escorted by the carriers and clerks, proceeded from the house to the post office. Upon arrival at the postoffice, the carriers and clerks lined up at the side of the street at salute as the procession passed them, while the bell in the postoffice tower tolled the knell of the deceased postmaster. The hearse came to a standstill momentarily in passing and then the procession resumed its journey to the grave. The latter was lined with evergreen and banked with the floral tributes. Brief services were conducted at the graveside. The funeral arrangements were under the direction of Frank K. Stearns and the interment in charge of Undertaker Geo. W. Healey.

SAN FRANCISCO

Is Favored by Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—San Francisco today won the unanimous vote of the senate committee on industrial expositions for the Panama canal exposition.

The resolution declaring for San Francisco was ordered reported in the form it passed the house. By a vote of 5 to 5 the committee rejected an amendment offered by Senator Swanson providing for the rendezvous at Hampton Roads of the fleets of the world and the reception of foreign representatives in Washington. Senator Swanson announced that he would renew this amendment when the bill was taken up in the senate.

MINISTER KING

SAYS RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT WILL GO THROUGH

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Feb. 8.—William Mackenzie King, minister of labor of Canada, in an interview here following an address which he gave last night before the Central Congregational club on the work of the department of labor of the Dominion, briefly discussed the pending reciprocity agreement between this country and Canada. After begging to be excused from giving his personal views on the question, as he has not given utterance to them in Canada, he said: "As far as the Canadian government is concerned, I am positive that the treaty will go through as it has been adopted as a government measure. We believe also the treaty will pass your congress and it will be for the mutual benefit of both countries."

SEN. CULLOM'S DENIAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—In a brief statement in the senate today Mr. Cullom of Illinois said that never had a dollar been corruptly used in any of his elections. He said that the people of Illinois were as moral as those of any other state and that they could take care of their own good name.

COL. ROOSEVELT

To Deliver Address at Reno

RENO, Nev., Feb. 8.—Theodore Roosevelt, writing to Senator Dix Smith, a fellow member in the New York assembly and an acquaintance since 1883, has accepted an invitation to speak in Reno on April 3, and in a characteristic letter declared himself interested in progressive politics and, even more so, in "progressive Christianity."

"We must not let the bigots on either side bring any trouble to us in America," he concluded.

The letter came in response to Mr. Smith's urgent request that Colonel Roosevelt speak in Reno on "Civil Rights and Progress." Mr. Smith told him the people of Reno had subscribed $11,000 for a Y. M. C. A. building in ten days, and the most active worker was P. L. Flanagan, a Catholic and member of the national republican committee. Colonel Roosevelt wrote: "New York, Jan. 31, 1911."

"Dear Smith: I was mighty glad to get your letter. I shall come to Reno. I expect to arrive from San Francisco Monday, April 3rd, at 9:35 a. m. and to leave at 12:45 midnight, for Portland, via Oakland. I just threw up my hands when I heard from you. I don't know what I can do for you. Tell him how pleased I am about the part he took in erecting the Y. M. C. A. building. Interested though I am in progressive politics, I am even more interested in what I may call 'progressive Christianity,' that is in having Catholic and Protestant join in standing on a square, ethical basis. We have got to be against the man who is a crook without any regard to whether he is a Catholic or a Protestant, and for the honest men equally, whether he is a Catholic or whether he is a Protestant. We must not let the bigots on either side bring any trouble to us in America. Faithfully yours, Theodore Roosevelt."

NEW APPLICANTS

For Membership in the Board of Trade

The membership committee of the board of trade met this noon at the New American hotel and had luncheon. Considerable business was transacted and 22 applications for membership were received, which goes to show that the members of the committee are right down to their work and mean business. The new names received are the following: Frank A. Smith, George H. Tapp, H. Hutchins Parker, Henry J. McAlone, Dr. T. B. Smith, Dr. J. H. Sparks, Allen C. Metcalfe, D. F. Curley, Dr. C. E. Snyder, Charles H. Burns, Benjamin J. Mahoney, Carl E. Merrill, Albion Taylor, Timothy J. Coffey, G. C. Hunt, J. A. Dillon, Dr. Otis Allen, W. W. Knox, Arthur P. Simpson, Othello Greenwood, Leon A. S. Morrison, John C. Kellner.

MRS. R. G. HILL

Failed to Appear in Federal Court

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Mrs. Roberta G. Hill, divorced wife of Capt. James Hill of the British army, failed to appear in the federal court at the time set today for pleading to the charge of having smuggled $5000 worth of clothing and jewelry into the country from France last December. Although a default was entered her counsel and the case was put over until tomorrow with the understanding that her time for pleading is past and if she appears it will be to have a date set for her trial.

Mrs. Hill is under $3000 bonds, which was furnished by a surety company.

EIGHT NEW HORSES GRAND JURY HERE

Wanted by Supt. Putnam of the Street Department

Eight horses belonging to the street department will have to move on to make room for younger and better horses; just as old men, in this commercial age, are made to move on to make room for younger blood and fresher energy.

Some of the horses in question will have to pay the death penalty, while others of them will be sold to new masters, and if the poor old fellows could speak and express a wish or ask a favor the chances are they would ask to be allowed to seek oblivion in death. Their ages range from 15 to 27 years. The average horse at the age of 15 has outlived his usefulness, and these horses are now a burden on the city. Five horses and, police horses that outlived their period of usefulness were sent to the city farm to spend the remainder of their days in peace and quiet. One of the five horses sent to the farm died of a broken heart; at least that is what the men who watched him declared at the time. The horse was loquacious and finally refused to eat. The only real signs of life he showed during his time at the farm was on a day when the sound of the fire bell reached his ear. He was being led about the yard at the time and he tried his level best to get away from the man who was leading him. A few days later the poor old fellow was cashed in and moved on to the happy hunting ground. Mayor Meehan, Newell F. Putnam, superintendent of streets, and Walter A. Sherman, veterinary surgeon, went to the city stables in Broadway yesterday and looked at the horses whose days are numbered. Dr. Sherman pointed out the horses that he believed it would be an act of charity to kill. There is no room at the farm for any more "played-outs" and those of them that do not receive the death sentence will be sold at auction or private sale.

The doing away with the old horses means that the street department will have to have some new horses and in his estimate for 1911 Supt. Putnam has asked for $2100 for new horses. These horses, however, will not be purchased before the spring or early summer, as they are not needed in the winter except in case of a heavy storm and then it is cheaper to hire. Horses are high at the present time, and the man who gets a good pair of horses for $500 is doing well.

TOOK PARIS GREEN

Man Thought Old Friends Were Going Back on Him

HAVERHILL, Feb. 8.—After swallowing two teaspoonfuls of paris green William Mullen worked all day yesterday and when he was taken ill at night he denied that he had eaten any poison.

News of his death at Plaistow, N. H., reached here today. Mullen was employed in the greenhouses of Carl Lloyd at Plaistow. Just before his death he admitted that he had taken the poison and said he had done so because he feared the Lloyds, who were old friends of his family, were getting tired of him. He was 28 years old and unmarried.

His wife cleared up the mistake today.

THAT'S WHAT COUNT APPONY! SAYS

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The time is surely coming when wars will cease and nations of the world will settle all their differences by arbitration, in the opinion of Count Albert Apponyi of Hungary, who is here today at the highest of the civil forum and the New York Peace society to advance the cause of international peace in America. Future generations will witness the fruition of the plans which he and other European and American statesmen are advocating for world-wide peace, he says, but his doubts if it will be accomplished within the lifetime of the present generation. Count Apponyi reached here from Europe last night.

MARRIED HEIRESS

FORMER CONDUCTOR TOOK CALIFORNIA GIRL FOR HIS BRIDE

LYNN, Feb. 8.—Harry Curtis Rice and Miss Tyler Kintelon were married yesterday afternoon by the Rev. Arthur E. Harriman, in the parsonage of the East Baptist church at 37 Broad street. The groom is a former street car conductor of Lynn and for the past three years vice-president of the General Incandescent Lamp company at Cleveland. Mrs. Rice is the daughter of a wealthy resident of Oakland, Cal., where the couple met last year as members of a radio listening party.

After the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served at the home of the groom's parents at 548 Western avenue. The couple then left for New York and an extended honeymoon through the south.

Mrs. Katherine Hennessy, a former resident of this city, has returned to Lowell after an absence of two and a half years, spent in Oswego, N. Y. She is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. A. Hurtubise.

To Resume Its Investigation of County Affairs

Grand Jury Inspected the Lowell Jail and Examined a Number of Lowell Witnesses—Investigation May Take Three Days

The grand jury came to Lowell this morning to resume its inquiry into the administration of the public affairs of the county, the probe so-called having been started in Cambridge recently and several sessions held.

The idea of coming to Lowell was to inspect the Lowell jail and to hear Lowell witnesses.

The members were on hand at 10 o'clock and were Deputy Sheriffs Stiles and Courtney, it being the latter's first court duty. Shortly after 10 o'clock a couple of reporters put in an appearance, but many a witness showed up while District Attorney Higgins, who is conducting the examination, notwithstanding the reports to the effect that a district attorney from another county would act as inquisitor, did not arrive until after 11 o'clock. It was then decided to proceed at once on an inspection of the jail and the party left the court house and walked over to the big institution in Throckmold street now presided over by Keeper Eveleth.

The two deputy sheriffs in charge of the grand jury profess ignorance of the number or identity of the witnesses, stating that all had been summoned by officers from the other end of the county. It is expected that there will be a sufficient number of witnesses to keep the grand jury here for three days.

BIG FIRE IN BROOKLYN

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Many million dollars' worth of property in the heart of the business section of Brooklyn was threatened early today by a fire which destroyed the five-story factory of the F. Bischoff Cocoa & Chocolate Co. on Ashland place.

After heroic efforts the flames were prevented from doing any considerable damage to adjoining buildings. The loss was estimated by the police at a quarter of a million dollars.

Street Dept. Kept Busy Today

Was Shot and Mortally Wounded

Ten teams belonging to the street department were engaged in the work of sanding the streets this morning and the men employed by the street department including the men with the sand-teams, today, number more than 200, and most of them are busy on gutters.

Supt. Putnam said today that if the weather would hold good for another month the Lawrence street bridge would be ready for travel. The bridge work on the sewer laid across the concrete slab is being attended to and a gang of men are busy on back filling work. Unless the weather clerk should usher in a big storm, the bridge will be ready for the street railway people within a month. The tracks to be laid by the street railway people at this time, however, will not be permanent as the dirt or two-dressing will settle more or less during the next few months.

GOV. VEGA

SAYS THAT THERE IS NO REBEL-LION

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 8.—Governor Celezo Vega of lower California, a Mexican, who is out with 200 soldiers to fight rebels, last night said: "This is not a revolution. The difficulty is caused by irresponsible citizens of no country an offense of no one. I blame the dissatisfaction, if any, to the Americans and their newspapers and their socialists. I am out looking for men who are violating the law, not to put down a so-called rebellion. There is none."

SALEM, Feb. 8.—Stricken with heart disease as he sat at his desk in the assessor's office at city hall, Dennis O'Leary, an assessor of this city, died almost unnoticed. A clerk in the office did not know that his superior officer was ill until less than a minute before he died. Mr. O'Leary was elected assessor on Jan. 2 last, after a spirited contest. He assumed his duties a week ago yesterday. He had previously served as an assistant assessor. He is survived by a widow and several children. He was about 36 years old.

SANCTUARY CHOIR MINSTRELS

You will miss a minstrel show which will equal the best production ever presented in this city for many years unless you attend the annual minstrel overture and dance of the sanctuary choir of St. Patrick's church, which will be given in the Associate hall tonight. You heard about the last show of this organization and you should avail yourself of this opportunity of hearing your choir in the black face make-up and singing the most popular and latest songs successes of the day. Many people could not be accommodated in the hall of St. Patrick's academy last year when the choir presented its show so the committee has secured Associate hall for the performance this evening.

The six boys and men, namely: Ed O'Neil, Dan Powers, James King, Tom Tobin, Bernard O'Reilly and John Stapleton will furnish enough giggles to hold over until the next performance. The performance will start promptly at 8 o'clock and as the fun will start with the rising of the curtain those considering attending should make a particular effort to be in the hall when the performance starts so that they will not miss a particle of the fun.

Dancing will start immediately after the overture and continue until midnight. Tickets are twenty-five cents and may be procured at the box office.

6 O'CLOCK QUIET AT JUAREZ

Orozco's Men Encamped Across the River From El Paso Smelter

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 8.—Quiet prevails in Ciudad Juarez at this hour. The federals have the usual number of outposts patrolling the outskirts of the city. Orozco's men are encamped across the river from the El Paso smelter, near the scene of yesterday's encounter, but the only indication of their presence is the occasional signal of a sentry. No news has been received during the night as to the location of Blanco and Anales with their insurgents.

THE FEDERALS ROUTED BY THE INSURRECTOS

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 8.—The first battle of Juarez between the federal troops and insurrectos was exhibited yesterday. "Exhibition" is the proper word, for no one on either side was hurt and the "exhibition" was viewed by a thousand or more El Pasoans who lined the bank of the Rio Grande on the American side about three miles west of El Paso.

The exchange of missiles lasted about 15 minutes and about 200 shots were fired. According to Pascual Orozco, leader of the insurrectos his men fired only 50 of these. He declared that the federals got away so fast that they were out of range before more shots could be fired at them.

Last night, the federals were behind the walls of the Cathedral of Guadalupe, of their barracks, and of the building at Juarez, across the river from here. Orozco remains in possession of the position which he occupied at noon and held against the federal advance. He declared in an interview with The Associated Press correspondent that he firmly intended to attack Juarez, but that he would wait until the arrival of General Blanco with 350 men. He expects the latter any moment.

Orozco's present force around Juarez numbers about 600 men, probably 550. Of these 300 were with him in the skirmish yesterday afternoon. The federal forces by actual count numbered 184, including 100 foot soldiers and 84 mounted infantry. They took with them no artillery, and Orozco has none.

The insurrecto leader and his men spent Monday night at Rancho Flores, usually inhabited by a few horses and a herd of goats, which the rebels took. Orozco quit the ranch during the forenoon by making through the deep arroyos, which lead to the desert where, reached a new position in the hills along the river across from the El Paso smelter. Here the correspondents who had been on his trail since dawnbreak, discovered him.

He and six of his lieutenants met the visitors and also a writing tablet. He expressed a wish to visit El Paso to get a "square meal."

His 320 men were scattered along the hills for three-quarters of a mile. Some of them had their horses on the other side of the range, watering from the river. Someone leaving El Paso in an automobile coincided with the departure of the federals from Juarez. Col. Rabago gave them the rebel warning. Making a trumpet of his hands the El Pasoan shouted:

"Get busy; the troops are coming!"

The scout machine was quickly followed by scores of others, each with a load, many of the passengers being women and express wagons, on hay racks and bicycles, and hundreds by the street car line, which runs out to the smelter. Other hundreds on foot arrived breathless after it was all over, except for an occasional "viva Madero" echoing from the hills. The "revolutions" resumed the interrupted task of working their heels.

At the alarm of the automobilist as the federals marched out, the whole mountainside awoke to life. At 200 yards, the revolutionists looked like insects making their way on all fours to avoid bullets, through a maze of cactus, soap weed, sage brush and boulders.

It was about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Col. Rabago marched out the river road. The eastern wing of Orozco's force opened fire when the foot soldiers approached on a crest about 600 yards distant. The federals halted in a compact mass, but escaped injury. The thirty-three carried by the revolutionists are not effective at that distance. They returned the fire for 15 minutes. They then turned and retreated at a dog trot. The mounted men of the federals did not come within range.

The sightseers on the American side bear witness to the celerity of the retreat, for the federals were in full view for nearly a mile.

As soon as news of the impending night reached Col. Sharpe, commanding the 23rd Infantry, U. S. A., he detached reinforcements to the guard at the smelter to prevent possible violation of American neutrality.

The skirmish had been over for an hour when an insurrecto, clad in a five-piece suit, with his hand crossed over the American side. He had been sent to buy a dinner for Orozco who had a buffet of goat meat. A soldier turned him back, fearing that he wished to purchase ammunition. Again on the Mexican side, he encountered some newspapermen who guaranteed the innocence of his mission. He bought his supplies under their supervision and was sent back grinning. Orozco was content with repulsing the enemy. After the retreat of the latter he searched the ground thoroughly, but discovered no sign of blood letting.

Soon following the skirmish, Orozco said that while there had been no loss of life, he was glad the moral effect of repulsing the enemy. The "moral" effect was needed for Orozco's stock dropped several points among his sympathizers, first when he allowed Rabago to elude him at Baucha on Sunday afternoon, for failing to attack Juarez on the heels of that officer.

Orozco placed the number of his own dead in the Baucha fight at two and his wounded at four. He thought that 25 patients were in the federal hospital at Juarez embraced the federal losses in wounded, but insisted that they lost six or eight killed instead of one as officially reported.

The rebel force consists entirely of mounted infantry. Those not with Orozco are near Baucha or on scouting duties in the mountains. Unlike the federal troops, there are no women camp followers with the insurrectos.

President Diaz has no organized commissary. In its place there are the women. Each soldier gets a few centavos a day to buy him his food. This they turn over to the women who forage the country, cook tortillas if they are able to buy corn, and provide food for the men. More often than not, the women have children with them. They are officially recognized by the war department which furnishes them passage on troop trains. Two of them were killed at Baucha.

It was a spectacle both ludicrous and pathetic yesterday to see a dozen, mostly barefooted, running after the rebels as they advanced toward the rebel camp. Their faces bore evidences of anxiety as most of them are bound for what serves as maternity to the men in the ranks. There is no danger or privation they will not face. Residents of Mexico declare also that they are more loyal than their men folk, and that it is they who usually strip the dead, a common practice.

There are three Americans with Orozco at present. Two of them, former Philippine veterans, were with another detachment yesterday, and the third, L. Converse of Glendora, Cal., was accidentally on the American side by making the engagement. He was unable to return in time to share in the fight. Converse was formerly a member of the Texas militia and also was an instructor at a military school in Los Angeles. He said that he was in communication with 25 American veterans who have declared their intention of joining the revolutionists the moment Juarez is taken.

While Orozco said that he intended to attack Juarez, it was plain to interviewers that he was making mental reservation. He had no news of Gen. Navarro who is reported advancing with 1000 federal soldiers from Chihuahua but the probability of an attack from that source was plainly a matter of deep concern to him. When it was suggested that he might find it advisable to abandon for the time being his intentions toward Juarez, and turn south to meet the force from Chihuahua, he returned an evasive answer.

SHE COLLAPSES MISS SWAN WEAKENED BY OVERSTUDY

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—Miss Nellie M. Swan, aged 22, of 38 Maple avenue, Cambridge, collapsed at the corner of Exeter and Boylston streets yesterday afternoon and was taken to the Massachusetts homeopathic hospital in the police ambulance from division 18, where it was found she was suffering from overstudy.

At the hospital her condition is not considered serious. Miss Swan is a student at Boston university and has lived for the past year with her aunt, Mrs. J. C. Kent, 33 Maple avenue, Cambridge. Her home is in town. She has not been in the best of health and has suffered of late from fainting spells.

She attended class at the university yesterday as usual and was overcome as she came from the building. The janitor discovered her on the sidewalk and brought her inside, not knowing that she was a student.

Mrs. Kent was notified, and her husband went to the hospital, where Miss Swan was found to be in a comfortable condition. She is suffering from a slight concussion, the effects of falling on the sidewalk.

DENLEA MAY DIE PUGILIST IS IN A CRITICAL CONDITION

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 8.—George Denlea, a Pittsburgh, a light-weight boxer, is in a critical condition at a hospital as the result of injuries suffered in a fight with Jake Abel of this city last night. Denlea crawled from the ring after he was knocked out in the fourth round but collapsed soon afterward and has not regained consciousness.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH
The last of the entertainments in the New Departure course at the Calvary Baptist church will be held tonight. Mr. Edward W. Hazewell, associate editor of the Boston Transcript, a lecturer of some repute in this district, will talk, taking as his subject, "Personal Recollections of Abraham Lincoln and His Times."

The doors will be thrown open at 7 o'clock and at 7:40 Mrs. Winifred Pling Symonds will give a patriotic recital. Mr. Hazewell will begin his lecture at 8 o'clock sharp.

SCRAPING THE ICE

Great Activity on Merrimack River

The Merrimack river in the vicinity of Gage's ice houses is the scene of great activity today. The work of scraping was begun yesterday afternoon and today more than 200 men and 50 horses are employed.

Miss Gage stated today that she did not expect her men would cut any ice on the river for a day or two. The ice is between seven and eight inches thick at the present time and another cold night or two would fix it all right. If the weather holds cold the work of cutting will start Friday morning.

BUILDING PERMIT WAS TAKEN OUT BY REV. FR. HARKINS TODAY

Rev. Fr. John J. Harkins, pastor of St. Margaret's parish, secured a permit from the lands and buildings department this morning for the erection of a temporary church at the rear of 279 Stevens street.

The new building will be erected over the floor constructed some time ago under the tent which for a short time served as temporary quarters for worship. The new church will measure 32x55, will be 14 feet high, two stories, and will have a seating capacity of 400. It will be heated by gas and its cost will be $700.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF THE CHOIR OF THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION CHURCH

The members of the Immaculate Conception church choir will enjoy a conception ride to Billerica Centre tonight and upon arrival there will sit down to a banquet. After the banquet there will be a concert and dancing. The banquet is given by Rev. Fr. Tighe, O. M. I., pastor of the church, and he expects that every member of the choir will be present. The start will be made from the parochial residence at 7:30 sharp.

EXPECTED SUDDEN WEALTH

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 8.—Three witnesses testified today that Dr. Pantchenko, accused of poisoning Count Vassili Bontarlin, had told them of his hopes of sudden wealth. A fellow passenger with the doctor on the trip to Vilna, swore that he heard a conversation in French between Pantchenko and Count Patrick O'Brien De Lassy at a hotel in Vilna and saw money pass between them. The former told the witness that he was soon to receive $5000.

Another man who had gone security for some of the defendant's bills said that Pantchenko told him that he was soon to become rich and only needed to "expedite" a certain patient. A woman witness testified that Pantchenko told her of the proposed "elimination" of one or two heirs of a certain millionaire, adding that the affair would bring him several hundred thousand roubles.

CUSTOMS OFFICERS DISCHARGED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The removal of four employees of the New York customs house who were charged with being implicated in the sugar frauds, was today approved by the treasury department. The men discharged are Franklin Davis and Malcolm G. Myer, inspectors, and Martin Sklaize and William J. Walsh, assistant weighers. Collector Loeb recommended their dismissal. The charges against the men are said to be contained in the minutes of the grand jury which investigated the frauds. The department decided, however, that there was not sufficient evidence for a prosecution.

THE EDDY WILL A REVOLUTION

Another Step in the Legal Tangle Was Suppressed by German Warships

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 8.—The law firm of Taggart, Tuttle, Burroughs & Wyman of Manchester, have given notice in the superior court here that on Feb. 11 they will file a petition in behalf of their client, George W. Baker of this city, asking permission to intervene in the suit of George W. Glover and J. Foster Eddy against Henry M. Baker, involving the validity of the disposition made by Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy of her estate in her will.

George W. Baker is the son of a deceased brother of Mrs. Eddy, and the petition will be based on the claim that if Mrs. Eddy's gift of two million dollars to the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, is found invalid, then George W. Baker will inherit the estate as next of kin, he claiming that both George W. Glover and J. Foster Eddy are barred from their rights of inheritance by the use of the terms of the contract into which they entered at the close of the "next friends" proceedings in 1907.

HEAVY DAMAGE Island of Reunion Struck by Cyclone

PARIS, Feb. 8.—Advices received today by the ministry of the colonies from Reunion, state that the island was struck by a cyclone that continued for three days. The damage is heavy but it is impossible to estimate it as communication between the different places is cut off.

The official despatches do not state whether there was a loss of the Mascarene group, the Indian ocean forming a French colony. Its area is 790 square miles and it has a population of about 15,000. Its capital is St. Denis. The chief products are sugar, coffee and tobacco.

NIGHT RIDERS DROVE JAPANESE LABORERS FROM A RANCH

DELTA, Colo., Feb. 8.—Opposition to the employment of Japanese labor in the orchards of western Colorado came to a head Monday night when night-riders visited the camp of Japanese employed in the settling out fruit and vegetable ranch near here and drove them off, warning them not to return on pain of death. The Japanese left the ranch.

TREATY DRAFTED AND IS BEFORE THE STATE DEPT. FOR ACTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Possibly it was with an apprehension of what is just coming to pass on the Texas border that Senator De la Barra, the Mexican ambassador, some time ago proposed to Secretary Knox the negotiation of a treaty to regulate the flight of aeroplanes between the United States and Mexico. Secretary Knox was willing to entertain the proposition and as a result a treaty has been drafted which has received the approval of the Mexican government and is now before the state department for its action.

The ostensible purpose of the Mexican government was to prevent smuggling, which could be carried on in the case of small and exceedingly valuable commodities such as jewels, furs, opium and the like, by aeroplanes in the absence of regulations. But another very important use of the aeroplanes was evidently in mind and that was its possible employment by revolutionists in conveying information of the movements of government troops endeavoring to capture rebel forces.

Mexico would not object to the employment of aeroplanes by the United States army as proposed, but would probably not like the appearance on the border of a number of aeroplanes, such as would be drawn to the proposed exhibition at El Paso, if these machines are to operate over Mexican territory without responsibility to the military authorities. Therefore, it is possible that a protest will be made by the Mexican government against any such contemplated flights.

STRAWBERRIES IN MARKET HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 8.—Texas strawberries are being marketed, according to advices received from Alden and Pasadena. First shipments were reported from those points yesterday.

The early movement of the crop is due to the unusually mild winter experienced recently in southern Texas.

SMITH HELD IN $500

On Charge of Breaking Into the Billerica Post Office

Thomas Smith, who it is alleged broke into the postoffice at North Billerica yesterday morning and later arrested in Gosham street by Patrolman Patrick J. Conroy, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with feloniously breaking and entering the store of Alice Maxwell in the town of Billerica and stealing therefrom a pound and a half of candy valued at 50 cents, two ounces of gum valued at 25 cents, two packages of tobacco each of the value of ten cents, and a shirt valued at $1.00.

The clerk had no sooner read the complaint than Smith shouted: "I enter a plea of not guilty, waive examination and have the case tried before a higher court." Smith's request was granted and he was held under $500 for the grand jury.

Stole Blanket and Robs
John Mullen of Bedford and John Thompson of New Bedford, came to Lowell yesterday afternoon for a little justification. They came over the road in a sleigh belonging to Mullen, and upon arriving in Lowell put the outfit up at Davis' stable in Church street. Inasmuch as Bedford is a dry town, the pair started to visit several saloons with the result that when they were ready to start for home, both were pretty much under the weather.

While Mullen was hitching the horse one of the stable attendants saw Thompson take a blanket from one of Frank K. Stearns' laundry wagons and also a robe belonging to the city of Lowell and place both in Mullen's sleigh. Word was sent to the police station, and both Mullen and Thompson were placed under arrest, the former for drunkenness and the latter for drunkenness and larceny.

In court this morning Mullen paid a fine of $2. Thompson admitted that he was drunk and said he would not have thought of taking the robes if he had been sober. He was ordered to pay a fine of $20 within three days, or go to jail for three months.

Sent to State Farm
Harvey Barrette, a young man, was charged with drunkenness and being an idle and disorderly person who had neglected all lawful business and habitually missed his time by frequenting houses of ill fame, gaming houses and tippling shops. Barrette allowed that he had been drinking rather heavily of late, but the idle and disorderly charge preferred against him staggered him and it was only after much explanation that he realized the purpose of the charge.

Patrolman Breach learned that the defendant was continually hanging around street corners, pool rooms and liquor saloons. He said the young man had not done any work since last April. Patrolman Groux also testified as to the defendant's habits.

When given a chance to testify in his own behalf, Barrette said: "I have a good job every day and a place to sleep. I belong to a good family and never stole anything."

He was sentenced to the state farm at Bridgewater.

SAVED HIMSELF DOYLE BEATEN

Thomas Was Nearly Gardiner Chosen to the Knocked Out Board of Education

AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 8.—Frank Mantell of Pawtucket forced J. J. Doyle, the choice of the democrats in caucus Monday night for the vacancy in the board of education, was defeated in the joint convention of the city council and the board last night. The choice for the place was J. Dick Gardiner, another democrat, who was the candidate of the board of education.

The election was on the first ballot when Mr. Doyle received 14 votes and Mr. Gardiner 24. Mr. Doyle was a member of the board up to Jan. 1 and was during his service one of the most active men on the board, stirring up many things that had been passed over by others. The vacancy in the board was caused by the failure of Arthur G. Shattuck to qualify as a member, as he was elected to the board of aldermen as well as the school board and preferred to qualify in the former.

A joint convention of the aldermen and councilmen was held to fill a vacancy in the board of assessors, caused by the removal of Martin S. Babcock from the city. There were three candidates for the place, Charles O. Anderson, a republican, Daniel D. Coffey, a democrat, and H. H. Davis, a democrat. At the same caucus that nominated Mr. Doyle, Mr. Coffey was named, but he, too, was defeated on the second ballot.

On the first ballot Mr. Andrews received 5, Mr. Davis 3, and Mr. Coffey 12. The second ballot gave Mr. Coffey 29 and Mr. Davis 16.

DEATHS

COBB—Mrs. Kate Cobb, for many years a resident of this city, passed away this afternoon at the Chelmsford street hospital, at the age of 69 years. The remains were removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker John A. Plimack, 119 East Merrimack street, from where the funeral will take place tomorrow.

YON—Frederick Arthur Yon, aged 5 months and three days, died last night at the home of his parents, Alexander and Rosanna Yon, 200 French street.

ROGERS—John Warren Rogers, aged 3 months, infant son of James and Mary Rogers, died this morning at the home of his parents, 29 Butler avenue.

FUNERAL NOTICES

DONAHUE—The funeral of the late DONAHUE will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence, No. 1 Brooks street. Solemn high mass of requiem at St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock. J. F. O'Donnell & Sons, undertakers.

ROBINSON—The funeral of the late Edward F. Robinson will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of his sister, Miss Nellie Z. Robinson, 84 West Fourth street. Mr. Robinson was a member of the local Aerie of Eagles and also affiliated with the Central and a local branch of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. He will be in charge of Undertakers C. H. Molloy & Sons.

LEWIS—The funeral of the late Theodore W. Lewis will take place at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon from his late home, 96 West Sixth street. Friends are invited. Undertaker J. A. Weinbach will have charge.

M. E. CONFERENCE

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—A spirited contest for the meeting of the next conference of the Methodist Episcopal church is expected today when the book committee of the denomination, which has the authority to select the city in which the general conference shall meet, opens its session. The general conference, which is the lawmaking body of the church and represents world-wide Methodism, meets every four years. The next conference will be held in May, 1912. Governor Carroll of Iowa will be in the delegation representing the denomination. Former Vice President Charles F. Banks and former Governor Frank Hanley of Indiana will be among those representing Indiana.

Denver, it is said, will offer a bonus of $10,000 in addition to the guarantee of the $5000 required of every city before its invitation was considered.

WELCOMED HOME THE ALDERMEN

VERY REV. T. WADE SMITH,
O. M. I.

DR. J. B. O'CONNOR

Upon His Return From Official Tour of Oblate Province—Reception Took Place in Sacred Heart School Hall

Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., stands here today this magnificent temple of education, a monument to your zeal, energy and administrative ability. Thus, Very Rev. Father, to your honor be it said, religion and education have made wonderfully rapid progress in your parish of the Sacred Heart. Under your surveillance, both have advanced with equally rapid pace, because from the outset you have fully perceived the intimate relation they bear to each other, you have with truth ever considered that the parish without a good school is incomplete, that an efficient parochial school is a necessary complement to the church.

Fr. Smith left Lowell on Nov. 3 and since then has traveled continuously through the northern states, Canada and the northwest. The reception took place in the hall of the new school, which was crowded to the doors. The exercises opened with a song of welcome by a chorus of 250 children. A formal address of welcome was then made by Dr. J. B. O'Connor, who spoke as follows:

Dr. O'Connor's Address
"Very Rev. and Very Dear Fr. Smith: About one year ago you returned to us clothed with the dignity of a great and responsible office. Quite naturally the city at large felt honored in your honor, and the citizens rose in their thousands to do you reverence. Of such a monster public reception as was then tendered to you, our people of the Sacred Heart could at best be but a part. But tonight, on your return after a prolonged absence from our midst, we feel that there is afforded to your parishioners an opportunity, not to be neglected of giving expression to their particular and peculiar love and devotion towards you, our pastor."

"Soon after you came to us first, Very Rev. Father, we recognized in you the stern, forceful character of an administrator. We soon felt the firm, strong hand of an organizer. Results soon made themselves evident. We could not help but admire when we saw the number of attendants at the various masses grow Sunday after Sunday, the monthly, weekly, daily communions ever on the increase; when we saw the different societies and sodalities wax stronger and stronger in numerical strength, and in consequent power for good, when we saw the young and the old and the middle aged organized as never before were they organized."

"Our administration grew as we observed your successful efforts on behalf of the parochial school—how, under your influence the attendance increased from month to month, until at last a new, a better, a more commodious school became an imperative necessity, to meet the demands of the parish—and as if to call forth our utmost powers of admiration there stands here today this magnificent temple of education, a monument to your zeal, energy and administrative ability. Thus, Very Rev. Father, to your honor be it said, religion and education have made wonderfully rapid progress in your parish of the Sacred Heart. Under your surveillance, both have advanced with equally rapid pace, because from the outset you have fully perceived the intimate relation they bear to each other, you have with truth ever considered that the parish without a good school is incomplete, that an efficient parochial school is a necessary complement to the church.

"Hence, religion and education, advancing hand in hand, blend their voices to proclaim you a religious ruler after the heart of St. Paul and consequently after the heart of our divine Saviour himself: 'One that ruleth well his own house.'"

"Yes, Very Rev. Father, from the very first, we have admired in you the successful administrator, the tireless organizer. But little by little, we began to observe not alone your wondrous works, but what was wondrous more, the sweetness of your strength. We saw how in all things concerning the spiritual or temporal welfare of your people, you shrink from neither personal effort, nor from personal inconvenience; we saw how you early rose and kept vigils late how for your people you so devoutly offered sacrifice to one who heard, how you cared for poor men and the sick, and for the souls invisible of men, how for you none there was too high to be reprimanded if he deserved it, none too low to receive from you encouragement and help, how your delight was to be among the lowly and the humble and the children of the fold. Much of this, no doubt, you thought was seen by God's eye alone, but your people too have eyes to see, and ears to hear and intelligence to understand."

"And much have we seen, much have we heard, much have we understood—enough at any rate to teach us what at first we were somewhat slow to learn; that behind that stern countenance of the administrator, back of that strong firm hand of the organizer, was a very tender heart, a heart of marvelous gentleness of purpose, and great powers of loving, a great, big, heart that ever hungers for souls that hold from God apart."

"We rehearse all these things to you tonight to show you that we appreciate

Appointment of J. Omer Allard as Registrar of Voters Confirmed—Petition That Portion of Mansur St. be Macadamized Referred to the Committee on Streets

The board of aldermen held a cute little meeting last night. It lasted just

J. OMER ALLARD,

25 minutes, and the board adjourned until next Tuesday with the purpose in view of going into joint convention your great worth to us; to show you how our administration has been transmuted into love, to explain to you why tonight we so eagerly seize this occasion to lay at your feet a very loving people's offering of love. Nor do we mean this offering as coming from the lips only—but from our hearts as well. Henceforth, call and we shall come; command, and we shall obey; point out the way, we shall take it in joy; lead and we shall follow. For the future we do not intend that you shall out-do us in generosity."

"And now, Very Rev. Father, may God in reward for the piety, wisdom, prudence, vigilance and zeal you have ever displayed in the administration of your charge, grant you length of days sufficient to accomplish great and lasting good in the exalted sphere. He has recently called you to guide to even yet higher and better things this parish of the Sacred Heart so dear to you and to us. It is our earnest wish and our daily prayer: Ad Multos Annos."

Fr. Smith Replies
Rev. Fr. Smith made a brief response during which he said: "My gladness to get back to Lowell is more, I assure you, than all your gladness rolled together."

The sanctuary choir, under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide Minkow, gave "Home Again," and a minstrel show was given by the Children of Mary society of the Immaculate Conception parish, a company of 40, with inter-actor and end "men."

The girls were at their best and the overture even exceeded that presented on the two previous occasions in the Immaculate Conception school hall. Mollie Downey was an exceptionally capable interlocutor and the end "men" had a collection of jokes that possessed a decidedly local tinge. No one was spared; the priests of the parish, the young ladies, the Manhattan club, Alderman-Daly, "Jimmy" Burns, and with the common council. The lower board, however, is ducking on the joint convention and the chances for such a convention next Tuesday night are a bit slim.

The aldermen last night contrived the mayor's appointment of J. Omer Allard as registrar of voters to succeed himself. Hearings were given on minor petitions and the chairman read a communication from Supt. of Schools A. K. Whitcomb, relating to enlargement of the high school building. This communication has already appeared in The Sun.

The mayor's appointment of Peter S. Savittes as constable was confirmed. A petition for a pole location in Middlesex and Baldwin streets was read and a hearing ordered for Tuesday, Feb. 21.

A hearing was given Frank A. Kappler on a petition to move a building in Lincoln, Quebec and London streets. Mr. Kappler said that the grade crossing work made the moving of the house necessary and it was a job that had to be done in a hurry. The necessary license was granted.

The Board & Northern street railway petitioned for pole locations and wires in Lincoln street, change in locations having been made necessary because of the grade crossing work in that street. This and other petitions of a similar nature were referred to the committee on wires.

On the motion of Alderman Daly an order was taken from the files and referred to the joint committee on streets. This was the petition of A. E. Rountree and others, that a portion of Mansur street be macadamized. The order was placed on file by last year's government.

In fact all the prominent young men of the parish came in for "knocks." The soloists were obliged to respond to many encores and at the conclusion of the program the audience loudly applauded the entire company.

That the program offered by the minstrels pleased the large audience so greatly, was particularly gratifying to Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., director of the Children of Mary, who has worked hard for several weeks past to make the entertainment feature of the reception to Very Rev. Fr. Smith a great success.

The soloists were: Misses Mae Hession, Margaret Cawley, Sadie Quinlan, Elizabeth O'Connell, Margaret Cawley, Sadie Quinlan, Elizabeth O'Connell, Margaret Knowles, Marie Cahill, Kattie McCarthy, Bella Walsh, Mary Curtin, Margaret Walsh, Lena Hession and Ethel McCarthy.

The show was much enjoyed. Following it there was a general dancing. The committee in charge of dancing and the reception committee was made up of the following named:

Aids: Mr. Charles McDermott, Mr. James E. Burns, Mr. Thomas Halcyon, Mr. George Brennan, Mr. James P. Kirwin, Miss Elizabeth Miskella, Miss Catherine Sharkey, Mrs. Thomas Hartigan, Miss Sadie Cowell, Miss Beatrice Jordan.

Reception committee: Mr. Thomas Farrell, chairman; Messrs. Thomas Lynch, Thomas Haley, John R. Higgins, Thomas Green, James P. Kirwin, James Cowell, Wm. Cowell, Michael Reardon, John Gildes, James Hearn, Murling Sheehan, Martin Hainsberry, George Tucker, John Connolly, Daniel McDonald, Ambrose Carragher, Thomas Gordon, Mrs. James Gordon, Mrs. Ida Kennedy, Mrs. James Patrick, Mrs. Bryan McFadden, Mrs. James Scott, Mrs. Thomas Farrell, Mrs. David Finnegan, Mrs. Maria Doherty, Misses Mary Wood, Lilla Holden, Elizabeth Miskella, Nellie Murphy, Alice Walsh, Mary Devine, Delia Vaughan, Elizabeth Roche, Catherine Brady, Loretta Mayo, Dela McNulty and Elizabeth McLean.

The arrangements for the affair were under the personal supervision of Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I. who was acting pastor of the Sacred Heart church during the absence of Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I. Among the clergymen present were Rev. Lawrence F. Vilghe, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. McKenna, O. M. I., Rev. D. A. Sullivan, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Barrett, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Cornell, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Fox, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. McDermott, O. M. I., and Rev. Fr. Fletcher, O. M. I.

THE ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE AFFAIR WERE UNDER THE PERSONAL SUPERVISION OF REV. JOHN P. FLYNN, O. M. I. WHO WAS ACTING PASTOR OF THE SACRED HEART CHURCH DURING THE ABSENCE OF VERY REV. T. WADE SMITH, O. M. I. AMONG THE CLERGYMEN PRESENT WERE REV. LAWRENCE F. VILGHE, O. M. I., REV. FR. MCKENNA, O. M. I., REV. D. A. SULLIVAN, O. M. I., REV. FR. BARRETT, O. M. I., REV. FR. CORNELL, O. M. I., REV. FR. the gems, the ruby and amethyst.

At the conclusion of the regular business, there was a guessing contest in which Mrs. William H. Peplin won the prize. Refreshments were served in the prettily decorated dining-room. The decorations were principally in red, the club color, and hearts, roses and the like suggested St. Valentine.

The hostess was assisted by Miss Sallie Jardine, Mrs. W. A. Markee and Miss Nellie Gordon.

BILLERICA

The monthly meeting of the Williams Bible class was held Monday night at the home of Alexander Allan in Wilson street, North Billerica. President Guy M. Richardson presided and a pleasing entertainment program was carried out.

The address of the evening was given by Rev. Charles H. Williams, Ph. D., and there were graphophone selections by John Gunther, songs by Charles French of North Tewksbury, song, "When the Harvest Moon is Shining on the River," Guy Richardson, class song, led by Musical Director Herbert B. Ellis; song, "When I Get Back Again to Bonnie Scotland." Supper was served by Mr. and Mrs. Allan. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the host and hostess and their assistants, Mrs. Chisholm and Mrs. T. Batson.

During the evening the men's quartet sang "Silver Bells," "Hour, Sweet Hour," and other melodies. The accompanist of the evening was Thomas Bateson, Sr. Mr. Allan, the host of the occasion, is past president of the class.

FAIR WAS OPENED

In Aid of the Lawrence Street Church

The five-night fair organized by the members of the Lawrence Street Primitive Methodist Church, headed by the pastor, Rev. John T. Ullom, for the proceeds of the building fund, was opened last evening with a large attendance.

The affair was held in the church vestry and proved a success for the first night. The sales tables were well patronized, and in fact business was better than was expected.

Rev. Mr. Ullom opened the proceedings with appropriate remarks, and was followed by John Jacob Rogers, councilman from ward nine, who also delivered a neat little speech. An entertaining program, consisting of the following numbers, was given: Solo, Miss Emma Whiteley; reading, Master Earl Spaulding; reading, Miss Alice Sheehan; solo, Miss Whiteley; and last but not the least a sketch, "The Widow and the Boy," acted by Miss Eva Pickles and Master Raymond T. Wilde. This sketch proved very amusing, and the actors received much applause.

The various sales tables opened up for a steady stream of business immediately following the entertainment. The heads of the various tables were: Groceries, check room and curio shop, Henry Leavitt, chairman; William G. Parker, secretary, and James Allan, treasurer; fancy goods, tonics, toilet preparations and rubber, David Allan, chairman; Miss Mary Allan, secretary, and William Dooley, treasurer; handkerchiefs, mysteries and papers, Mrs. Walter H. McQuade, chairman; Miss Gladys McKee, secretary, and Miss Hazel Judkins, treasurer; music, Miss Esther Cathwood and Miss Edith Chadwick; committee on concerts, Miss Eva Pickles, Mrs. Thomas E. Wilde, Joseph Miller, Samuel J. Burt and Walter Ramsden; Ladies Aid department, Mrs. John T. Ullom, chairman, Mrs. William Kelley, secretary, Mrs. Samuel J. Burt, treasurer. The executive committee was made up of: Chairman, Rev. John T. Ullom; vice chairman, Robert Cathwood; secretary, E. Frank Keith, and treasurer, Thomas E. Wilde.

Tonight the entertainment will be given under the direction of Samuel J.

Burt, and the principal entertainers will be Miss Dorothy P. Hurd and John Moir.

JAW FRACTURED

GEORGE H. VINAL MET WITH SERIOUS ACCIDENT

The many friends of Mr. George H. Vinal, who met with a serious accident at North Chelmsford Monday, will be pleased to learn that he is doing well and resting comfortably.

Mr. Vinal is 70 years old and was employed as a carpenter by the North Chelmsford Supply company. Monday he was sawing a large piece of wood on a circular saw, when the block flew off the machine and struck the aged man on the jaw, which was fractured and several teeth were knocked out.

Dr. Varnoy was called and he removed the injured man to the General hospital. Mr. Vinal's home is in Peterboro, N. H., where he has a wife and three children. He has been working in North Chelmsford about a year, and lived with his brother in this city.

BORN IN LOWELL

VETERAN ACTOR DIED IN CHICAGO

John W. Blaisdell, a veteran actor and matinee favorite of a generation ago, died at his home in Chicago, Sunday. He retired from the stage ten years ago and since then had lived in Chicago. Death resulted from an illness following a paralytic stroke six months ago. Mr. Blaisdell was born in Lowell, Mass., and made his debut at the old Boston Museum when 17 years old. After making a place in support of the foremost actors of that day, he became leading man with the old Hootey theatre stock company in Chicago. He toured for many years with Maggie Mitchell in "Fanchon the Cricket," and also traveled with John Dillon.

THE FAIR TONIGHT

The Centralville Odd Fellows will open their fair tonight in the lodge building in Bridge street, occupying both the halls. There will be a good entertainment every night this week, and plenty of novelties on the tables, in the various booths, etc. The Rebekahs are taking hold with a will, and every effort is being put forth to make this fair the best in the history of the organization.

MEETING CALLED

OF HOUSE GIRLS AND MAIDS OF ST. MARGARET'S PARISH

Rev. Father Harkins would like to meet at the parochial residence in Stevens street all the house girls and maids of his parish on Thursday, February 9 at 2.45. The meeting will be but a short one but very important matters will be talked over.

FRANK KLAUS

KNOCKED OUT LEWIS IN SIXTH ROUND

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Frank Klaus of Pittsburgh knocked out Willie Lewis of New York in the sixth round of a 10-round bout at the Fairmount Athletic club last night.

In the first round the Pittsburgher sent Lewis to the mat for the count of nine. Only the bell saved Lewis in the fifth and in the sixth he went down twice from hard swings to the jaw. After rising the second time he dropped to the floor without being struck and was unable to rise. Klaus was the heavier.

THREE HOCKEY PLAYERS WHO ARE PUTTING UP BRILLIANT GAME

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—With the hockey season at its height now the experts are casting about seeking probable championship teams in the amateur and intercollegiate leagues. The struggle for the trophies in the two leagues is much closer than ever this year. In the amateur league, say the experts, the trophy lies between the Crescent and the New York Athletic club. In the intercollegiate league they think the fight will be between Harvard and Cornell. Just now the Crescents are on the top of the heap in the Amateur league, and undoubtedly will stay there until the next game with the Mercury Footers. A victory then for the New Yorks, provided the two teams win other games in the series, will result in a tie and a necessary play off for the trophy. A victory for the Crescents will clinch their claim to the title for 1911. More than the usual rivalry has been shown between the Crescents and the New Yorks this season. Each club has two legs on the trophy, and the championship team this year will obtain permanent possession of the cup. While the big league players are fighting it out a hard battle also is being waged among the collegians. So far Harvard and Cornell have shown best. Princeton, last year's champions, apparently are out of the race by reason of the victories of Cornell and Dartmouth. Columbia and Cornell have put Yale on the toboggan. Cornell is playing fast, aggressive hockey. So is Harvard. And, then Columbia still is to be reckoned with. Liffiton, center, and Britton, cover point of the Crescents are playing the greatest game of their careers. Cleggghorn, the brilliant young player of the Hockey club of New York, is also putting up a grand game.

"RUSSIAN LION"

DEFEATED DR. ROLLER IN STRAIGHT FALLS

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 8.—George Hackenschmidt, the Russian wrestler, defeated Dr. Roller of Seattle in two straight falls before a big crowd at the Riverdale rink last night. The first fall was secured in one hour and 18 minutes, and the second in 13 minutes 5 seconds.

MCLEAN WON

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Robert McLean again led in the skating races for the western indoor championships last night, winning the half mile and the two mile titles. Norman Lowenk, in the backward high jump event, made a leap of 2 feet, 5 1/4 inches better than the previous mark.

STRICT RULES

TO GOVERN ATHLETICS AT U. OF P.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8.—Graduates of other colleges whether or not they ever participated in college athletics will not be permitted to represent the University of Pennsylvania in football, baseball, rowing or track athletics if a recommendation endorsed by the board of directors of the Athletics association yesterday is enforced.

This is regarded at the university as a preliminary step toward limiting the membership on university teams to undergraduates in the college department.

Minor sports will not be affected. Field Coach Andrew Smith was re-elected coach of the football team. The new schedule is in the hands of the faculty committee for approval.

THE FIREMEN SMOKE

The members of the Pawtucketville engine company were the recipients this week of a box of 7-20-4 cigars which was presented by Mr. Harold Varnum, of Varnum avenue, in appreciation of the prompt and efficient service rendered by the company at the recent fire in his building on Varnum avenue.

BOXING GOSSIP

This week the eyes of the boxing world will be focused on Phila. Jack O'Brien and the society man, Tony Biddle, are much in the limelight. One of the biggest events in the history of pugilism in the Quaker City will be served up for the members of the American Athletic Club. Nothing of such magnitude has ever before been exploited there. O'Brien has surpassed all other promoters by what he has done in a matchmaking way.

After arranging a card that was regarded as perfection from a magnetic point of view, O'Brien's little men was

TWO OF WORLD'S GREATEST DISTANCE RUNNERS TO MEET

HOLMER—LJUNGSTROM
PHOTOGRAPHS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Hans Holmer and Gustave Ljungstrom are now hard at work preparing for their 20-mile race to be held here Washington's birthday. As the two men are the greatest professional distance runners in the world today a new record for the distance is looked forward to.

Holmer recently won the famous Edinburgh race in Scotland from a field of the greatest runners on the other side of the big pond. Since his return he has kept himself in condition by taking a short spin daily. Ljungstrom says he will surely show his heels to Holmer in the coming race and is now running favorite.

to New England being the 15 round bout at Manchester between Tommy Sullivan of Lawrence and Bill McKinnon of Boston for the middleweight championship of New England. McKinnon claims the title at present by reason of a victory over Frank Mantell in Manchester last Labor Day.

These sterling middleweights are both trained to the minute and eager to settle the question of superiority that exists. Sullivan has trained in Lawrence, while McKinnon has devoted all his time to preparing with Young Donohue at a gymnasium in the Hub. Donohue is one of the best sparring partners in the country and just the sort of a boxer to develop speed in a strong rugged fellow like McKinnon. The latter seems to be absolutely tireless. He fought Terry Martin and Frank Mantell in Manchester last summer and demonstrated stamina of a rare kind. Doing something every minute he is one of the most interesting performers that ever appeared in the Granite state.

There is a bitter feeling in existence over the claim that McKinnon has put forward. Sullivan contends that the title belongs to him and that Mantell and McKinnon never had the least right to fight for the honor. Sullivan insists that McKinnon is a pretender and he will prove to the satisfaction of every one next Wednesday night at the Queen City A. C.

The preliminary bill in itself is a strong attraction. Johnny Gallant of Boston will meet Kid O'Brien of Lawrence. O'Brien has been the only boxer who has been able to hold the hard-hitting Frenchman even during his career. O'Brien declares that he will defeat him in the coming battle.

Jerry Meskill, the boy with the punch who put the lively Johnny Carroll to the floor, meets Young Tommy Murphy of Lawrence, another boxer who has a punch.

These three bouts are the best ever offered in the Queen City, and when this is said one of the broadest statements ever made can be confirmed by the followers of the game in Manchester.

From every point the fans will flock to Manchester next Wednesday night. Some will go there in special trains while others will visit the town in autos and other vehicles. It will be even a bigger night than was that on which the Thomas-Sullivan match was decided.

In Boston Matty Baldwin of Charlestown and Pal Moore of Philadelphia will entertain the fans. Baldwin has recovered from his recent trouble and is certain that he will outscore the Quaker City boxer. He is sedulously training at Highland Lake, Mass. for the battle, while Moore is under the charge of Jimmy DeForest at Allenhurst, N. J.

A few weeks ago this team met in Boston and Moore walked out of the ring with the verdict after a hot battle. Baldwin injured his hands on that occasion. He has cared for them since and claims that they are as good as ever now.

Packey McFarland and Bert Keyes will mix it up in Pittsburgh Monday night. Packey and Keyes fought in Boston at one of the early meetings at the Armory A. A. Packey drew down something like $1750 for his portion, while Keyes got $750 for taking a beating that he never will forget. Keyes has not improved any in the interim, while McFarland has advanced with each succeeding contest, so there is little chance of Keyes springing a surprise on the pugilistic community.

Joe Thomas, who made such a sensational battle with Tommy Sullivan in Manchester a few weeks ago, will meet Frank Mantell, the boy who made things interesting for Bill McKinnon last summer. They clash at the Augusta A. C. in Augusta, Me. and Nancy Hanks, the promoter, is advertising the match as the biggest event ever offered in Maine.

Young Donohue, one of the most skillful glove welders in the business, is matched to entertain Kid Burns in Albany Wednesday night. Donohue is again in good shape and he ought to emerge from the battle an easy winner.

Willie Beecher and Charlie Griffin are matched to spar in Brooklyn Tuesday night. Both have joined the "new" class and will just about maul their way through the ten rounds.

Jim Moriarty of this city is matched to meet Frank Perron in Fall River. Moriarty is a good boy, but he has been badly handled. It is doubtful if they will draw much of a house. In Fall River as Moriarty has been a constant loser. His last defeat at the hands of the unknown Harry Powers ends his career as a fighter of class.

Human Hands and Fingers of Steel Fashion Goodyear Welt Shoes

They are fashioned for men, women and children, over perfect lasts in the same manner that the old-time shoemaker fashioned them—but more perfectly—more accurately—more economically.

Sixty marvelous machines comprise the Goodyear Welt system of shoemaking. Each machine is guided by the trained mind of a trained man. Each movement duplicates the motion of the old-time shoemaker—but more certainly—more rigidly.

The celebrated old-time shoemaker was an artist. It takes sixty machines to do what he did—but the result is more artistic.

Each shoe passes through the hands of one hundred and six operators before it is packed in a box and ready to wear—and each shoe is a high grade, hand-made shoe—made by human fingers and fingers of steel.

GOODYEAR WELT

Learn how this name becomes the shoe buyer's guide. How this method becomes your guarantee of real leather.

Five hundred stitches a minute are inserted by Goodyear welt machines. This very swiftness is your safeguard, for cheap leather or inferior leather cannot withstand this rapid, close stitching. The flying needle, lock-stitching with strong thread, betrays even the slightest flaw. Hence Goodyear Welt is your surety of flawless leather, of durable shoes.

Decide right now your next shoes will be Goodyear Welts. But before you buy them get our free printed list of the 500 different Goodyear Welts made by the leading shoe manufacturers. Seek out the retailer in your town who sells the particular Goodyear Welt you want.

To Spend $100,000,000 in New England in Next Five Years

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—Ringing with the proposed reciprocity agreement with Canada, a message from President William Howard Taft was read over the long distance telephone by his secretary, Charles D. Norton, to the members of the Massachusetts real estate exchange, assembled for their annual banquet at the Hotel Somerset in this city last night.

Interesting addresses were delivered by four New England governors—Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts, Arthur J. Pothier of Rhode Island, Robert P. Bass of New Hampshire, and John A. Mead of Vermont—on "Reciprocity with Canada," and "The Welfare of New England."

The message from the president, which was received with much applause, was as follows:

"I regret that I cannot be present at your dinner and meet the New England governors. I note that the subject for discussion is New England welfare. I believe that the welfare of New England is the same as the welfare of the nation and that both require the approval of Canadian reciprocity. Best wishes for the success of your banquet."

The establishment of better and larger trade relations with Canada will result in New England taking on added power and prestige, in the opinion of Governor Foss. "The coming of reciprocity," declared Governor Foss, "will bring vastly increased prosperity to all New England and the whole country."

"We shall have reciprocity. We may not get it this winter, but it is coming. The people are demanding it. We must have to reconstruct the United States senate to get it; but the people are already at work on that job and with the direct election of senators by the people, the people at last will get their will carried into effect."

Declaring that Boston is not only the political capital of Massachusetts, but the natural metropolis of all New England, Governor Foss advocated that all the New England states work together to develop a greater New England and thereby give to New England as a unit, a commerce greater than it has ever had. He proposed the revision of the now discordant state transportation laws and the development of railroads, industries and ocean commerce.

In the opinion of Governor Pothier of Rhode Island, reciprocity with Canada and inland waterways are the most important problems now confronting New England. "I am personally in favor of reciprocity," declared Governor Pothier. He called attention to the fact that Rhode Island was the first New England state to become interested in inland waterways and that already $1,500,000 has been appropriated to better Providence harbor. "When this work has been completed," said Governor Pothier, "Providence will have one of the best harbors along the New England coast."

Gov. John A. Mead of Vermont declared himself in favor of trade with Canada, but stated that in his opinion careful consideration should be given to the agricultural provisions of the agreement. "Don't bear down too hard on the farmers," said Governor Mead.

The co-operation of New England in meeting the common demands and the conservation of natural resources were subjects discussed by Governor Bass of New Hampshire. He declared that as New Hampshire is rather small, its executives have already decided that it is necessary to cultivate its natural resources, such as forests and waterfalls. Governor Bass stated that within a few years he hopes that new forests will be in the course of cultivation and that large reservoirs will be under construction at the heads of all the principal streams, which will eventually supply power to various parts of New England.

George B. Chandler of the Connecticut general assembly represented Connecticut in the unavoidable absence of Gov. Simon E. Baldwin.

President John Martin of the club stated that the officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad yesterday informed him that within the next five years they will spend in New England alone not less than $100,000,000. He said that the officials stated that they realized that the industrial and commercial progress of New England warrants the expenditures.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 8.—Returns from one third of the city indicate that William C. Gill, mayor of Seattle, accused of misconduct in office, has been recalled, largely by the votes of the women newly enfranchised.

George W. Dilling, public welfare league candidate, is probably successful by 1000 votes.

CHILD'S HEAD SOLID MASS OF HUMOR

It Was Awful. Cried Continually. Had to Hold and Watch Him to Keep Him from Scratching. Suffering Was Dreadful.

Had not Used Half a Set of Cuticura Remedies Before Head Was Clear and Free from Eczema.

"I think the Cuticura Remedies are the best remedies for eczema I have ever heard of. My mother had a child who had a rash on its head when it was real young. Doctor called it baby rash. He gave us medicine, but it did no good. In a few days the head was a solid mass, a running sore. It was awful, the child cried continually. We had to hold him and watch him (to keep him) from scratching the sore. His suffering was dreadful. At last we got a dollar bottle of Cuticura Remedy, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and a bar of Cuticura Soap. We gave the Remedy as directed, washed the head with the Cuticura Soap, and applied the Cuticura Ointment. We had not used half before the child's head was clear and free from eczema, and it has never come back again. His head was healthy and he had a beautiful head of hair. I think the Cuticura Ointment is very good for the hair. It makes the hair grow and prevents falling hair." (Signed) Mrs. Francis Lund, Plain City, Utah, Sept. 19, 1910.

For more than a generation the Cuticura Remedies have afforded the speediest and most economical treatment for skin and scalp eruptions of young and old, that itch, burn, crust, scale, and destroy sleep. Sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., Boston, Mass., for free 32-page Cuticura Booklet, a guide to skin and hair health.

TWAIN'S PAPERS

WERE DISPOSED OF AT AUCTION YESTERDAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The sale of many of the manuscripts of the late Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), at a Fifth avenue auction yesterday did not include, as had been advertised, a short article he had written criticising Theodore Roosevelt. It had been included by mistake in the list to be sold and was withdrawn at the last moment by request of the estate, as was a signature he had written on congress. It was explained only that the estate desired to retain them. The 125-page autograph manuscript of "A Double-Edged Knife" (Dedicated Story) was sold to a dealer for $700. Twenty-eight pages from "Adams Diary" went for $130. The total realized was $2750.

The withdrawn article on Roosevelt refers to him as a "showy charlatan," and as perhaps "no impostor, of his creed had been adored since the Golden Calf."

MRS. BULL DEAD

WAS WIFE OF DR. WILLIAM T. BULL

NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 8.—Mrs. Marie Nevins Bull, wife of the late Dr. William T. Bull of New York, died at her home, "Dudley Place," here, last evening. Mrs. Bull, who had been ill since last Christmas day, might also be said to have died in her sleep, never awakening from the easy coma, into which she had passed earlier in the evening. Death was due to nervous exhaustion, according to Dr. Seth Debois, the physician in attendance.

Mrs. Bull was 44 years of age. Dr. Bull was her second husband, her first having been James G. Blaine, son of Garfield's secretary of state. At her bedside when death came was a son by each marriage, Jas. G. Blaine, 30, and William T. Bull. With the former, who is to finish his studies at Harvard college on Friday next, was Miss Marian Dow of Boston, his fiancée.

Dr. Bull died February 22, 1909.

RECIPROCITY

Is Strongly Opposed by Balfour

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Arthur J. Balfour has come out strongly in opposition to the Canadian-United States tariff reciprocity plan. Parliament will pay considerable attention to the proposed tariff agreement and may interfere in Canada to prevent its adoption. The British are opposed to any close relationship between Canada and the United States.

PLAYED WHIST

Party at St. Joseph's College Hall

The first of a series of three whist tournaments for the benefit of the orphans to be erected on the French American orphanage grounds, was given last evening at St. Joseph's college hall in Merrimack street.

The affair was conducted by two well known young men of Pawtucketville, Mr. Charles Chandonnet and Henri Simard, and the proceeds were quite large.

Mr. Chandonnet acted as director of the soiree, and the whist judges were: Misses Corinne Heroux, Anne Barry, Lucinda Carufel, Dr. Adelard Payette, and Mr. O. Desmarais. The following young women assisted in the organization of the three soirees and also made it their business to keep the scores:

Misses Corinne Heroux, Annand Berceron, Lucinda Carufel, Corinna Callender, Mathilde Jacques, Annand Roy, Elvira Verreille, Alice Bourgeois, Vitaline Belanger, Rose Helebert, Marie Louise Roux, Marie Richards, Angeline Matte, Anna Bourgeois, Marie Rose Racette, Alexandrine Racette, Albertine Lamare, Anna Perron, Alice Carufel, Anna Barry, Mathilde Blais, Bella Ronan, Corinne Ronan, Ida Marie, Georgeanne Champagne, Victoria Bourgeois.

There was an attractive program consisting of piano selections by Mr. Elvige Poirier; dances by Mr. Wilfrid Dumont, with Miss Henriette Jallbert at the piano, and an amusing saynete, "On demande un Acteur," by two clever youngsters, Albert Gosselin and Caliste Lemire. The same program will be repeated every night.

COOKING SCHOOL

FLEISCHMANN YEAST CO. TO GIVE FREE LESSONS

Commencing Feb. 13th and continuing daily, Sundays excepted, to the 21st, inclusive, the Fleischmann Yeast Co. will give free lessons in cooking to the ladies of this city. The lessons will be given in spacious Kilson hall of the Young Women's Christian association building in John street, and will open promptly at 2.30 o'clock each day. It is the company's wish that all be seated at this time, so that interruptions will be avoided. Mrs. Jennings, a domestic science teacher, will conduct the course.

Mrs. Peacock is a plain and interesting talker and puts much individuality into her work. She gives to her audience many little helpful hints and suggestions that simplify ordinary bread making to a great extent. Many housekeepers look upon their baking days with no great pleasure, but after attending these lectures and noting the little pointers given out during the afternoon one can go home and feel that it has been time well spent.

You are taken through the entire process, from the mixing, moulding, and baking. Much importance is attached to the last step and valuable instruction is given on this point.

Lessons are not only given on bread and rolls, but cakes and other delicacies, and you are allowed to sample everything baked.

Mrs. Peacock is delightfully informal, and handles her subjects with a dexterity which is only acquired from experience.

Any lady who does her own baking and needs any points or helps can call upon Mrs. Peacock any morning or afternoon at the demonstrating room, and she will arrange to give her a private lesson.

Ladies wishing their servants to have the benefit of these lessons can also arrange with her for a lesson.

Take advantage of this exceptional opportunity, for it may not be yours again and you are cordially invited. The latest Fleischmann cook book—an interesting and instructive pamphlet, containing all recipes used by Mrs. Peacock, will be given to those attending the lectures.

CITY COUNCIL

Declares Office of City Treasurer Vacant

TAUNTON, Feb. 8.—Upholding the action yesterday of Mayor William S. Woods in requesting the resignation of City Treasurer Edward H. Temple in the books of whose department it is alleged a discrepancy of about $5500 was found, the city council last night adopted without a dissenting voice an order declaring vacant the office of city treasurer and collector of taxes and "resigning for cause" Mr. Temple.

The council also set February 11 as the date for the election of a permanent successor to former Treasurer Temple, whose place is being filled temporarily by City Auditor Arthur R. Leonard. Mr. Temple yesterday answered Mayor Woods' letter requesting his immediate resignation with a statement saying he did not intend to resign.

At last night's session of the city council, James T. Swan, the Boston accountant who conducted the special audit of the books of the city treasurer's and tax collector's office for the past two years, reported in detail on his examination. His figures indicated that his accounts for 1902 showed that $3004 for which receipts had been issued was not credited on the cash book and that in 1900 the apparent discrepancy was $2100.25.

BISHOP ALLEN

SUGGESTS GREAT PROGRAM FOR ANNIVERSARY OF MOBILE

A Mobile, Ala., exchange has the following:
An adjourned meeting of the Catholic laymen of this city was held last night in McGill Institute to hear the report of the arrangements committee on the program outlined for the celebration of the founding of Mobile on Sunday, February 25, and Monday, February 27, as suggested by Right Rev. E. P. Allen, bishop of the diocese. The principal feature of the religious celebration will be the presence in the city, as a participant in services in the Cathedral of Cardinal James Gibbons, the highest Catholic authority in the United States. Accompanying the cardinal will be a large number of the leading prelates and doctors of the church, including Archbishop Blenk of New Orleans and Coadjutor Bishop Shaw of the San Antonio diocese, who is coming home to his native city for the celebration.

The original suggestions of Bishop Allen will be followed out, including pontifical mass in the Cathedral, at which the cardinal and prelates will assist, on Sunday, and mass of requiem for all citizens of Mobile who have died since the city was founded, on Monday.

The laymen have added a street parade at 3.30 Sunday afternoon, in which all the Catholic societies of the city, all the boys of the parochial schools, and the students of Spring Hill College will participate. It is expected that this parade will be a striking feature of the celebration.

From 7 to 8 o'clock Sunday night a reception will be held by Cardinal Gibbons at the bishop's residence on Government street. On Monday the visiting bishops and prelates will be lodged at the hotel by the laymen.

Mr. E. G. Drepper presided at the meeting last night, with Mr. R. H. Ching as secretary. The committee reports showed that considerable work had been done since the initial meeting last Sunday night and that few minor parts of the celebration are yet to be attended to.

Owing to the limited seating capacity of the Cathedral, compared with the number of persons desiring to attend the principal service on Sunday, admission will be by ticket and the tickets and invitations have been placed in the hands of Bishop parades at 3.30 Sunday afternoon, in Allen for apportionment.

THE FLEISCHMANN COOKING SCHOOLS

Everybody knows Fleischmann's Yeast, but most people associate the word "Yeast" with bread-making only. Do you realize that a dozen or more articles made and baked daily in American homes can be made quickly, easily and better with Fleischmann's Yeast than with any other leaven?

The Fleischmann Company has established The Fleischmann Cooking Schools to instruct the housewives of America in the use of Fleischmann's Yeast in various kinds of baking and cooking. These schools are conducted by trained Domestic Science Teachers, who give lessons, by actual cooking and baking, in the presence of their classes, in our travelling kitchens.

Mrs. Peacock, Domestic Science Teacher, and one of our instructors, will conduct a Cooking School at

MILITARISM GOES MARCHING ON

Every nation must now have its squadron of airships and a detachment of airship destroyers. Every machine for the destruction of human life must be offset by another that will destroy it. Thus in the face of the various movements for universal peace, new engines of war are being invented and made part of the armament of warlike nations. In addition to this each nation is adding to its army and navy as a means of compelling peace, and so militarism goes marching on.

HELPING THE CHARTER MOVEMENT

Refusal of either branch of the city council to enter a joint convention for the choice of officers elected by such a convention will be one of the strongest arguments in favor of a charter that will provide for a single chamber and abolish all party designations. The people are tired of these deadlocks which block the prompt and honest transaction of the city's business. The political contention by which the city's interests suffer either in the delay of business or the selection of incompetent officials will convince the people more firmly than ever that it is high time to dispense with the whole mischievous system and adopt a charter that will guarantee the transaction of the city's business in an open, direct and up-to-date manner.

WHERE INDIFFERENCE IS FATAL

Can it be possible that we nurture in our midst an antidote to our future growth? It would really seem so if we are to judge from the apparent indifference shown in some quarters to the proposed location of the Boston and Maine repair shop in this city or vicinity.

The company has been prospecting in this vicinity, and so far as we are aware has not yet settled upon any location. Nevertheless, the business men of Lowell have not united to make a definite proposition to the company in the matter of a site. The company wants about 800 acres of suitable land near its tracks with plenty of room for spur tracks. The shop, it is believed, will employ about 10,000 hands. Such an establishment is worth fighting for. It would be worth a great deal to this city, but unless some prompt and definite action be taken the opportunity will be lost.

There are many business men in Lowell willing to do all in their power to secure this establishment for Lowell, but unfortunately there are others who show supreme indifference. It would seem that some concerns do not want the repair shop. That is why we ask whether we are handicapped by any internal agency that operates against our future growth. If we are it is time the fact should be known.

We recently lost a big spinning mill because some of these agencies refused to move a hand to offer any inducement or even reasonable courtesy to the company in its efforts to find the necessary accommodations to start business. It is now doing a successful business in Lawrence, and we have to blame only ourselves for a lack of public spirit and for selfish indifference to the industrial progress of our city. There is plenty of room for new industries and future growth, so that no industry already doing business here need be afraid of suffering loss or injury by the coming of other industries.

The board of trade should push this matter to the limit in order not to allow the opportunity of locating here an industry that would be a strong factor in our future growth to be lost after resting for a time within our grasp. This is a case where indifference is fatal.

LOCATING THE PANAMA EXPOSITION

One of the principal arguments advanced in favor of holding the Panama exposition in San Francisco is, that the attraction of so many people to the Golden Gate would turn the stream of tourist travel westward instead of eastward. It is claimed that the $200,000,000 annually spent by Americans in European travel would be diverted to a great extent to the west if the people were only educated to the sublime beauties of the western country, if they only saw the "Garden of the Gods" in Colorado; if they visited the Yosemite valley with all its inspirations; if they gazed upon the Grand Canyon, a crevasse a mile wide with features grand enough to stir the admiration of the most sedate. Then the westerners remind us also of the splendor of the Columbia river, the Yellowstone park in its indescribable grandeur, the Great Salt Lake, the majestic peaks of the Sierras, the extinct volcanoes, the geysers and the oil wells—the whole forming a variety of scenic grandeur unrivalled perhaps in any other part of the globe.

All this is doubtless true, and it is also true that many of the Americans who rush to see the ancient places of Europe have not seen half the beauties of their own country. It is equally true that many of them go into ecstasy over European scenery that is far surpassed in thousands of places in their own country but places which they unfortunately have never seen. It would indeed save these tourists a good deal of embarrassment if before going abroad they would survey the chief beauties of their own country. How stupid the American tourist in Europe must feel who when asked if he has visited the Yellowstone park or other places equally celebrated, he must reply in the negative!

The arguments in favor of the new San Francisco, risen phoenix like from the destruction of the old, are not without merit, but there is another side to the question and New Orleans presents strong arguments favoring that location, to wit, the opening up of trade with the southern republics, the utilization of the canal and the extension of our commerce southward, all of which is quite important. The interests of the country and not those of either city should decide as the government will probably have to foot the bills for the fair no matter where it be held.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

At the annual meeting of the American Historical Association at Indianapolis, Prof. William Macdonald of the Department of History of Brown University was elected a member of the committee on the Justin Winsor prize, awarded every two years for the best piece of original work in American history. Prof. Macdonald has contributed a number of articles for the new edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica. The most important being an article on George Washington. His article on "The Interest of the Public in the College Curriculum" was published in the January issue of the Educational Review.

On for a three years' hunt in tropical Africa, India, and the Malay Archipelago, Paul J. Rainey, whose last big hunt was in the Arctic regions with Harry Whitney, has sailed from New York on the steamship Mauretania. Dr. M. E. Johnston, a naturalist, sailed with him and the two will report on their trip to the Zoological Society and the Smithsonian Institution at Washington. They not only will kill game and capture some alive, but will try to roll off 100,000 feet of moving picture films showing the animals in their native haunts. They will start their African hunt at Mombasa and cover the much of the ground made familiar by the trip of Theodore Roosevelt.

St. Louis has a prosperous ethical society, which has invited Perival Chubb of New York, associate of Felix Adler, to become its leader in place of the late Walter L. Sheldon. Mr. Chubb is to remove to St. Louis, where the society of which he is to assume charge has planned to erect a new building to have an auditorium capacity of 700 persons and to cost $100,000.

OWES HER HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house."

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her."

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."

Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 3.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases.

partment, Dean Hulbert of the English department, W. H. Schofield, head of the English department, C. L. Bouton of the mathematics department, A. O. Norton of the department of education, E. Emerson of the history department, Dean Hulbert of the English department, W. Z. Ripley of the department of economics, R. E. Dixon of the division of anthropology, R. E. Marston of the history department, and C. R. Sanger of the chemistry department. The first eight of the men named are on leave of absence for the entire academic year. Professors Emerson, Wendell, Ripley, Dixon and Merriman have been given leave of absence only for the second half. Professor Merriman has been forced to give up his work for the next six months owing to the continued ill health of Mrs. Merriman. Together they will spend several months in Spain, in the hope that the climate and rest will help restore Mrs. Merriman. Last year Professor Merriman was forced to give up his work for a similar reason, but the winter spent in the Carolinas seemed to have permanent effect on Mrs. Merriman's health. Professor Sanger was originally given leave of absence only for the first half-year, but ill health has compelled him to continue away from the university for another term.

THE OPERA HOUSE

Preparation for the opening performance of the stock company at the Opera House, which is to make its initial appearance here next Saturday afternoon and evening in "The Charity Ball," a play by David Belasco and H. C. DeMille, is going on apace and what promises to be one of the most complete productions ever given here by a stock company is being made ready. The Charity Ball is a play that affords ample opportunity for handsome stage settings, which opportunity is being taken advantage of by the management, and several new and elaborate scenes are being constructed for this play. The play also has many important parts, some that are well calculated to test the ability of the players, and it is in a play of this kind that the management has elected to present its company for the approval of local theatregoers. "The Charity Ball" will be presented Saturday and throughout the following week, both afternoon and evening. That there is considerable interest being manifested in the appearance of the company is evidenced by the call for tickets and the fact that several theatre parties are being made up for various nights of the week. A change of play will be made each week and it is the purpose of the management to present here for the first time at popular prices many of the recent New York successes. Prices for the matinees are 10, 20 and 30 cents, and evenings, 10, 20, 30 and 50 cents. Seats for Saturday, as well as for all performances next week, are now on sale at the box office.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Lovers of comedy drama should not fail to see Donald Meek as "Tom Brown," in "Brown of Harvard," which is playing at this popular little playhouse this week.

Exalted critics have found in Donald Meek a combination of the virtues of Emmet and Boucicault. Certainly no young comedian ever before the American public combines so many qualities as this handsome young fellow, who has acted his way into the hearts of millions of people. He has Emmet's grace and winning personality and dramatic sensibility, and power of Boucicault. To the well suited play Mr. Meek brings all the charms of his delightful personality, the grace and picturesque figure nature fitted him with, a keen sense of the true "Scottish wit" and humor, a touch for comedy light as an exquisite in its fineness, a voice deliciously sweet and in perfect attune with the gentle pathos and rippling fun of the ballad he sings.

"When Love Is Young."

Altogether, "Brown of Harvard" offers a very agreeable entertainment, without much food for thought, a full life to keep the interest of its audiences. In spite of the conventionality of the plot, there are moments when it thrills, and there is no lack of sympathy in the most stilted of the lines.

The supporting company is of acknowledged worth in every particular, and includes such well known players as Severin, DeGeyn, James Davett, Harry Taylor, Dan McCabe, Charles Cramble, J. W. Laffay, Martin Miskell, Robert Hastings, Inez Buck, Grace

Franklyn Lynch, Ada Allen, Anna Wilbur, Doris Dutton, W. H. Thompson and J. Keller.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The Ten Louisiana Blossoms are pleasing in their big singing and dancing novelty at this popular theatre. They are a mixed organization and prove themselves lively entertainers in plantation melodies and among them some of the old favorite tunes. They wind up with a snappy dancing finish. Denoyer and Dannie will surely amuse you in their laughing absurdity, "Clatter Chats." The Harpers are clever acrobats and perform some difficult feats of strength. Tonight is amateur night and a large number will hold forth.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Miss Mildred Jewel is truly "the woman who mystifies." She is setting audiences at the Merrimack Square theatre this week all agog with her all most supernatural ability to foresee the future, delve into the past, and solve all sorts of knotty problems put to her by members of the audience. Besides all this, she does some manifestation work which ordinarily can be seen only with the most famous trance mediums.

On Thursday night at 10 o'clock all men will be excluded from the theatre, and Miss Jewel will devote herself to answering the personal questions of the women guests of the performance. On Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock she will answer the questions of the lovers.

The other acts on the bill are unusually good also. The Rockless Rock-laws are an unusual team of cyclists and roller skaters, who do some amazingly daring stunts. Frenchill and Lewis are capable operatic singers with a varied repertoire, and Charles the factor, depicts a European musical novelty. Frederick Meek is the soloist.

The moving pictures are all new and of the best.

Took Action on Minor Licenses

At the regular meeting of the board of police, held last night, these minor licenses were acted upon: Granted—hawker and peddler, to sell shirt waist belt and silver polish, Mrs. P. J. Thomas; Albert rovencher, 61 Arch street; express, Dominique Guellette, 11 Ford street; Jean T. Poirier, 15 Chever street; Amos R. Bliss, 148 Meady street. Licenses cancelled—Express, Edward Lacerte, 33 Hanover street, two licenses. Sixth class, as druggist, James J. Brown, registered manager of estate of James O'Brien, 391 Broadway.

In executive session the board voted to revoke the special police warrant of Alfred Rose, and John F. McNally was appointed a supernumerary officer.

TRAFFIC RULES

Hearing at Board of Trade Last Evening

The hearing on the new traffic regulations before the committee on municipal affairs of the board of trade drew a small gathering last evening. Henry A. Smith presided and the other members of the committee are Rev. Allan C. Ferrin, Edmund T. Simpson, Paul R. Wesson and Irving D. Kimball.

The committee voted to bring to the city council's attention numerous recommendations with the object of relieving congestion in centrally located streets, and particularly in the event of fire.

Perhaps the most important recommendation provides that a time limit of 20 minutes shall be set on automobiles in Merrimack street from the Concord river to Kirk street; in Central street, between Merrimack and Warren streets, in Prescott street and in Middle street. In the latter street, permission is granted to business tenants to keep vehicles standing longer than the 20 minute time limit.

slight blaze in the kitchen of a tenement in a house at the corner of Central and Charles streets. The fire started in a bundle of clothes which had been placed too near the stove. The flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

An overheated boiler in the house belonging to Mr. George F. Lynch in Andover street, Tewksbury, caused the occupants of the house to become scared and word was sent to the central fire station. Chief Hosmer sent the chemical to the house and the fire was extinguished before any damage was done.

Fred C. Church carried the insurance on the furniture.

MOORE REFUSED
WOULD NOT GO ON WITH ALGER

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Pat Moore of Philadelphia claimed his opponent at the Armory Athletic association, Geo. Alger of Cambridge, was over weight last night and refused to go on with the bout. Kid Scania of Spokane, who arrived from the Pacific coast during the day, was substituted for Moore and put up a game fight, but lost the decision in 12 rounds to Alger.

Young McGovern of Woburn in an eight round bout with Jack Leonard of Philadelphia had his jaw broken by a left hand hook in the first round of the fight. He was floored but kept gamely on and although sent to the mat twice afterward, clearly earned the draw.

J. Coate of Greenfield defeated Young Kenney of Woburn in six rounds and Joe White of South Boston won from Johnnie Gallant of Chelsea, both in six rounds.

BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Annual Ball of the Lowell Aerie, Order of Eagles

The biggest success on record, was the verdict of the tired but happy dancers as they departed from Associate hall, in the wee sma' hours of the morning after enjoying the pleasures of the annual ball of Lowell Aerie, No. 233, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

For some time past the committee in charge of the annual affair had promised an event that would eclipse in brilliancy all of its predecessors and the committee certainly made good its promise, for Associate hall never looked more attractive and it is doubtful if a more enjoyable party of its great size was ever carried out in a local assembly hall.

Decorators Young and Florist McMahon combined their most artistic efforts in the matter of decorations and the effects produced were a delight to the eye. The hall was set with a profusion of spruce and cedar trees and clusters of colored incandescent lights dotted the background of green in a most happy blending of color. The front of the stage was draped in pink, and bunting and greenery intermingled in a pleasant manner. A large lilted arch, which topped the top of the stage and was entwined with greenery and large bunches of white chrysanthemums, while the gallery front was hidden from view with white bunting, caught up at short intervals with small clusters of greenery and flowers. From the centre chandelier was suspended a large electrical eagle and surrounding it was a large cluster of flowers and evergreen. The walls and windows were prettily set with bunting of the prevailing color and long streamers were hung from the side and caught up in the centre chandelier, making the whole effect, with the hundreds of incandescent aglow, one of great brilliancy.

As early as 7 o'clock the guests began to arrive and at 8 o'clock when the concert began, standing room in the balcony was at a premium. The Eagles' orchestra, 12 pieces, John J. Hanlon, leader, opened the evening's festivities with a pleasing concert program as follows: Selection by orchestra, "Stubbish Cinderella," solo, selected, Master Edward Conley; solo, selected, Mr. William B. Ready; solo, selected, Miss Frances Tighe; whistling solo, Mr. Joseph Murray; solo,

The grand march, which was started soon after 9 o'clock, was one of the features of the evening. The line was headed by Floor Marshal Garrett G. Royal and Miss Laura Hanley. Miss Hanley was most becomingly attired in blue silk with lace trimmings and she carried a bouquet of roses. Assistant Floor Marshal Roger J. Lang and Miss Mary Danahy followed and Miss Danahy was charmingly gowned in a dress of white with lace trimmings and she also carried a bouquet. General Manager John H. Farrell and Mrs. Joseph Farrell came next and Mayor John J. Meehan and Miss Nellie V. Little followed. Others included in the march were Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. James W. ### DEATHS

REDDIN—The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Reddin will be deeply pained to learn of the death of their daughter, Miss Nani Frances Reddin which occurred this morning at the home of her parents, 19 South Whipple street. The deceased was 24 years of age and a most beautiful character, being well beloved by all who enjoyed her acquaintance. She was a popular member of the Children of Mary Sodality of the Sacred Heart church. Besides her parents she leaves one brother, John J. Reddin of Nashua and one sister, Miss Catherine C. Reddin. Funeral notice later.

BENNETT—Miss Mary E. Bennett, aged 72 years, 5 months and 20 days, died yesterday at her home in Tyngsboro. She is survived by four nieces, Helen M. and Belle Perham and Marion Bennett of Tyngsboro and Mary V. Perham of Torrington, Conn. and two nephews, Joseph Bennett of California and George B. Perham of Texas.

WELLES—Mrs. Jennie S. Welles, wife of Rev. T. Clifton Welles, died at her home, "The Manger," Edgington, Pa., Feb. 1. She is survived by her husband, who was for several years pastor of the Highland Congregational church in this city, and also two daughters, Miss Grace S. Welles, teacher in Miss Porter's boarding school in Farmington, Conn., and Marie W., wife of Rev. Franklin H. Clapp, Manistee, Mich. Burial was at Wethersfield, Conn., Feb. 14.

ESSEX-MODEL

INCUBATORS OF QUALITY

One way to make money from poultry is to GET THE BEST EQUIPMENT YOU CAN AFFORD. One way to lose money is to get the cheapest you can buy. Knowing this, we determine to keep our Incubators and Brooders at the very front—to make them the BEST in the world, and then sell them as low as possible. If you

GET THE ESSEX-MODEL

you get the Incubator of Quality. It is used by large, successful Poultry farms, Duck Growers and Experiment Stations. It hatches alike in the hands of Women, Beginners, Experts and Farmers. IT HATCHES THE LARGEST AND STRONGEST CHICKS, AND MORE OF THEM.

The reason the Essex-Model Incubators are the best and most reliable hatchers is because they are built upon the most scientific principle of heating and ventilating and are perfect in construction. They are the most simple to operate. Fewer chicks die in the shell than in any other incubator. If you would like to know why chicks die in the shell in most incubators and why they do not die in the Essex-Model, write for our Free Catalogue. Our principle of heating is the secret and it is patented.

We make two leading lines of incubators. Our Standard Essex-Model—all Chestnut—the only hardwood incubator made; the highest grade incubator built anywhere by anybody. (Yet it is not the highest in price.)

We also build the most superior of low priced machines. It is of Enamelled Rolled Steel with Chestnut Front.

Both these machines are worth more, but COST LESS; and they hold more eggs for the money than any other in their class.

CONGREGATIONAL CLUB

Against the Repeal of the Bar and Bottle Bill

The speaker of the evening at the regular meeting of the Lowell Congregational club held in the First church last night was Mr. Kiyo S. Inui, of Kobe, Japan. He spoke on the relations existing between Japan and the United States.

Supper was served by the ladies of the church and after the menu had been discussed, the president, Louis A. Olney, called to order. Rev. E. G. Allen reported for the Home Work committee. Harold A. Varnum reported for the membership committee, and three applicants were admitted to membership.

A resolution moved by Rev. A. C. Ferrin, putting the club on record as approving the bar and bottle bill, and protesting against the proposed repeal of the law, was adopted. The secretary was instructed to communicate this expression to one or more of the legislators.

The man from Kobe, Japan, proved a very interesting speaker, and his talk was interspersed with flashes of humor that were decidedly refreshing. He laughs at the American fear that Japan will seize the Philippines. He said his country could not afford to do it because it would add another burden. We know it. My friends, you can't marry the Philippines to Japan, unless you will insure us some alimony in case of a divorce.

A man in Washington says, "We must have an army of 450,000 men, in order that we may protect our shores successfully." I wonder if that man ever read the history of the American revolution! There is no group of two or three nations that could defeat the United States on her own shores, in a hundred years.

A large navy is not a guarantee of peace in the long run. The best guarantee is love of justice.

In four or five years there will be a big wedding of the Atlantic and the Pacific. We are coming closer together. We are co-operating. The war scare comes annually, a few weeks before the naval appropriation bill comes up, but within a few years there will be an obligatory arbitration treaty. Your own president is going to be responsible for such a treaty, and all civilized nations will follow in your footsteps. Swords will be beaten into plowshares, and spears will be turned into pruning hooks. We have had peace because we were afraid of each other. Now we are beginning to have peace because we understand each other. We are beginning to be united together, instead of frozen together. We are, after all, one in object, one in spirit, one in God. "The choir of the First church sang selections during the evening."

DOUBLE HEADER

Was Played in Catholic League

The C. M. A. C. and K. of C. played a double header on the alleys last night and the former team came out victorious in both contests. In the first game the C. M. A. C. lost the first and second strings but made a glorious finish by winning the third by 14 pins. In the second game the C. M. A. C. topped off two of the three strings. The feature of the games was the rolling of Gendron of the winning team was cracked out a triple of 216 in the first game and 203 in the second. Conn of the Knights of Columbus rolled in the second game and was the top notcher with a single of 119 and a triple of 320.

In the Lamson C. S. S. League the Conveyers won all three points from the Perfectionists. Stewart of the winning team was high man.

Wanameth and Excelsior lodges of the Manchester Unity League met on the alleys, but there was nothing to finish. Wanameth lodge from start to finish.

Two games were played in the Manufacturers' league. In the contest between the Boot and Lawrence teams the former won two points and also took the total by 12 pins. Ellisbury of the losing team and Leiper of the winning quarter were the only two men to knock the pins for a total of more than 300.

The Bigelow five had things practically their own way until the third string when their opponents, the Lowell Machine Shop team, turned the tables and won the last string by a small margin. The scores:

GOULD WEDDING

The Guests Jumped on Backs of Pews

They Crowded Into Wrong Seats, and Marriage Was Delayed—The Bride Wore a Diamond Chain of 200 Stones, Jewels of the Beresford Family

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Miss Helen Gould, second daughter of Geo. Gould, was married to Baron Decies, lieutenant colonel of the 7th English hussars, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. Bartholomew's church, Madison avenue, near 44th street. The ceremony was witnessed by about 400, including many well-known theatrical folk and opera singers. Of the 400 within the church probably 200 were women, and of these fully 200 forgot the sacredness of the edifice and their good manners and stood not on the floor, but on the benches and in many instances even on the backs of pews.

The wedding of Miss Marjorie Gould and Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., a little more than a year ago was characterized by the good behavior of the persons in the church and the outrageous conduct of those in the streets. The wedding yesterday will be remembered principally for the good behavior—thanks to the police—of the street crowds and the bad conduct of guests at the ceremony.

The church doors were opened at 3 o'clock and soon thereafter prominent persons began to arrive. Among the first to get there was a detachment of the younger element of society. These young folks hung around the door fully 10 minutes and chatted with the ushers before going to their seats.

From that time on there was a crush.

Skirmish for Seats

Guests came faster than they could be shown to their pews. Instead of waiting until an usher with a list of new allotments could attend to them, many made their way up the aisles and took the most desirable seats vacant. The result was that scores got into pews where they did not belong and an equal number could not get where they did belong.

It was impossible to get intruders out of the pews they had seized and great confusion resulted. When an usher got the name of a guest he would have to go first to the pew in which that guest had been assigned and see if it was occupied. Generally it was. Then he would have to skirmish for a seat for the guest.

A fine musical program had been arranged, but the guests listened to the various numbers with indifference, or did not listen at all, until Riccardo Martin of the Metropolitan opera company began his first number. Then everybody decided that he or she must see Martin, who was concealed behind a screen of palms in the gallery. So everybody stood up. When it was first realized the tenor was not visible the crowd grew positively ill-natured.

The sexton had provided two doorkeepers to keep out all who did not have tickets of admittance, but soon it was necessary to get two policemen to enforce the card rule. It was estimated that fully 300 who had no cards tried to get into the church.

After a while the guests got tired of trying to see Riccardo Martin when he sang and became interested in the

BLOOD STANDS STILL

It is useless to try to cure piles by operating or use of salves or suppositories—as long as the blood is stagnant in the lower bowel, new tumors will continue to form. Clear the blood—free the circulation. Then piles will leave for good. titled men among the ushers. Next, interest was transferred to actors and managers who attended the wedding. They had been friends of Mrs. Gould when she was Edith Kingston, actress. Prominent among these was Sir Chas. Wyndham. All eyes were centered upon him as he went up the aisle on the arm of Earl Percy.

Mrs. Samboich of the Metropolitan opera company arrived at the same moment with Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, social leader. As they went up the aisle, Mme. Sembrich on the arm of Lord Camoys and Mrs. Fish, escorted by Phoenix Ingraham, people stood up to get a good look at them. Neither of the two women appreciated that momentary prominence. Mrs. Fish's face wore a decided frown as she took her seat.

The Frohmans, Daniel and Charles, and Frederick Townsend Martin, were among the early arrivals. So were Harry Lehr and his wife.

From time to time Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., one of the ushers, appeared at the front door of the church after the rush started and had the doormen hold back guests until those inside had been seated. Because of the confusion due to the taking of wrong seats it was seen 20 minutes before the wedding hour that all of the guests could not be placed by 4 o'clock. So Drexel telephoned to the Gould home and had the wedding party delay its start for a quarter of an hour.

The choir boys from the cathedral of St. John the Divine were brought to the church in an automobile bus and were hustled by their director, Miss Farrow, into the vestry, where they donned their vestments.

The first of the wedding party to arrive after Mrs. Gould, Miss Helen

Faint?

Have you weak heart, dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals? A heart tonic, blood and body-builder that has stood the test of over 40 years of cures is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

The heart becomes regular as clock-work. The red blood corpuscles are increased in number—and the nerves in turn are well fed. The arteries are filled with good rich blood. That is why nervous debility, irritability, fainting spells, disappear and are overcome by this alternative extract of medicinal roots put up by Dr. Pierce without the use of alcohol. Ask your neighbor. Many have been cured of scrofulous conditions, ulcers, "fever-sores," white swellings, etc., by taking Dr. Pierce's Discovery. Just the refreshing and vitalizing tonic needed for excessive tissue waste, in convalescence from fevers or for run-down, anemic, thin-blooded people. Stick to this safe and sane remedy and refuse all "just as good" kinds offered by the dealer who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing will do you half as much good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Gould, Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Jr. and Jay Gould had entered the church were young Edith and Gloria Gould, Diana Dalzell and Masters Marcus and Grahame Beresford of Providence nephews of Lord Deedes. The youngsters were in charge of governesses and nurses and were taken to an anteroom at the front of the church, where maids finished dressing them.

Stand Up to Crane Necks

Then came the bridesmaids, among them Miss Annie Douglas Graham, who at the last moment had been called upon to take the place of Miss Beatrice Claffin, who became ill Sunday night with the grip. Dressmakers had to work swiftly all Monday to get a dress ready for Miss Graham.

The fact that she was to be a bridesmaid was not generally known until the wedding guests were gathering. When she got out of the automobile with the other young women the last of the other guests were just entering the church. Some of them exchanged knowing nods and said the incident was to them confirmation of the en-

VOTE ON LORIMER IN UNITED STATES SENATE WILL OCCUR ABOUT FEB. 15

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The final determination of the Lorimer case is being much discussed here. There is a growing sentiment now that Mr. Lorimer should be expelled and that a resolution simply declaring his seat vacant should not be adopted. This would prevent future difficulties arising in connection with legislation which might have been enacted by means of Mr. Lorimer's vote. The vote will occur the middle of next week, about Feb. 15, it is said here. It is recalled that Mr. Lorimer's vote made possible passage of the ship subsidy bill, with the assistance of Vice-President Sherman. Several of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill amendments were adopted by the same close margin, except that Mr. Sherman was not called on to decide any ties. A two-thirds vote is required to expel a senator, while a bare majority can declare his seat vacant. Senator Lorimer says he has no intention of resigning. He is engaged in preparing a speech in his own defense, which will be delivered near the close of the debate. Senator Cullom has arranged a speech in which he will defend the state of Illinois against the charge made by Senator Root that corruption had prevailed in its legislature for many years. He will insist that bribery and debauchery are sporadic and not chronic in Illinois. He will not touch the Lorimer case. Mr. Cullom has been bitterly attacked by Senator Joseph Bailey was present in the sanctuary. The choir, under the direction of Charles P. Smith, sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory the "Pie Jesu" was rendered by Mrs. Walker and after the elevation "O Meritum Passionis" by Edward P. Shea. At the conclusion the "De Profundis" was sung by the choir, and the hymn "Father of Christ" was rendered on the organ by Mrs. Walker. The bearers were Patrick A. Conlon, Arthur McQuade, James Freeman, John McNamara, Anthony McCarron and Bartholomew Scannell, Jr. At the grave Rev. Dennis Sullivan, O. M. I., read the committal prayers. The arrangements were in charge of Dr. William M. Collins and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

LEGAL NOTICES

REQUIEM MASS FOR THE REPOSE OF THE SOUL OF THE LATE REV. FR. JOYCE.

A solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated at the Immaculate Conception church at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning for the repose of the soul of the late Rev. Fr. Joyce, O. M. I., who for many years was pastor of the Immaculate Conception church. A number of clergymen will be present at the service and the priests of the parish expect that the church will be crowded with parishioners who knew Fr. Joyce and the great work that he performed to build up the parish and its societies.

HUSBAND BURNED IN RUSHING TO AID OF HIS WIFE YESTERDAY

WORCESTER, Feb. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. John Moore of 75 Salem street were badly burned yesterday in a small fire in their home. Mr. Moore receiving injuries while trying to extinguish flames communicated to his wife's clothes while she was starting a fire in the kitchen stove. At Mrs. Moore was dumping some charcoal on the fire the blaze caught the bag and in an instant her dress was on fire. Mr. Moore rushed to her rescue and put out the blaze in her dress, but in so doing suffered burns about the hands, arms and face. Both were hurried to the City hospital in a police ambulance. Mrs. Moore was reported last night to be resting comfortably, although her burns are agonizing. Mr. Moore went home after his burns were dressed. These 5 extinguished the blaze in the kitchen with slight loss.

FUNERALS

MARKHAM.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Catherine A. Markham took place this morning at 9:30 o'clock from the home of her sister, Mrs. Matthew Murphy, 280 East Merrimack street. At 10 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem was sung at the Immaculate Conception church by Rev. Dennis Sullivan, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. Owen McQuade, O. M. I., and Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I., as deacon and sub-deacon. Rev. William Connor of Dorchester

BURNED TO DEATH GIRL PERISHED IN A FIRE AT BURLINGTON

BURLINGTON, Vt., Feb. 8.—Alice Vena L. Pine, 19 years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pine of 43 Murray street, was burned to death yesterday at her home. Miss Pine was not feeling well and rose about 2:30 o'clock and went upstairs, carrying a lamp. Just what happened will never be known, but the three members of the household were roused by the girl's screams and saw her standing at the top of the stairway, enveloped in flames. She dashed down the stairs and her father attempted to wrap her in an overcoat. He was badly burned about the hands and face and the girl died before assistance could be rendered her. It is thought she inhaled the flames. Police Officer Christopher Miles, who was passing the house and went to the assistance of the family, had one hand badly burned.

MAYOR IS RECALLED

Women Defeated Mayor Gill of Seattle Under New Charter

He Was Charged With Farming Out Vice Privileges to a Syndicate — 22,000 Women Registered Under Woman Suffrage Law

NEAR St. Margaret's Church

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 8.—As a result of the first test of the recall in this state Mayor Gill of Seattle must relinquish his office at once. The election was held yesterday and the votes of the newly enfranchised women played a prominent part in the result. George Dilling was elected over Mayor Gill and will take office immediately to serve out the unexpired part of Gill's term. In 109 precincts out of 152 Dilling's majority was 1950. It was alleged by the recall leaders that Gill and Chief of Police Wapenstafer farmed out the vice privileges to a syndicate. A large proportion of 22,000 women, who registered, cast their ballots yesterday. They stood in lines at booths and appeared to be as apt and quick at casting their votes as the more experienced men voters.

As soon as it was announced last November that the woman suffrage amendment to the constitution had been adopted, the movement to recall Mayor Gill under a provision of the city charter took active form and the women entered vigorously into the campaign.

A surprise of the day was the heavy socialist vote, which probably will reach 5000.

$1800 Kinely built 7-room house, with open plumbing, bath, fruit trees, concrete sidewalks, double windows, etc. Owner leaves Massachusetts in a few weeks, hence the sacrifice.

$2200 House of 8 rooms, pantry and bath, front and back stairs, 4500 feet of land, all fenced and in fine condition.

WHIST CONTEST WAS WON BY THE CITIZENS AMERICANS CLUB

The whist tournament between the members of the Pawtucketville Social club and the Citizens Americans club came to a close last night when the last game of a series of three was played in the latter club rooms in Dutton street. The Pawtucketvilles defeated the Citizens by 43 points, the score being: Pawtucketville, 437 and the Citizens 334. Nevertheless the latter club won the contest by 11 points.

Refreshments were served after the game and a general good time was enjoyed till a late hour, songs and piano selections being rendered by several members of both clubs.

CASHIER SENTENCED

He Was Charged With Larceny of Bank's Securities

He Was Given a Sentence of Fourteen Years — There Are Three Other Indictments Remaining to be Disposed of

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Erwin J. Wider, the former cashier of the Russo-Chinese bank who was arrested last July for the larceny of securities estimated by the bank officials at $650,000 and who pleaded guilty to the larceny of $280,000 in securities from the bank, was today sentenced, by Judge O'Sullivan in the court of general sessions on the two indictments first found against him, charging grand larceny. On the first indictment he was given an indeterminate sentence of not less than five years, nor more than nine years and six months and on the second indictment nine years and six months.

Judge O'Sullivan directed that a warrant be lodged at Sing Sing for Wider's arrest when he serves his time. He is ordered to be brought back to the court of general sessions when the other three indictments will be disposed of.

FOUR ARE DEAD NATIONALISTS

Entire Family Killed by Gas

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Frank Bernard, his wife Marie, and their two little children, Carl and George, were found dead today in their home in Fulton street, Brooklyn, the victims of escaping gas which flowed from a jet which had been apparently accidentally left open.

Subsequent investigation by the police seemed to throw considerable doubt on the accident theory of the tragedy at first entertained. It was found that the lava tip had been removed from the single gas jet in the room, allowing a full flow of gas. The stovepipe was wide open. On the one bed in the room lay the bodies of the four victims.

Bernard, it was learned, had been an athletic instructor and is said to have at one time been connected with the direction of athletics at Hamilton college. He had been without steady employment since last August and a bank found in the rooms showed that already drafts had been made on his account in the bank during the fall and winter until only a balance of a few cents was left.

NOTABLE GATHERING GRAND JURY HERE

At Funeral of Postmaster A. G. Thompson Today

Post Office Employees Attended in a Body and Did Escort Duty — Many Delegates Present from Prominent Societies and Fraternal Organizations — Simple but Impressive Services

The funeral of the late Postmaster A. G. Thompson took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock with simple funeral services at the home of the deceased, 23 Ash street. One of the largest gatherings noted at a local funeral in a long time assembled at the service to honor the memory of the deceased and among the mourners were men prominent in the public, business and social life of the city for the deceased was one of Lowell's best known and most highly respected citizens. The assembly at the residence, while many remained outside of the house unable to obtain admittance. The remains reposed in the casket in the parlor, which was transformed into a veritable bower of flowers, the floral tributes being magnificent and many in number.

Conspicuous among the floral pieces was an immense floral blanket of white and white carnations, sent by the letter carriers of the Lowell postoffice, while an immense "Vacant Chair" was placed in the parlor, symbolizing the tribute of the clerical force of the postoffice. The casket closed during the hour of the funeral, and the officials, carriers and clerks, the carriers in uniform, marched to the home of the deceased in a body and were given seats reserved for them in the rear parlor. There were present also delegations from Kilwinning lodge, F. A. M., Abseggen council, Royal and Selected Masters, Pilgrim commandery, Knights Templar, Mt. Horeb, Royal Arch chapter, Lowell council, Royal Arcanum, Knights of Pythias, Lowell lodge, A. O. U. W., Elks, Martin Luther, York club, central club, Home club, Pilgrim commandery, and Highland Veritas lodge, I. O. O. F.

The school department was represented by Supt. Whitcomb, the trustee commissioners and the employees of the supply office at city hall; the deceased having been a member of the school board for several years, and city hall was also represented by City Clerk Dudson, City Treasurer Stiles, Police Commissioners Hanson and

The funeral procession proceeded from the house to the post office. Upon arrival at the postoffice, the carriers and clerks lined up at the side of the street at salute as the procession passed them, while the bell in the postoffice tower tolled the knell of the deceased postmaster. The hearse came to a standstill momentarily in passing and then the procession resumed its journey to the grave. The latter was lined with evergreen and banded with the floral tributes. Brief services were conducted at the graveside. The funeral arrangements were under the direction of Frank K. Stearns and the interment in charge of Undertaker Geo. W. Healey.

SHOT TO DEATH

SEVERAL REBEL GENERALS WERE KILLED

CAPE HAITIEN, Haiti, Feb. 8.—General Millonard, the head of the revolutionary forces, and five other rebel generals were taken from the prison at Trou and shot to death at 11 o'clock last night.

SEN. CULLUM'S DENIAL
WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—In a brief statement in the senate today Mr. Cullum of Illinois said that never had a dollar been corruptly used in any of his elections. He said that the people of Illinois were as moral as those of any other state and that they could take care of their own good name.

THE RESOLUTION declaring for San Francisco was ordered reported in the form it passed the house. By a vote of 8 to 5 the committee rejected an amendment offered by Senator Swann, providing for the removal of the world and the reception of foreign representatives in Washington. Senator Swann announced that he would renew this amendment when the bill was taken up in the senate.

WARS WILL CEASE

THAT'S WHAT COUNT ALBERT APPONYI SAYS

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The time is surely coming when wars will cease and nations of the world will settle all their differences by arbitration. In the opinion of Count Albert Apponyi of Hungary, who is here today at the behest of the Civic Forum and the New York Peace society to advance the cause of international peace in America. Future generations will witness the fruition of the plans which he and other European and American statesmen are advocating for world-wide peace, he says, but he doubts if it will be accomplished within the lifetime of the present generation. Count Apponyi reached here from Europe last night.

MARRIED HEIRESS

FORMER CONDUCTOR TOOK CALIFORNIA GIRL FOR HIS BRIDE

LYNN, Feb. 8.—Harry Curtis Rice and Edna Tyler Kindelev were married yesterday afternoon by the Rev. Arthur E. Harriman, in the parsonage of the East Baptist church at 37 Reed street. The groom is a former street car conductor of Lynn and for the past three years vice-president of the General Lumber company at Cleveland. Mrs. Rice is the daughter of a wealthy resident of Oakland, Cal., where the couple met last year as members of a saddle hunting party.

After the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served at the home of the groom's parents at 515 Western avenue. The couple then left for New York and an extended honeymoon through the south.

To Resume Its Investigation of County Affairs

Grand Jury Inspected the Lowell Jail and Examined a Number of Lowell Witnesses—Investigation May Take Three Days

The grand jury came to Lowell this morning to resume its inquiry into the administration of the public affairs of the county, the probe so-called having been started in Cambridge recently and several sessions held.

The idea of coming to Lowell was to inspect the Lowell jail and to hear Lowell witnesses.

The members were on hand at 10 o'clock and so were Deputy Sheriffs Stiles and Courtney, it being the latter's first court duty. Shortly after 10 o'clock a couple of reporters put in an appearance but many a witness showed up while District Attorney Higgins, who is conducting the examination, notwithstanding the reports to the effect that a district attorney from another county would act as inquisitor, did not arrive until after 11 o'clock. It was then decided to proceed at once on an inspection of the jail and the party left the court house and walked over to the big institution in Thorne-dike street now presided over by Keeper Bveleth.

The two deputy sheriffs in charge of the grand jury, profess ignorance of the number or identity of the witnesses, stating that all had been summoned by officers from the other end of the county. It is expected that there will be a sufficient number of witnesses to keep the grand jury here for three days.

It was understood that there would be a number of witnesses on hand at two o'clock but the only occupants of the room used by witnesses awaiting appearance before the grand jury were two reporters and two court officers. District Attorney Higgins arrived about 2:15 o'clock and about five minutes later Frank J. Hendricks, employed by the Walter Coburn Co. in the cotton house at the jail, put in an appearance and was immediately sent into the court room where he remained for 65 minutes.

At 3:15 o'clock he was excused and word was sent to the jail to send Louis Loban, an officer at the jail, over to the court house to appear before the jurors.

BIG FIRE IN BROOKLYN

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Many million dollars' worth of property in the heart of the business section of Brooklyn was threatened early today by a fire which destroyed the five-story factory of the F. Biscoff Cocoa & Chocolate Co. on Asilund place.

After heroic efforts the flames were prevented from doing any considerable damage to adjoining buildings. The loss was estimated by the police at a quarter of a million dollars.

STREETS SANDED

Street Dept. Kept Busy
Today

Ten teams belonging to the street department were engaged in the work of sanding the streets this morning and the men employed by the street department including the men with the sand teams, today, number more than 200, and most of them are busy gutters.

Supt. Putnam said today that if the weather would hold good for another month the Lawrence street bridge would be ready for travel. The brick work on the sewer laid across the concrete slab is being attended to and a gang of men are busy on back, shilling work. Unless the weather clerk should usher in a big storm, the bridge will be ready for the street railway people within a month. The tracks to be laid by the street railway people at this time, however, will not be permanent as the dirt or top-dressing will settle more or less during the next few months.

DIED SUDDENLY

O'Leary Passed Away in His Office

SALEM, Feb. 8.—Stricken with heart disease as he sat at his desk in the assessor's office at city hall, Dennis O'Leary, an assessor of this city, died almost unexpectedly. A clerk in the office did not know that his superior officer was ill until less than a minute before he died. Mr. O'Leary was elected assessor on Jan. 2 last, after a spirited contest. He assumed his duties a week ago yesterday. He had previously served as an assistant assessor. He is survived by a widow and several children. He was about 45 years old.

SANCTUARY CHOIR MINSTRELS

You will miss a minstrel show which will equal the best production ever presented in this city for many years unless you attend the annual minstrel overture and dance of the sanctuary choir of St. Patrick's church, which will be given in Associate hall tonight. You heard about the last show of this organization and you should avail yourself of this opportunity of hearing this choir in the black face make-up and singing the most popular and latest songs successful of the day. Many people could not be accommodated in the hall of St. Patrick's academy last year when the choir presented its show so the committee has secured a special hall for the performance this evening. The six live and men, namely: Ed O'Neil, Day Powers, James King, Tom Tobin, Bernard O'Reilly and John Simpson will furnish enough giggles to hold over until the next performance. The performance will start promptly

LABOR LEADER

Was Shot and Mortally Wounded

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Lyle McArthur, national organizer for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, was shot and mortally wounded in the midst of a labor meeting at the teamsters' headquarters on La 9th street yesterday. A riot followed in which 20 policemen and some 50 teamsters took part. The friends of McArthur attempted to take Altman, McArthur's assailant, from the police and kill him, and were prevented only after a score were beaten down with clubs.

Altman has a long police record. He was arrested and tried for exploding bombs about gambling houses and for a "wrecking crew" that attacked enemies of the teamsters' union. He charged McArthur with holding out $250 of pay. Altman shot McArthur at his desk, two bullets taking effect in the abdomen.

GOV. VEGA

SAYS THAT THERE IS NO REBEL LION

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 8.—Governor Celeso Vega of lower California, a Mexican, who is out with 200 soldiers to fight rebels, last night said: "This is not a revolution. The difficulty is caused by irresponsible citizens of no country, no friends of no party, who are making a bad case of the Americans and their newspapers and their socialists. I am out looking for men who are violating the law, not to put down a so-called rebellion. There is none."

6 O'CLOCK QUIET AT JUAREZ

Orozco's Men Encamped Across the River From El Paso Smelter

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 8.—Quiet prevails in Ciudad Juarez at this hour. The federals have the usual number of outposts patrolling the outskirts of the city. Orozco's men are encamped across the river from the El Paso smelter, near the scene of yesterday's encounter, but the only indication of their presence is the occasional signal of a sentry. No news has been received during the night as to the location of Blanco and Anales with their insurgents.

THE FEDERALS ROUTED

BY THE INSURRECTOS
EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 8.—The first battle of Juarez between federal troops and insurgents was exhibited yesterday. "Exhibited" is the proper word, for no one on either side was hurt and the "exhibition" was viewed by a thousand or more El Pasoans who lined the bank of the Rio Grande on the American side about three miles west of El Paso.

The exchange of missiles lasted about 15 minutes and about 200 shots were fired. According to Pascual Orozco, leader of the insurgents his men fired only 50 of these. He declared that the federals got away so fast that they were out of range before more shots could be fired at them.

Last night, the federals were behind the walls of the Cathedral of Guadalupe, of their barracks, and of the building at Juarez, across the river from here. Orozco remains in possession of the position which he occupied at noon and held against the federal advance. He declared in an interview with The Associated Press correspondent that he intends to attack Juarez, but that he awaits the arrival of General Blanco with 350 men. He expects the latter any moment.

Orozco's present force around Juarez numbers under 600 men, probably 550. Of these 320 were with him in the skirmish yesterday afternoon. The federal forces by actual count numbered 184, including 100 foot soldiers and 84 mounted infantry. They took with them no artillery, and Orozco has none.

The insurgent leader and his men spent Monday night at Rancho Flores, usually inhabited by a few horses and a herd of goats, which the rebels took. Orozco quit the ranch during the forenoon and by moving through the deep arroyos, which scar the desert everywhere, reached a new position in the hills along the river across from the El Paso smelter. Here the correspondents who had been on his trail since daybreak discovered him.

He and six of his lieutenants met the soldiers he was up the boulder-strewn mountain side. He carried a rifle, like his men. He looked careworn, but determined. He answered questions only after deliberation, and often evasively.

Orozco was of no mind to betray his plans. He borrowed some ink for his fountain pen and also a writing tablet. He expressed a wish to visit El Paso to get a "square meal."

His 320 men were scattered along the hills for three-quarters of a mile. Some of them had their horses on the other side of the range, watering from the river. Someone leaving El Paso in an automobile coincident with the departure of the federals from Juarez under Col. Rabago gave the rebel vanguard. Making a trumpet of his hands the El Pasoan shouted:

"Get busy; the troops are coming!"

The scout machine was quickly followed by scores of others, each with a load, many of the passengers being women. Others rode on horseback, carrying and driving wagons, on hay racks and bales, and hundreds by the street car line, which runs out to the smelter. Other hundreds on foot arrived breathless after it was all over, except for an occasional "viva Madero!" echoing from the hills. The "re-voicings" resumed the interrupted task of cheering their leader.

At the alarm of the automobilist as the federals marched out, the 200 yards, the revolutionists looked like insects making their way on all fours to avoid bullets, through a maze of cactus, soap weed, sage brush and boulders.

It was about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Col. Rabago marched out the river road. The eastern wing of Orozco's force opened fire when the foot soldiers approached on a crest about 600 yards distant. The federals halted in a compact mass, but escaped injury—the thirty-threes carried by the revolutionists are not effective at that distance. They returned the fire for 15 minutes. They then turned and retreated at a dog trot. The mounted men of the federals did not come within range.

The sightseers on the American side bear witness to the celerity of the retreat, for the federals were in full view for nearly a mile.

bought his supplies under their supervision and was sent back grinning. Orozco was content with repulsing the enemy. After the retreat of the latter he searched the ground thoroughly, but discovered no sign of blood.

Seen following the skirmish, Orozco said that while there had been no loss of life, he was glad the moral effect of repulsing the enemy. "The moral" effect was needed for Orozco's stock dropped several points among his sympathizers, first when he allowed Rabago to elude him at Baucha on Sunday and second, for failing to attack Juarez on the heels of that officer.

Orozco placed the number of his own dead in the Baucha fight at two and his wounded at four. He thought that 26 patients now in the federal hospital at Juarez embraced the federal losses to wounded. But, insisted that they lost six or eight killed instead of one as officially reported.

The rebel force consists entirely of mounted infantry. Those not with Orozco are near Baucha or on scouting duties in the mountains. Unlike the federal troops, there are no women camp followers with the insurgents.

President Diaz has no organized commissary. In its place there are the women. Each soldier gets a few centavos a day to buy him his food. This they turn over to the women who forage the country, cook tortillas if they are able to buy corn, and provide jerked beef. More often than not, the women have children with them. They are officially recognized by the war department which furnishes them passage on troop trains. Two of them were killed at Baucha.

It was a spectacle both ludicrous and pathetic yesterday to see a dozen, mostly bareheaded, running after the fact that he awaits the arrival of General Blanco with 350 men. He expects the latter any moment.

SCRAPING THE ICE

Great Activity on Merrimack River

The Merrimack river in the vicinity of Gage's ice houses is the scene of great activity today. The work of scraping was begun yesterday afternoon and today more than 200 men and 50 horses are employed.

Miss Gage stated today that she did not expect her men would cut any ice on the river for a day or two. The ice is between seven and eight inches thick at the present time and another cold night or two would fix it all right. If the weather holds cold the work of cutting will start Friday morning.

EXPECTED SUDDEN WEALTH

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 8.—Three witnesses testified today that Dr. Pantchenko, accused of poisoning Count Vassilli Boutarlin, had told them of his hopes of sudden wealth. A fellow passenger with the doctor on the trip to Vilna, swore that he heard a conversation in French between Pantchenko and Count Patriek O'Brien De Lassy at a hotel in Vilna and saw money pass between them. The former told the witness that he was soon to receive $5000.

Another man who had gone security for some of the defendant's bills said that Pantchenko told him that he was soon to become rich and only needed to "expedite" a certain patient. A woman witness testified that Pantchenko told her of the proposed "elimination" of one or two heirs of a certain millionaire, adding that the affair would bring him several hundred thousand roubles.

CUSTOMS OFFICERS DISCHARGED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The removal of four employees of the New York customs house who were charged with being implicated in the sugar frauds, was today approved by the treasury department. The men discharged are Franklin Davis and Malcolm G. Myer, inspectors, and Martin Sklause and William J. Walsh, assistant weighers. Collector Loeb recommended their dismissal. The charges against the men are said to be contained in the minutes of the grand jury which investigated the frauds. The department decided, however, that there was not sufficient evidence for a prosecution.

THE EDDY WILL A REVOLUTION

Another Step in the Legal Tangle Was Suppressed by German Warships

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 8.—The law firm of Taggart, Tuttle, Burroughs & Wyman of Manchester, have given notice in the superior court here that on Feb. 11 they will file a petition in behalf of their client, George W. Baker of this city, asking permission to intervene in the suit of George W. Glover and J. Foster Eddy against Henry M. Baker, involving the validity of the disposition made by Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy of her estate in her will.

George W. Baker is the son of a deceased brother of Mrs. Eddy, and the petition will be based on the claim that if Mrs. Eddy's gift of two million dollars to the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, is found invalid, then George W. Baker will inherit the estate as next of kin. He claiming that both George W. Glover and J. Foster Eddy are barred from their rights of inheritance by the use of the terms of the contract into which they entered at the close of the "next friends" proceedings in 1907.

HEAVY DAMAGE

Island of Reunion Struck by Cyclone

PARIS, Feb. 8.—Advices received today by the ministry of the colonies from Reunion, state that the island was struck by a cyclone that continued for three days. The damage is heavy but it is impossible to estimate it as communication between the different places is cut off.

The official despatches do not state whether there was a loss of life. Reunion is an island of the Mascarene group in the Indian ocean forming a French colony. Its area is 790 square miles and it has a population of about 15,000. Its capital is St. Denis. The chief products are sugar, coffee and tobacco.

NIGHT RIDERS

DROVE JAPANESE LABORERS FROM A RANCH

TREATY DRAFTED

AND IS BEFORE THE STATE DEPT. FOR ACTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Possibly it was with the apprehension of what is just coming on the Texas border that Senator De la Barra, the Mexican ambassador, some time ago proposed to Secretary Knox the negotiation of a treaty to regulate the flight of aeroplanes between the United States and Mexico. Secretary Knox was willing to entertain the proposition and as a result a treaty has been drafted which has received the approval of the Mexican government and is now before the state department for its action.

The ostensible purpose of the Mexican government was to prevent smuggling, which could be carried on in the case of small and exceedingly valuable commodities such as jewels, furs, opium and the like, by aeroplanes. In the absence of regulations, but another very important use of the aeroplane was evidently in mind and that was its possible employment by revolutionists in conveying information of the movements of government troops endeavoring to capture rebel forces.

Mexico would not object to the employment of aeroplanes by the United States army as prophesied but would probably not like the appearance on the border of a number of aeroplanes, such as would be drawn to the proposed exhibition at El Paso, if these machines are to operate over Mexican territory without responsibility to the military authorities. Therefore, it is possible that a protest will be made by the Mexican government against any such contemplated flights.

STRAWBERRIES IN MARKET

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 8.—Texas strawberries are being marketed, according to advices received from Alden and Pasadena. First shipments were reported from those points yesterday. The early movement of the crop is due to the unusually mild weather experienced recently in south Texas.

On Charge of Breaking Into the Billerica Post Office

Thomas Smith, who it is alleged broke into the postoffice at North Billerica yesterday morning and later arrested in Gorham street by Patrolman Patrick J. Conroy, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with feloniously breaking and entering the store of Alice Maxwell in the town of Billerica and stealing therefrom a pound and a half of candy valued at 50 cents, two ounces of gum valued at 25 cents, two packages of soap each of the value of ten cents, and a shirt valued at $1.50.

The clerk had no sooner read the complaint than Smith shouted: "I enter a plea of not guilty, waive examination and have the case tried before a higher court." Smith's request was granted and he was held under $500 for the grand jury.

Stols Blanket and Robe
John Mullen of Bedford and John Thompson of New Bedford came to Lowell yesterday afternoon for a little justification. They came over the river in a sleigh belonging to Mullen, and upon arriving in Lowell put the outfit up at Davis' stable in Church street. Inasmuch as Bedford is a dry town, the pair started to visit several saloons with the result that when they were ready to start for home both were pretty much under the weather.

While Mullen was hitching the horse one of the stable attendants saw Thompson take a blanket from one of Frank K. Stearns' laundry wagons and also a robe belonging to the city of Lowell and place both in Mullen's sleigh. Frank K. Stearns, a police station, and both Mullen and Thompson were placed under arrest, the former for drunkenness and the latter for drunkenness and larceny.

In court this morning Mullen paid a fine of $2. Thompson admitted that he was drunk and said he would not have thought of taking the robes if he had been sober. He was ordered to pay a fine of $20 within three days, or go to jail for three months.

Sent to State Farm
Harvey Barrette, a young man, was charged with drunkenness and being an idle and disorderly person who had neglected all lawful business and habitually missed his time by frequenting houses of ill fame, gambling houses and tippling shops. Barrette allowed that he had been drinking rather heavily of late, but the idle and disorderly charge, preferred against him staggered him and it was only after much explanation that he realized the purport of the charge.

Patrolman Breault testified that the defendant was continually hanging around street corners, pool rooms and liquor saloons. He said the young man had not done any work since last April. Patrolman Giroux also testified as to the defendant's habits.

When given a chance to testify in his own behalf, Barrette said: "I have a good food every day and a place to sleep. I belong to a good family and never stole anything."

He was sentenced to the state farm at Bridgewater.

NEW HAVEN ROAD

To Spend $100,000,000 in New England in Next Five Years

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—Ringing with the proposed reciprocity agreement with Canada, a message from President William Howard Taft was read over the long distance telephone by his secretary, Charles D. Norton, to the members of the Massachusetts real estate exchange, assembled for their annual banquet at the Hotel Somerset in this city last night.

Interesting addresses were delivered by four New England governors—Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts, Aaron J. Pothier of Rhode Island, Robert P. Bass of New Hampshire, and John A. Mearns of Vermont—on "Reciprocity with Canada," and "The Welfare of New England."

The message from the president, which was received with much applause, was as follows:

"I regret that I cannot be present at your dinner and meet the New England governors. I note that the subject for discussion is New England welfare. I believe that the welfare of New England is the same as the welfare of the nation and that both require the approval of Canadian reciprocity. Best wishes for the success of your banquet."

The establishment of better and larger trade relations with Canada will result in New England taking on added power and prestige, in the opinion of Governor Foss. "The coming of reciprocity," declared Governor Foss, "will bring vastly increased prosperity to all New England and the whole country."

"We shall have reciprocity. We may not get it this winter, but it is coming. The people are demanding it. We may have to reconstruct the United States senate to get it, but the people are already at work on that job and with the direct election of senators by the people, the people at last will get their will carried into effect."

Declaring that Boston is not only the political capital of Massachusetts, but the natural metropolis of all New England, Governor Foss advocated that all the New England states work together to develop a greater New England and thereby give to New England as a unit, a commerce greater than it has ever had. He proposed the revision of the now discordant state transportation laws and the development of railroads, industries and ocean commerce.

In the opinion of Governor Pothier of Rhode Island, reciprocity with Canada and inland waterways are the most important problems now confronting New England. "I am personally in favor of reciprocity," declared Governor Pothier. He called attention to the fact that Rhode Island was the first New England state to become interested in inland waterways and that already $1,500,000 has been appropriated to better Providence harbor.

"When this work has been completed," said Governor Pothier, "Providence will have one of the best harbors along the New England coast."

Gov. John A. Mearns of Vermont declared himself in favor of trade with Canada, but stated that in his opinion careful consideration should be given to the agricultural provisions of the agreement. "Don't bear down too hard on the farmers," said Governor Mearns. "The co-operation of New England in meeting the common demands and the conservation of natural resources were subjects discussed by Governor Bass of New Hampshire. He declared that as New Hampshire is rather small, its executives have already decided that it is necessary to cultivate its natural resources such as forests and waterfalls. Governor Bass stated that within a few years he hopes that new forests will be in the course of cultivation and that large reservoirs will be under construction at the heads of all the principal streams which will eventually supply power to various parts of New England."

George B. Chandler of the Connecticut general assembly represented Connecticut in the unavoidable absence of Gov. Simeon B. Baldwin.

President John Martin of the club stated that the officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad yesterday informed him that within the next five years they will spend in New England alone not less than $100,000,000. He said that the officials stated that they realized that the industrial and commercial progress of New England warrants the expenditures.

TO STUDY PLAGUE CONDITIONS

MAYOR GILL

IS IN DANGER OF BEING RECALLED

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 8.—Returns from one-third of the city indicate that Hiram C. Gill, mayor of Seattle, accused of misconduct in office, has been recalled, largely by the votes of the women newly enfranchised.

George W. Dilling, public welfare league candidate, is probably successful by 1000 votes.

CHILD'S HEAD SOLID MASS OF HUMOR

It Was Awful. Cried Continually. Had to Hold and Watch Him to Keep Him from Scratching. Suffering Was Dreadful.

Had not Used Half a Set of Cuticura Remedies Before Head Was Clear and Free from Eczema.

"I think the Cuticura Remedies are the best remedies for eczema I have ever heard of. My mother had a child who had a rash on its head when it was real young. Doctor called it baby rash. He gave us medicine, but it did no good. In a few days the head was a solid mass, a running sore. It was awful, the child cried continually. We had to hold him and watch him (to keep him) from scratching the sore. His suffering was dreadful. At last we remembered Cuticura Remedies. We got a dollar bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and a bar of Cuticura Soap. We gave the Resolvent as directed, washed the head with the Cuticura Soap, and applied the Cuticura Ointment. We had not used half before the child's head was clear and free from eczema, and it has never come back again. My child was healthy and he had a beautiful head of hair. I think the Cuticura Ointment very good for the hair. It makes the hair grow and prevents falling hair." (Signed) Mrs. Francis Lund, Plain City, Utah, Sept. 19, 1910.

For more than a generation the Cuticura Remedies have afforded the speediest and most economical treatment for skin and scalp eruptions of young and old, that itch, burn, crust, scale, and destroy sleep. Sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., Boston, Mass., for free 32-page Cuticura Booklet, a guide to skin and hair health.

TWAIN'S PAPERS

WERE DISPOSED OF AT AUCTION YESTERDAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The sale of many of the manuscripts of the late Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), at a Fifth Avenue auction yesterday did not include, as had been advertised, a short article he had written criticizing Theodore Roosevelt. It had been included by mistake in the list to be sold and was withdrawn at the last moment by request of the estate, as was a stricture he had written on congress. It was explained only that the estate desired to retain them.

The 125 page autograph manuscript of "A Double Barreled Detective Story" was sold to a dealer for $750. Twenty-eight pages from "Adams Diary" went for $150. The total realized was $2750.

MRS. BULL DEAD

WAS WIFE OF DR. WILLIAM T. BULL

NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 8.—Mrs. Marie Nevins Bull, wife of the late Dr. William T. Bull of New York, died at her home, "Dudley Place," here last evening. Mrs. Bull, who had been ill since last Christmas day, might also be said to have died in her sleep, never awakening from the easy coma into which she had passed earlier in the evening. Death was due to nervous exhaustion, according to Dr. Seth DeBois, the physician in attendance.

Mrs. Bull was 44 years of age. Dr. Bull was her second husband, her first having been James G. Blaine, son of Garfield's secretary of state. At her bedside when death came was a son by each marriage, Jas. G. Blaine, 3d, and William T. Bull. With the former, who is to finish his studies at Harvard college on Friday next, was Miss Harman Dow of Boston, his fiancée.

Dr. Bull died February 22, 1909.

RECIPROCITY

Is Strongly Opposed by Balfour

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Arthur J. Balfour has come out strongly in opposition to the Canadian-United States tariff reciprocity plan. Parliament will pay considerable attention to the proposed tariff agreement and may interfere in Canada to prevent its adoption. The British are opposed to any close relationship between Canada and the United States.

PLAYED WHIST

Party at St. Joseph's College Hall

The first of a series of three whist tournaments for the benefit of the grullo to be erected on the French American orphanage grounds, was given last evening at St. Joseph's college hall in Merrimack street.

The affair was conducted by two well known young men of Pawtucketville, Mr. Charles Chandonnet and Henri Simard, and the proceeds were quite large.

Mr. Chandonnet acted as director of the soiree, and the whist judges were: Misses Corinne Heroux, Anna Barry, Lucinda Carufel, Dr. Aelard Payette, and Mr. O. Desmarais. The following young women assisted in the organization of the three soirees and also made it their business to keep the scores: Misses Corinne Heroux, Amanda Bergeron, Lucinda Carufel, Corinne Valland, Mathilde Jacques, Amanda Roux, Elaine Verville, Albina Bourgeois, Villaine Belanger, Ross Heleene Hebert, Marie Louise Roux, Marie Richards, Angeline Matte, Anna Bourgeois, Marie Rose, Marie, Alexander, Germaine, Albertine, Louise, Anna Perron, Alice Carufel, Anna Barry, Mathilde Mirault, Bella Rondeau, Corinne Rondeau, Ida Marie, Georgianna Champagne, Victoria Bourgeois.

There was an attractive program consisting of piano selections by Mr. Charles Chandonnet, and by Mr. Alfred Demont, with Miss Henriette Jallibert at the piano, and an amusing sayette, "On demande un Acteur," by two clever youngsters, Albert Gusselin and Caliste Lemire. The same program will be repeated every night.

COOKING SCHOOL

FLEISCHMANN YEAST CO. TO GIVE FREE LESSONS

Commencing Feb. 12th and continuing daily, Sundays excepted, to the 21st, inclusive, the Fleischmann Yeast Co. will give free lessons in cooking to the ladies of this city. The lessons will be given in spacious kitchen hall of the Young Women's Christian association building in John street, and will open promptly at 2:30 o'clock each day. It is the company's wish that all be entered at this time, so that interruptions will be avoided.

Mrs. Peacock is a plain and interesting talker and puts much individuality into her work. She gives to her audience many little helpful hints and suggestions that simplify ordinary bread making to a great extent. Many housekeepers look upon their baking days with no great pleasure, but after attending these lectures and noting the little pointers given out during the afternoon one can go home and feel that it has been time well spent.

You are taken through the entire process, from the mixing, moulding, and baking. Much importance is attached to the last step and valuable instruction is given on this point. Lessons are not only given on bread and rolls, but cakes and other delicacies, and you are allowed to sample everything baked.

Mrs. Peacock is delightfully informal, and handles her subjects with a dexterity which is only acquired from experience.

Any lady who does her own baking and needs any points or helps can call upon Mrs. Peacock any morning or afternoon at the demonstrating room, and she will arrange to give her a private lesson.

Ladies wishing their servants to have the benefit of these lessons can also arrange with her for a lesson. Take advantage of this exceptional opportunity, for it may not be yours again and you are cordially invited.

The latest Fleischmann cook book, an interesting and instructive pamphlet, containing all recipes used by Mrs. Peacock, will be given to those attending the lectures.

CITY COUNCIL

Declares Office of City Treasurer Vacant

TAUNTON, Feb. 8.—Upholding the action yesterday of Mayor William S. Woods in requesting the resignation of City Treasurer Edward H. Temple in the books of whose department it is alleged a discrepancy of about $550 was found, the city council last night adopted without a dissenting voice an order declaring vacant the office of city treasurer and collector of taxes and "removing for cause" Mr. Temple.

The council also set February 11 as the date for the election of a permanent successor to former Treasurer Temple, whose place is being filled temporarily by City Auditor Arthur R. Leonard. Mr. Temple yesterday answered Mayor Wood's letter requesting his immediate resignation with a statement saying he did not intend to resign.

At last night's session of the city council, James T. Swan, the Boston accountant who conducted the special audit of the books of the city treasurer's and tax collector's office for the past two years reported in detail on his examination. His figures indicated that his accounts for 1909 showed that $309.14 for which receipts had been issued was not credited on the cash book and that in 1910 the apparent discrepancy was $2409.25.

BISHOP ALLEN

SUGGESTS GREAT PROGRAM FOR ANNIVERSARY OF MOBILE

A Mobile, Ala., exchange has the following: An adjourned meeting of the Catholic laymen of this city was held last night in McGill Institute to hear the report of the arrangements committee on the program outlined for the celebration of the founding of Mobile on city, all the boys of the parochial Sunday, February 26, and Monday, Feb. 27, as suggested by Right Rev. Bishop Allen, bishop of the diocese. The principal feature of the religious celebration will be the presence in the city, from 7 to 9 o'clock Sunday night, as a participant in services in the Cathedral, of Cardinal James Gibbons, the highest Catholic authority in the United States. Accompanying the cardinal will be a large number of the leading prelates and doctors of the church, including Archbishop Blenk of New Orleans and Coadjutor Bishop Shaw of the San Antonio diocese, who is coming home to his native city for the celebration.

The original suggestions of Bishop Allen will be followed out, including a pontifical mass in the Cathedral, at which the cardinal and prelates will assist, on Sunday, and mass of reparation for all citizens of Mobile who have died since the city was founded, on Monday.

The laymen have added a street parade at 8:30 Sunday afternoon, in Allen for appointment.

THE FLEISCHMANN COOKING SCHOOLS

Everybody knows Fleischmann's Yeast, but most people associate the word "Yeast" with bread-making only. Do you realize that a dozen or more articles made and baked daily in American homes can be made quickly, easily and better with Fleischmann's Yeast than with any other leaven?

The Fleischmann Company has established The Fleischmann Cooking Schools to instruct the housewives of America in the use of Fleischmann's Yeast in various kinds of baking and cooking. These schools are conducted by trained Domestic Science Teachers, who give lessons, by actual cooking and baking, in the presence of their classes, in our travelling kitchens.

Mrs. Peacock, Domestic Science Teacher, and one of our instructors, will conduct a Cooking School at

The transportation companies have reason to rejoice in the absence of any severe snow storm. The street department is also a gainer by the open winter, while many of the unemployed are disappointed at not being called out by the superintendent of streets.

MILITARISM GOES MARCHING ON

Every nation must now have its squadron of airships and a detachment of airship destroyers. Every machine for the destruction of human life must be offset by another that will destroy it. Thus in the face of the various movements for universal peace, new engines of war are being invented and made part of the armament of warlike nations. In addition to this each nation is adding to its army and navy as a means of compelling peace, and so militarism goes marching on.

HELPING THE CHARTER MOVEMENT

Refusal of either branch of the city council to enter a joint convention for the choice of officers elected by such convention will be one of the strongest arguments in favor of a charter that will provide for a single chamber and abolish all party designations. The people are tired of these deadlocks which block the prompt and honest transaction of the city's business. The political contention by which the city's interests suffer either in the delay of business or the selection of incompetent officials will convince the people more firmly than ever that it is high time to dispense with the whole mischievous system and adopt a charter that will guarantee the transaction of the city's business in an open, direct and up-to-date manner.

WHERE INDIFFERENCE IS FATAL

Can it be possible that we nurture in our midst an antidote to our future growth? It would really seem so if we are to judge from the apparent indifference shown in some quarters to the proposed location of the Boston and Maine repair shop in this city or vicinity.

The company has been prospecting in this vicinity, and so far as we are aware has not yet settled upon any location. Nevertheless, the business men of Lowell have not united to make a definite proposition to the company in the matter of a site. The company wants about 600 acres of suitable land near its tracks with plenty of room for spur tracks. The shop, it is believed, will employ about 10,000 hands. Such an establishment is worth fighting for. It would be worth a great deal to this city; but unless some prompt and definite action be taken the opportunity will be lost.

There are many business men in Lowell willing to do all in their power to secure this establishment for Lowell, but unfortunately there are others who show supreme indifference. It would seem that some concerns do not want the repair shop. That is why we ask whether we are handicapped by any internal agency that operates against our future growth. If we are it is time the fact should be known.

We recently lost a big spinning mill because some of these agencies refused to move a hand to offer any inducement or even reasonable courtesy to the company in its efforts to find the necessary accommodations to start business. It is now doing a successful business in Lawrence, and we have to blame only ourselves for a lack of public spirit and for selfish indifference to the industrial progress of our city. There is plenty of room for new industries and future growth, so that no industry already doing business here need be afraid of suffering loss or injury by the coming of other industries.

The board of trade should push this matter to the limit in order not to allow the opportunity of locating here an industry that would be a strong factor in our future growth to be lost after resting for a time within our grasp. This is a case where indifference is fatal.

LOCATING THE PANAMA EXPOSITION

One of the principal arguments adduced in favor of holding the Panama exposition in San Francisco is, that the attraction of so many people to the Golden Gate would turn the stream of tourist travel westward instead of eastward. It is claimed that the $200,000,000 annually spent by Americans in European travel would be diverted to a great extent to the west if the people were only educated to the sublime beauties of the western country, if they only saw the "Garden of the Gods" in Colorado; if they visited the Yosemite valley with all its inspirations; if they gazed upon the Grand Canyon, a crevasse a mile wide with features grand enough to stir the admiration of the most sedate. Then the westerners remind us also of the splendor of the Columbia river, the Yellowstone park in its indescribable grandeur, the Great Salt Lake, the majestic peaks of the Sierras, the extinct volcanoes, the geysers and the oil wells—the whole forming a variety of scenic grandeur unrivalled perhaps in any other part of the globe.

All this is doubtless true, and it is also true that many of the Americans who rush to see the ancient places of Europe have not seen half the beauties of their own country. It is equally true that many of them go into ecstasy over European scenery that is far surpassed in thousands of places in their own country, but places which they unfortunately have never seen. It would indeed save these tourists a good deal of embarrassment if before going abroad they would survey the chief beauties of their own country. How stupid the American tourist in Europe must feel who when asked if he has visited the Yellowstone park or other places equally celebrated, he must reply in the negative!

The arguments in favor of the new San Francisco, risen phoenix like from the destruction of the old, are not without merit, but there is another side to the question and New Orleans presents strong arguments favoring that location, to wit, the opening up of trade with the southern republics, the utilization of the canal and the extension of our commerce southward, all of which is quite important. The interests of the country and not those of either city should decide as the government will probably have to foot the bills for the fair no matter where it be held.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

At the annual meeting of the American Historical Association at Indianapolis, Prof. William MacDonald of the department of history of Brown University was elected a member of the committee on the Justin Winsor prize, awarded every two years for the best piece of original work in American history. Prof. MacDonald has contributed a number of articles for the new edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, the most important being an article on George Washington. His article on "The Interest of the Public in the College Curriculum" was published in the January issue of the Educational Review.

Off for a three years' hunt in tropical Africa, India, Borneo and the Malay Archipelago, Paul J. Rainey, whose last big hunt was in the Arctic regions with Harry Whitney, has sailed from New York on the steamship Mauretania. Dr. M. E. Johnson, a naturalist, sailed with him and the two will represent semi-officially the New York Zoological Society and the Smithsonian Institution at Washington. They not only will kill game and capture some alive, but will try to roll off 100,000 feet of moving picture films showing the animals in their native haunts. They will start their African hunt at Mombassa, and cover much of the ground made familiar by the trip of Theodore Roosevelt.

St. Louis has a prosperous ethical society, which has invited Percival Chubb of New York, associate of Felix Adler, to become its leader in place of Walter L. Sheldon. Mr. Chubb is to arrive in St. Louis, where the society of which he is the leader, has charge has planned to erect a new building to have an auditorium capacity of 700 persons and to cost $100,000.

Troubles with pupils and outside boys has caused the closing of the transient school in Middletown, N. Y. J. Mullison, the principal of the school, recently whipped a small boy who had tried to set another boy's hair on fire in the schoolroom. He was arrested, charged with assault and fined $3. Then one of the pupils tried to stab him. He had the boy arrested, but the youngster was acquitted on the ground that the principal was choking him when the knife was drawn. Boys outside the school made life miserable for the principal by pounding on the door and throwing stones. Supl. of Schools Tutill has sent the truants back to the regular schools.

Bierwirth of the German department, J. L. Love of the mathematical department.

MOISTURE CAUSES ECZEMA

Constant moisture is a common cause of eczema, infants and fleshy people are often affected where the folds of the skin come in contact. Washwomen are very apt to have a severe eczema upon the hands, which is often incurable so long as the hands are frequently in water. In treating eczema, water and soap should be sparingly used, or not at all. Simply apply a small quantity of Cadum, the new skin remedy, night and morning, and the trouble will disappear. Itching stops with the first application. While the healing process is rapid, Cadum also possesses big curative powers in the treatment of redness, pimples, blotches, rash, roughness, scaly skin, chaffings, acne, sores, ulcers, eruptions, hives, tetter, itch, herpes, psoriasis, ringworm, itching piles. Trial box 10c. At all druggists.

OWES HER HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house."

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her."

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."

—Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 3.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases.

partment, Dean Hulbut of the English department, W. H. Schofield, also of the English department, C. L. Buntin of the mathematics department, A. O. Norton of the department of education, E. Emerson of the history department, Dean Hulbut of the English department, W. Z. Butler of the department of economics, R. B. Dixon of the division of anthropology, R. B. Merriman of the history department, and C. R. Sanger of the chemistry department. The first eight of the men named are on leave of absence for the entire academic year. Professors Emerson, Wendell Hipley, Dixon and Merriman have been given leave of absence only for the second half. Professor Merriman has been forced to give up his work for the next few months owing to the continued ill-health of Mrs. Merriman. Together they will spend several months in Spain, in the hope that the climate and rest will help restore Mrs. Merriman. Last year Professor Merriman was forced to give up his work for a similar reason, but the winter spent in the Carolinas seemed to have no permanent effect on Mrs. Merriman's health. Professor Sanger was originally given leave of absence only for the first half-year, but ill health has compelled him to continue away from the university for another term.

THE OPERA HOUSE

Preparation for the opening performance of the stock company at the Opera House, which is to make its initial appearance here next Saturday afternoon and evening in "The Charity Ball," a play by David Belasco and H. C. DeMille, is going on apace and what promises to be one of the most complete productions ever given here by a stock company is being made ready. "The Charity Ball" is a play that affords ample opportunity for handsome stage settings, which opportunity is being taken advantage of by the management, and several new and elaborate scenes are being constructed for this play. The play also has many important parts, ones that are well calculated to test the ability of the players, and it is in a play of this kind that the management has elected to present its company for the approval of the theatregoers. "The Charity Ball" will be presented Saturday and throughout the following week, both afternoon and evening. That there is considerable interest being manifested in the appearance of the company is evidenced by the call for tickets and the fact that several theatre parties are being made up for various nights of the week. A change of play will be made each week and it is the purpose of the management to present here for the first time at popular prices many of the recent New York successes. Prices for the matinees are 10, 20 and 30 cents; for the evenings, 10, 20, 30 and 50 cents. Seats for Saturday, as well as for all performances next week, are now on sale at the box office.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Lovers of comedy drama should not fail to see Donald Meek as "Tom Brown" in "Brown of Harvard," which is playing at this popular little playhouse this week.

Exalted critics have found in Donald Meek a combination of the virtues of Emmet and Boucicault. Certainly no young comedian ever before the American public combines so many qualities as this handsome young fellow, who has acted his way into the hearts of millions of people. He has Emmet's grace and winning personality, and dramatic sensibility and power of Boucicault. To the well suited play Mr. Meek brings all the charms of his delightful personality, the grace and picturesque figure nature fitted him with, a keen sense of the true "Scottish wit" and humor, a touch for comedy light as air, exquisite in its fullness, a voice deliciously sweet and in perfect attune with the gentle pathos and rippling fun of the ballad he sings. "When Love Is Young."

Altogether "Brown of Harvard" offers a very agreeable entertainment without much food for thought, but so full of life as to keep the interest of its audiences. In spite of the conventionality of the plot, there are moments when it thrills, and there is no lack of sympathy in the most stilted of the lines.

The supporting company is of acknowledged worth in every particular and includes such well known people as Severin Delbey, James Davett, Harry Taylor, Dan McCabe, Charles Reynolds, P. W. T. Fay, Martha Meek, Robert Hastings, Inez Buck, Grace

Franklyn Lynch, Ada Allen, Anna Wilbur, Doris Dutton, W. H. Thompson and J. Keller. "Our New Minister." Next week, "Our New Minister."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The Ten Louisiana Blossoms are pleasing in their big singing and dancing novelty at this popular theatre. They are a mixed organization and prove themselves lively entertainers in plantation melodies and among them some of the old favorite tunes. They wind up with a snappy dancing finish. Denoyer and Dannie will surely amuse you in their laughing absurdity. "Chatter Chats." The Horleys are clever acrobats and perform some difficult feats of strength. Tonight is amateur night and a large number will hold forth.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Miss Mildred Jewel is truly "the woman who mystifies." She is setting audiences at the Merrimack Square theatre this week all agog with her almost supernatural ability to foresee the future, delve into the past, and solve all sorts of knotty problems put to her by members of the audience. Besides all this, she does some manifestation work which ordinarily can be seen only with the most famous trance mediums.

On Thursday night at 10 o'clock all men will be excluded from the theatre, and Miss Jewel will devote herself to answering the personal questions of the women guests of the performance. On Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock she will answer the questions of the lovers.

The other acts on the bill are unusually good also. The Reckless Racklows are an unusual team of cyclists and roller skaters, who do some amazingly daring stunts. Frenchilli and Folsie are capable operatic singers with a varied repertoire, and Charles Frazier presents a European musical novelty. Frederick Meek is the soloist.

The moving pictures are all new and of the best.

THE POLICE BOARD

Took Action on Minor Licenses

At the regular meeting of the board of police, held last night these minor licenses were acted upon: Granted—hawker and peddler, to sell shirt waist belt and silver polish, Mrs. P. J. Thomas; Albert Drayvenchur, 31 Arch street; express, Dominicus Quallotto, 71 Ford street; Joan T. Polier, 135 Cheever street; Amos R. Bliss, 145 Moody street. Licenses cancelled—Express, Edward Lacerio, 33 Hanover street, two licenses. Sixth class, as druggist, James J. Brown, registered manager for estate of James O'Brien, 391 Broadway.

In executive session the board voted to revoke the special police warrant of Alfred Rose, and John F. McNally was appointed a supernumerary officer.

TRAFFIC RULES

Hearing at Board of Trade Last Evening

The hearing on the new traffic regulations before the committee on municipal affairs of the board of trade drew a small gathering last evening. Henry A. Smith presided and the other members of the committee are Rev. Allan Farrin, Edmund T. Simpson, Paul B. Wesson and Irving D. Kimball.

The committee voted to bring to the city council's attention numerous recommendations with the object of relieving congestion in centrally located streets, and particularly in the event of fire.

Perhaps the most important recommendation provides that a time limit of 20 minutes shall be set on automobiles in Merrimack street from the Concord river to Kirk street, in Central street, between Merrimack and Warren streets, in Prescott street and in Middle street. In the latter street, permission is granted to business tenants to keep vehicles standing longer than the 20 minute time limit.

Philadelphia claimed his opponent at the Armory Athletic association, Geo. Alger of Cambridge, was over weight last night and refused to go on with the bout. Kid Scott of Spokane, who arrived from the Pacific coast during the day, was substituted for Moore and put up a game fight, but lost the decision in 12 rounds to Alger.

Young McGovern of Woburn in an eight round bout with Jack Leonard of Philadelphia had his jaw broken by a left hand hook in the first round of the fight. He was floored but kept gamely on and although sent to the mat twice afterward, clearly earned the draw.

J. Coats of Greenfield defeated Young Kennen of Woburn in six rounds and Joe White of South Boston won from Johnnie Gallant of Chelsea, both in six rounds.

Annual Ball of the Lowell Aerie, Order of Eagles

The biggest success on record, was the verdict of the tired but happy dancers as they departed from the ball, in the wee sma' hours of the morning after enjoying the pleasures of the annual ball of Lowell Aerie, No. 233, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

For some time past the committee in charge of the annual affair had promised an event that would eclipse in brilliancy all of its predecessors and the committee certainly made good its promise, for Associate hall never looked more attractive and it is doubtful if a more enjoyable party of its great size was ever carried out in a local assembly hall.

Decorators Young and Florist McManmon combined their most artistic efforts in the matter of decorations and the effects produced were a delight to the eye. The hall was set with a profusion of spruce and cedar trees and clusters of colored incandescent lights dotted the background of green in a most happy blending of color. The front of the stage was draped in pink, and bunting and greenery intermingled in a pleasant manner. A large latticed arch circled the top of the stage and was entwined with greenery and large bunches of white chrysanthemums while the gallery front was hidden from view with white bunting, caught up at short intervals with small clusters of greenery and flowers. From the center chandelier was suspended a large electrical eagle

DEATHS

REDDIN—The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Reddin will be deeply pained to learn of the death of their daughter, Miss Nani Frances Reddin which occurred this morning at the home of her parents, 11 South Whipple street. The deceased was 21 years of age and a most beautiful character, being well beloved by all who enjoyed her acquaintance. She was a popular member of the Children of Mary sodality of the Sacred Heart church. Besides her parents she leaves one brother, John J. Reddin of Nashua and one sister, Miss Catherine C. Reddin. Funeral notice later.

BENNETT—Miss Mary E. Bennett, aged 73 years, 5 months and 20 days, died yesterday at her home in Tyngsboro. She is survived by four nieces, Helen M. and Belle Perham and Marion Bennett of Tyngsboro and Mary V. Perham of Tyngsboro, Conn. and two nephews, Joseph Bennett of California and George B. Perham of Texas.

ESSEX-MODEL

INCUBATORS OF QUALITY

One way to make money from poultry is to GET THE BEST EQUIPMENT YOU CAN AFFORD. One way to lose money is to get the cheapest you can buy. Knowing this, we determine to keep our Incubators and Brooders at the very front—to make them the BEST in the world, and then sell them as low as possible. If you

GET THE ESSEX-MODEL

you get the Incubator of Quality. It is used by large, successful Poultry Farms, Duck Growers and Experiment Stations. It hatches chicks in the hands of Women, Beginners, Experts and Farmers. IT HATCHES THE LARGEST AND STRONGEST CHICKS, AND MORE OF THEM.

The reason the Essex-Model Incubators are the best and most reliable hatchers is because they are built upon the most scientific principle of heating and ventilating and are perfect in construction. They are the most simple to operate. Fewer chicks die in the shell than in any other incubator. If you would like to know why chicks die in the shell in most incubators and why they do not die in the Essex-Model, write for our Free Catalogue. Our principle of heating is the secret and it is patented. We make two leading lines of incubators. Our Standard Essex-Model—all Chestnut—the only hard-wood incubator made; the highest grade incubator built anywhere by anybody. (Yet it is not the highest in price.)

We also build the most superior of low priced machines. It is of Enamelled Rolled Steel with Chestnut Front. Both these machines are worth more, but COST LESS; and they hold more eggs for money than any other in their class.

THE STANDARD ESSEX MODEL INCUBATOR

CONGREGATIONAL CLUB

Against the Repeal of the Bar and Bottle Bill

The speaker of the evening at the regular meeting of the Lowell Congregational club held in the First church last night was Mr. Kyo S. Inui, of Kobe, Japan. He spoke on the relations existing between Japan and the United States.

Supper was served by the ladies of the church and after the menu had been discussed, the president, Louis A. Olney, called to order. Rev. F. G. Alger reported for the Home Work committee. Harold A. Varnum reported for the membership committee, and three applicants were admitted to membership.

A resolution moved by Rev. A. C. Ferrin, putting the club on record as approving the bar and bottle bill, and protesting against the proposed repeal of the law, was adopted. The secretary was instructed to communicate this expression to one or more of the legislators.

The man from Kobe, Japan, proved a very interesting speaker and his talk was interspersed with flashes of humor that were decidedly refreshing. He laughed at the American fear that Japan will seize the Philippines. He said his country could not afford to do it because it would add another burden. We know it. My friends, you can't marry the Philippines to Japan, unless you will insure us some alimony in case of a divorce.

"A man in Washington says, 'We must have an army of 450,000 men. In order that we may protect our shores successfully.' I wonder if that man ever read the history of the American revolution! There is no group of two or three nations that could defeat the United States on her own shores. In a hundred years."

"A large navy is not a guarantee of peace, in the long run. The best guarantee is love of justice."

"In four or five years there will be a big wedding of the Atlantic and the Pacific. We are coming closer together. We are co-operating. The war scare comes annually, a few weeks before the naval appropriation bill comes up. But within a few years there will be an obligatory arbitration treaty. Your own president is going to be responsible for such a treaty; and all civilized nations will follow in your footsteps. Swords will be beaten into plowshares, and spears will be turned into pruning hooks. We have had peace because we were afraid of each other. Now we are beginning to have peace because we understand each other. We are beginning to be melted together. Instead of frozen together. We are after all, one, and in object, one in spirit, one in goal."

The choir of the First church sang selections during the evening.

DOUBLE HEADER

Was Played in Catholic League

The C. M. A. C. and K. of C. played a double header on the alleys last night and the former team came out victorious in both contests. In the first game the C. M. A. C. lost the first and second strings but made a garishon finish by winning the third by 74 pins. In the second game the C. M. A. C. topped off two of the three strings. The feature of the games was the rolling of Gordon of the winning team who cracked out a triple of 318 in the first game and 213 in the second. Conn of the Knights of Columbus rolled in the second game and was the top notcher with a single of 119 and a triple of 323.

In the Lamson C. S. S. league the Conveyers won all three points from the Perfectionists. Stewart of the winning team was high man.

Wamesett and Excelsior lodges of the Manufacturers' league met on the alleys, but there was nothing to it but Wamesett lodge from start to finish.

Two games were played in the Manufacturers' league. In the contest between the Boott and Lawrence teams the former won two points and also took the total by 12 pins. Pillary of the losing team and Leiper of the winning quint were the only Go-men to knock the pins for a total of more than 300.

The Bigelow five had things practically their own way until the third string when their opponents, the Lowell Machine Shop team, turned the tables and won the last string by a small margin. The scores:

GOULD WEDDING

The Guests Jumped on Backs of Pews

They Crowded Into Wrong Seats, and Marriage Was Delayed—The Bride Wore a Diamond Chain of 200 Stones, Jewels of the Beresford Family

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Miss Helen Vivien Gould, second daughter of Gen. Gould, was married to Baron Decles, lieutenant colonel of the 7th English hussars, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. Bartholomew's church, Madison avenue, near 44th street. The ceremony was witnessed by about 400, including many well-known theatrical folk and opera singers. Of the 400 within the church probably 250 were women, and of these fully 200 forgot the sacredness of the edifice and their good manners and stood not on the floor, but on the benches and in many instances even on the backs of pews.

The wedding of Miss Marjorie Gould and Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., a little more than a year ago was characterized by the good behavior of the persons in the church and the outrageous conduct of those in the streets. The wedding yesterday will be remembered principally for the bad behavior—thanks to the police—of the street crowds and the bad conduct of guests at the ceremony.

The church doors were opened at 3 o'clock and soon thereafter prominent persons began to arrive. Among the first to get there was a detachment of the younger element of society. These young folks hung around the door fully 10 minutes and chatted with the ushers before going to their seats.

From that time on there was a crush.

Skirmish for Seats

Guests came faster than they could be shown to their pews. Instead of waiting until an usher with a list of pew allotments could attend to them many made their way up the aisles and took the most desirable seats vacant. The result was that scores got into pews where they did not belong and an equal number could not get where they did belong.

It was impossible to get intruders out of the pews they had seized and great confusion resulted. When an usher got the name of a guest he would have to go first to the pew to which that guest had been assigned and see if it was occupied. Generally it was. Then he would have to skirmish for a seat for the guest.

A fine musical program had been arranged, but the guests listened to the various numbers with indifference, or did not listen at all, until Riccardo Martin of the Metropolitan opera company began his first number. Then everybody decided that he or she must see Martin, who was concealed behind a screen of palms in the gallery. So everybody stood up. When it was first realized the noise was not visible the crowd grew positively ill-natured.

The ushers had provided two doorkeepers to keep out all who did not have tickets of admittance, but soon it was necessary to get two policemen to enforce the card rule. It was estimated that fully 200 who had no cards tried to get into the church.

After a while the guests got tired of trying to see Riccardo Martin when he sang and became interested in the

BLOOD STANDS STILL

It is useless to try to cure piles by operating or use ofatives or suppositories—as long as the blood is stagnant in the lower bowel, new tumors will continue to form. Clear the blood—free the circulation. Then piles will leave for good. A successful, scientific, internal remedy is Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid, sold under guarantee by Carter & Sherburne, Lowell, Mass., and druggists everywhere. Hem-Roid does its work thoroughly. $1.00 for 24 days' treatment. Dr. Leonard Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.

Next, interest was transferred to actors and managers who attended the wedding. They had been friends of Mrs. Gould when she was Edith Kingston, actress. Prominent among them was Sir Chas. Wyndham. All eyes were centered upon him as he went up the aisle on the arm of Earl Percy.

Mrs. Semberich of the Metropolitan opera company arrived at the same moment with Mrs. Steyversant, fish social leader. As they went up the aisle, Mrs. Semberich on the arm of Lord Camoys and Mrs. Fish, escorted by Phoenix Ingraham, people stood up to get a good look at them. Neither of the two women appreciated this momentary prominence. Mrs. Fish's face wore a decided frown as she took her seat.

The Frohmans, Daniel and Charles, and Frederick Townsend Martin, were among the early arrivals. So were Harry Lehr and his wife.

From time to time Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., one of the ushers, appeared at the front door of the church for the rush started and had the doorman hold back guests until those inside had been seated. Because of the confusion due to the taking of wrong seats it was seen 20 minutes before the wedding hour that all of the guests could not be placed by 4 o'clock. So Drexel telephoned to the Gould home and had the wedding party delay its start for a quarter of an hour.

The choir boys from the cathedral of St. John the Divine were brought to the church in an automobile bus and were hustled by their director, Miles Farrow, into the vestry, where they donned their vestments.

Faint?

Have you weak heart, dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals? Or do you experience pain over the heart, shortness of breath on going up stairs and the many distressing symptoms which indicate poor circulation and bad blood? A heart tonic, blood and body-builder that has stood the test of over 40 years of cures is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

The heart becomes regular as clock-work. The red blood corpuscles are increased in number—and the nerves in turn are well fed. The arteries are filled with good rich blood. That is why nervous debility, irritability, fainting spells, disappear and are overcome by this alternative extract of medicinal roots put up by Dr. Pierce without the use of alcohol.

Ask your neighbor. Many have been cured of scrofulous conditions, ulcers, "fever-sores," white swellings, etc., by taking Dr. Pierce's Discovery. Just the refreshing and vitalizing tonic needed for excessive tissue waste, in convalescence from fevers or for run-down, anemic, thin-blooded people. Stick to this sale and save remedy and refuse all "just as good" kinds offered by the dealer who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing will do you half as much good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Gould, Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Jr. and Jay Gould had entered the church were young Edith and Gloria Gould, Diana Daltell and Masters Marcus and Grahame Beresford of Providence nephews of Lord Decles. The youngsters were in charge of governesses and nurses and were taken to an anteroom at the front of the church, where maids finished dressing them.

Stand Up to Crane Necks

Then came the bridesmaids, among them Miss Annie Douglas Graham, who at the last moment had been called upon to take the place of Miss Beatrice Clafin, who became ill Sunday night with the grip. Dressmakers had to work swiftly all Monday to get a dress ready for Miss Graham.

The fact that she was to be a bridesmaid was not generally known until the wedding guests were gathering. When she got out of the automobile with the other young women the last of the other guests were just entering the church. Some of them exchanged knowing nods and said the incident was to them confirmation of the en-

Whist Party in Aid of St. Peter's Reunion

A delightful whist party in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street, in aid of the leucopoe table at the forthcoming reunion of St. Peter's parish was held last evening, and the attendance was very large, indicating that a tidy sum will be turned into the coffers of the table. The clergy of the church, represented by Rev. Dr. Keeler, pastor, Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan and Rev. John P. Burns. Mr. Thomas A. Glaty of St. John's seminary at Brighton was also a guest. Mr. Joseph P. Quinn was announced and conductor of the party, assisted by Messrs. Joseph A. Scanlon and Nicholas Halpin. Whist was played for several hours, every table going along like clockwork, thanks to the work of the three men in whose care had been entrusted the carrying out of the details.

The winners announced were as follows, with the prizes: Ladies, first, beautiful vase, donated by Miss Abbie R. Higgins, won by Mrs. Richard T. Sawyer; second, colonial mirror, donated by Mrs. Eleanor Cassidy, won by Miss Mary Lavoie; third, bon-bon dish, donated by Miss Frances Maxwell.
